BARE MILLIONS IN AAA CHECKS PAID PRODUCERS

Big Sugar Benefits Shown in Report.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—Enormous payments made by the New Deal under the AAA to sugar corporations and other big scale operators in the production of agricultural commodities were disclosed tonight in a preliminary report of benefit payments larger than $10,000 sent to the senate by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

The report, submitted under order of a senate resolution introduced by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], showed that the heaviest beneficiaries under the invalidated AAA were sugar producers. The largest single payment listed was one of $1,022,037 to the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, Ltd.

$961,000 to Porto Rico Group.

The second largest beneficiary was the Fajardo Sugar Growers' association of Porto Rico at $961,064. The largest check in continental United States went to the United States Sugar corporation, which was paid $785,038 for crop control in Florida in 1934.

The extent of the AAA "sugar" taken by large corporations was shown in the report by the revelation that every cent of $13,323,861 in AAA benefit payments in Hawaii went to 39 large operators. In Porto Rico large operators took $8,728,603 out of a total of $11,694,337 and in Florida the United States Sugar corporation with its $785,038, and the Fellsmore Sugar company, which got $74,044, ate up almost all of the state quota of $864,968. In Louisiana large operators took $3,023,825, almost half of the state's payments of $6,882,809.

Data on Other Crops.

To a smaller extent large landowners cut into cotton, corn-hog, tobacco, rice, and wheat benefit payments. The largest cotton checks went to Lee Wilson & Co. of Arkansas. These were $199,920 for crop control in 1933, $90,288 in 1934, and $92,494 in 1935. The largest wheat checks went to Thomas D. Campbell of Montana, operating partly as an owner and partly as a tenant on Indian lands, to take a total of $51,066 for curtailment in 1933 and 1934.

The Wallace report gives the names of all producers who received more than $10,000 under each of the 1933 and 1934 adjustment programs. The report covers only cotton, rice, and Hawaiian and Porto Rican sugar payments for 1935. Corn-hog, wheat and other missing programs for 1935 have yet to be submitted.

Wallace Releases "Digest."

The report shows that 296 producers were paid about $10,000 in 1933 and 299 in 1934. In an 83 page digest of the report, released at his office, Secretary Wallace did not give the total amount paid to these operators.

The digest said merely that the producers held about 1-100 of 1 per cent of the total number of contracts and got more than 2 per cent of the total money paid. The total paid by the AAA to March 1 was $1,108,322,870, and the payments listed in the report total approximately $37,700,000, which is better than 3 per cent of the total outlay.

The report also carried a statement on multiple farm ownership which showed that 55 banks and insurance companies operate more than 150 farms each and, therefore, "probably received more than $10,000 in benefit payments."

Own 10,859 Cotton Farms.

The 55 banks and insurance companies were shown as owning 39,907 corn-hog farms, 10,859 cotton farms, 1,045 tobacco farms in 1934 and 40,710 corn-hog and 934 farms under other contracts in 1935.

Only one check above $10,000 was paid in the five Chicagoland states. The Amana society, an Iowa corporation, got $14,479 under the 1934 corn-hog program. Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Michigan got none of the heavy "sugar" checks.

In Massachusetts, which is not known as a corn-hog state, nine corn-hog growers got a total of $136,830 in 1934. The Bay state, according to an almanac, raised 1,517,000 bushels of corn in that year, as against 146,760,000 in Illinois, and had 80,000 hogs, as against 3,209,000 in Illinois. The aver-

BROWN BOMBER IS KNOCKED OUT IN 12TH ROUND

39,878 See Boxing's Biggest Upset.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 19.—Max Schmeling ended Joe Louis' reign of terror tonight.

In one of the greatest surprises in the history of the prize ring the former heavyweight champion of the world knocked out the Brown Bomber in the twelfth round of their scheduled fifteen round bout at Yankee stadium.

Schmeling, the man the world pitied, who everybody said was doomed to certain defeat, dominated the battle. His terrific right hand punches, delivered unerringly with pile driver power to Louis' jaw, sent the Bomber to the floor for a two count in the fourth round. A succession of these same blows crashed Louis to the canvas in the twelfth round in a neutral corner. There Louis lay, stretched on his back, powerless to rise. Almost as he turned over face downward the toll of ten sent him to his first defeat in two years of professional boxing.

39,878 See Battle.

It was the first time Louis ever had heard this count except over the prostrate form of an opponent.

A crowd of 39,878 watched the uneven bout. They came to see another quick, stirring triumph for the colored lad who had beaten two former world champions and struck fear to the hearts of a score of opponents. They remained to see Schmeling hammer Louis to unconsciousness.

Thousands more might have been here tonight except they refused to believe the German should match his fading powers against Louis. Because of their lack of interest gross receipts were only $547,531 instead of the $1,000,000 which had been predicted. The net receipts after deduction of taxes were $464,945. Each fighter will receive 30 per cent of this sum.

Schmeling Earns Title Bout.

But, more important, Schmeling, who held the coveted heavyweight title for two years, also earned the right to meet the present champion, Jimmy Braddock, for that title.

Louis now must begin again a long tedious climb toward the championship which he thought was his for the asking. It remains to be seen whether he ever will scale the height. But tonight the question: "Can Louis take it?" was answered.

Louis showed that he could absorb punishment for a much longer time than many thought he would. From the third round, when Schmeling's first chopping right hand smash landed flush on Joe's chin, until the twelfth, the colored boy stood up to a beating seldom delivered in any ring.

Time and again Louis seemed on the verge of collapsing. Each time he rallied, and while the punishment had sapped the power from his fists, he continued to jab gamely.

Fights to the Finish.

Only when his body refused any longer to absorb Schmeling's tornadic punches did he drop. Louis did not quit. He fought to the last ounce of his strength.

The fight started along the lines indicated by observers of the men at their training camps. Schmeling, carrying his right hand high, weaved and bobbed slowly, in a vain effort to avoid the rapier left hand jabs of the colored boy. Schmeling did not lead and Louis was loath to essay any punches except stinging lefts.

For two rounds Louis jabbed his left to Schmeling's face, gradually puffing the German's beetle-browed eyes and bringing a blotch of red to his cheeks. In the second round Schmeling apparently thought he heard the bell and started to his corner. So did Joe and only when Referee Arthur Donovan called them back did they finish the full time in cautious sparring.

Louis Takes Offensive.

The third round began in the same fashion. So far, the thousands had scarcely raised their voices above a sullen, low pitched murmur. Then Louis rushed in and the voice of the crowd rose to sharp crescendo as his left cracked to Schmeling's face, and the German turned and spat blood from his split lips.

Schmeling backed away. Repeated-

Fr. Coughlin Backs Lemke, 3rd Party

Name Will Be Filed in Each of 48 States

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—Representative William Lemke, North Dakota radical farmer-lawyer who was elected to congress as a nominal Republican, late today announced his candidacy for the presidency on a new national party ticket to be known as the "Union" party.

Tonight, a few hours after the announcement of Lemke's candidacy and formation of the Union party, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, in an address from New York, asked "God speed William Lemke and his friends as they proceed to file in each state."

Father Coughlin called upon members of his National Union for Social Justice to follow him in support of Lemke as he, like Lemke in an earlier statement, denounced both the Republican and Democratic parties. The Union party had counted on support of the Coughlin followers and invited backing of the late Huey Long's share the wealth organization and the Townsend old age pension group. The indorsement by Father Coughlin followed quickly.

Lawyer Is Running Mate.

Thomas Charles O'Brien, Boston lawyer, is to be Lemke's running mate. The representative said O'Brien has signified his willingness to join the Union party as the second man of its ticket.

Lemke announced his candidacy, which is believed to have its origin as a reprisal against defeat of his three billion dollar inflationary farm mortgage measure by a New Deal-Republican coalition, in his office at the capitol. He summoned newspaper men to a conference and issued a statement of his candidacy. At the same time he released a 15 plank platform of the party.

"I have accepted the challenge of the reactionary elements of both old parties," he said, "and will run for President of the United States as a candidate of the Union party, which I am instrumental in establishing officially, in accordance with the thousands of messages and requests which I have received from over the nation.

Arranges for Filing.

"Thomas Charles O'Brien of Boston has signified his willingness to seek the vice presidency on the same platform.

"I have arranged with friends of mine to proceed with the filing of the name of the 'Union party,' the emblem, the names of presidential electors, my own name and that of Mr. O'Brien in order to fulfill the specific law of each state relative to filing.

"I am hoping that the platform which I have submitted to my friends and have asked them to publicize will meet with wide approval. To my mind it is the only platform which will embody the principles which will save democracy and put a permanent end to the so-called depression.

"There is only one solution. That is through the formation of a new party which I am launching today, to be known as the Union party of the United States."

"Rousing Good Orator."

Lemke said his running mate, O'Brien, is a "good constitutional lawyer, therefore we won't run into any constitutional difficulties." He said O'Brien is a Harvard graduate, who has been affiliated with the Democratic party, and a "rousing good orator."

"You might say this is the first real third party movement in the

HOUSE PASSES NEW HIGH TAX; SENATE TIED UP

Filibusters Threaten Adjournment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 20 [Saturday].—[Special.]—The senate recessed at 1:07 a. m. this morning to resume at 11 a. m. today, when efforts will be made to jam through the conference reports on the $785,000,000 tax bill and the treasury-postoffice supply bill and adjourn congress tonight.

It is the desire of administration leaders to end the 74th congress tonight if possible, but a threatened filibuster against the Guffey coal price fixing bill may upset this plan.

Filibuster Chasing Filibuster.

An extraordinary legislative snarl, with filibuster chasing filibuster, blocked all action in the senate for twelve hours yesterday and until early today, making it appear that adjournment tonight [Saturday night] would be impossible, but the situation was somewhat relieved when Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas obtained unanimous consent to vote on the tax bill at 2:30 and on a motion to take up the Guffey coal bill at 3 p. m.

Previous efforts to obtain unanimous consent for a vote at a specified time on the tax bill were blocked first by Senator Harry F. Byrd [Dem., Va.], foe of the Roosevelt-Tugwell undistributed earnings tax, and second by Senator Joseph F. Guffey [Dem., Pa.], who demanded some assurance that his coal bill would be considered.

Robinson Placates Neely.

Senator Robinson repeatedly refused to promise any action on the Guffey bill until Senator Matthew M. Neely [Dem., W. Va.] denounced "the obstructors who want to bring starvation to 3,000,000 people in the coal fields" and declaring that there would be no adjournment without a vote on the price fixing measure.

Neely was placated when Robinson agreed to permit his motion to come to a vote. If the motion is defeated that presumably will be the end of the Guffey bill, but if it carries Senators Rush D. Holt [Dem., W. Va.] and William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] are prepared to speak "indefinitly" against passage of the measure.

House Adopts Tax Report.

The house before recessing last evening adopted the conference report on the corporate reform tax measure and the senate was on the verge of passing it at one time, the yeas and nays having been ordered. However, Senator Byrd and Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] objected vehemently to the effort to railroad such a revolutionary measure through the senate without discussion.

"The conference report is not even printed," declared Senator Byrd, holding aloft the one typewritten copy of the majority report. Senator Walsh proceeded to a reading of the conference minority report submitted by himself and Senator Walter F. George [Dem., Ga.] and closed with an impassioned denunciation of the tax bill.

Before the jam on the tax bill conference report developed the senate had been tied up with a filibuster against the $26,000,000 appropriation for ocean mail contracts in the conference report on the $992,500,000 treasury postoffice supply bill.

Black Leads Filibuster.

The filibuster against the treasury-postoffice bill was aggravated when the house failed to accept senate amendments to the ship subsidy bill, passed by the latter body earlier in the day. Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama, the New Deal's No. 1 inquisitor and mail contract wrecker, led the filibuster against the $26,000,000 ocean mail appropriation, but he will not oppose it if the house accepts his amendments to the ship subsidy bill. This measure creates a maritime authority which will have power to cancel or modify existing mail contracts.

The house was expected to concur in the senate amendments, but failed to give the required two-thirds vote under suspension of the rules. However, a special rule will be brought up tomorrow morning, requiring only a majority vote, and the house probably will concur, since the vote last night was 118 to 83.

This will placate Black, as well as

Horner Backer Loses to Fists of 2 Senators

Springfield was busy yesterday trying to unscramble the facts about a one round battle that began and ended Friday evening on the drinking floor of the Club tavern near the statehouse.

The participants were: In one corner, State Senators William J. Connors [29th] and John M. Lee [11th], both of Chicago, and in the other George Tandy, manager of the Springfield Horner for Governor club. All are Democrats, but the state senators have never had any truck with Horner for Governor clubs and are not very friendly with the state's chief executive, even if he is bearing the party banner this fall.

Mr. Tandy Barges In.

State Senator Connors, who is built on the short, round model, and State Senator Lee, who is of medium size, were having a bit of refreshment in the saloon and chatting amiably about affairs of state when Mr. Tandy, an ex-football player who weighs upward of 200 pounds, entered and called for a beer.

Having quaffed his potion he looked around and beheld the senators. He also got what is known as an earloft, which means he heard their conversation.

"You fellows," he said pleasantly, "have got Horner all wrong."

The Trouble Begins.

Senator Lee looked searchingly at the H. for G. manager. "It seems a pity, Bottsie [a pet name for Senator Connors on the near north side], that legislators cannot have a bit of lunch without being interrupted by outsiders," he said.

"Is that so?" demanded Mr. Tandy.

"It is indeed," retorted Senator Lee. "As for you, phooey! As for Horner, another phooey! A bigger one!"

Then things began to happen. One fist flew. Another fist flew. A third fist flew. A bottle of mustard airplaned. The contents spilled impartially on the three important cogs in Illinois Democratic politics.

Who Swung When?

There is some dispute as to who swung first. Mr. Tandy said Senator Lee struck the first blow. Senator Lee insisted yesterday that Mr. Tandy launched the first haymaker. Mr. Tandy said he became belligerent when one of the senators called both him and the governor bad names. The senators declared that wasn't so; they were talking relief, not politics, they said—and had merely resented the butting in of Mr. Tandy on their privacy.

At any rate the fistic honors rested with the senators. Mr. Tandy, with one or two loose teeth, was ejected from the saloon and the senators appeared to have been marked only with the mustard.

A CONSCIENTIOUS AUTO THIEF DOES THE RIGHT THING

Last Saturday Glen B. Rollins' automobile was stolen from Franklin and Kinzie streets. Yesterday it was found in a parking lot at Franklin street and Austin avenue, a block from the point at which it was stolen.

Rollins found the car had been given the best of care, and several replacements of equipment: A new ignition lock, new floor boards, and new brake rods.

Maury Banks, attendant in the parking lot where the car was recovered, said it had been left Tuesday by a man whose identity he did not know. Rollins, who lives at 4145 Broadway, would like to know who the stranger was. To thank him.

12 Children on Picnic Drown; Boat Capsizes

Marion, Me., June 19.—(AP)—Twelve carefree children, happy as they celebrated the last day of school, drowned in Lake Gardner here today when a sudden gust of wind capsized the outboard motorboat in which they were riding.

Four of their companions and Calvin London, 70, were saved. All came from nearby Lubec.

The drowned children, whose ages ranged from 9 to 14 years, were Daniel McCurdy, Evelyn and Aaron Mahar, Ramah Knowles, Frank Reynolds, Roland Eaton, Doris Small, Glen Morey, Christine Sleight, Merle Lewis Jr., Jerome Kinney, and Verne Dinsmore.

The four children saved were: James Mahar, brother of Aaron and Evelyn Mahar; Miriam Kelley, Leah Wilcox, and Barbara Tyler.

Girl Swims Ashore.

The Wilcox and Kelley girls kept themselves afloat by thrashing about furiously until rescuers arrived. The Tyler girl swam 100 yards to shore.

The children were members of a picnic party from the West Lubec section.

Beverley McCarthy, 12, whose mother told her not to go out in a boat, was among those who witnessed the tragedy.

She said that as the craft moved outside of a peninsula protecting the picnic beach it was struck broadside by a gust of wind. Simultaneously, she said, two of the boys were playing in the stern, unmindful of danger. As other boys moved to the back of the boat, apparently to separate the scuffling couple, the stern went under water.

All Thrown Into Lake.

Then, the child related, the wind seemed to heave the bow up from the water and the children and London were thrown into the lake.

There were more than 100 in the picnic party. The teachers were Lorraine Ramsdell, Ruth Small, Stella Burhoe, and Eileen Mulholland.

Miss Burhoe, stripping herself of her outer clothing, plunged into the water and saved the Kelley girl. Not a boat could be found on the shore.

London was taken to his Lubec Ridge home by a neighbor soon after he left the water. He was overcome with grief and exhaustion.

Senators Bennett C. Clark [Dem., Mo.] and Homer T. Bone [Dem., Wash.], his assistants in the filibuster, and the conservative Democrats are not expected to talk more than a few hours on the tax bill. However, there remains the threat of the filibuster on the Guffey coal bill.

The Day's Activities.

While the senate was waiting for a possible break in the filibuster, developments in the adjournment drive included:

1. The house passed and sent to conference a modified version of the Copeland-Tugwell food and drug bill. The principal difference is that the senate measure gives Secretary of Agriculture Wallace dictatorial powers over the advertisment of foods, drugs, and cosmetics, while the house bill retains control of advertising in the federal trade commission.

2. The senate passed the new composite ship subsidy bill, providing for both construction and operating subsidies based upon the difference between costs at home and abroad. The house promptly refused to pass it as amended.

3. The house killed the Ramspeck bill designed to perpetuate the jobs of New Deal postmasters by blanketing them under the civil service. The measure died for lack of the necessary two-thirds vote under a suspension of the rules.

House Passes NRA Bill.

4. The house passed and sent to the White House the Walsh-Healy bill requiring NRA wage and hour standards on all government contracts.

5. The house passed and sent to the White House a senate bill prohibiting the transportation of strike breakers from state to state.

6. The senate adopted and sent to the White House a conference report on the George bill permitting PWA low cost housing projects to pay 5 per cent of gross rent receipts in lieu of taxes.

7. The senate ratified a long pending treaty governing standards of safety at sea, after Senator Robert La Follette [Radical, Wis.] was satisfied that it in no way contravened the seamen's act.

The ship subsidy bill, a composite sponsored by Senators Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], Ernest W. Gibson [Rep., Vt.], and Joseph F. Guffey [Dem., Pa.], differs substantially from the measure passed by the house last year, but that body was expected to concur without a conference. Word was received from the White House that no conference was desired.

Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama, the New Deal's No. 1 inquisitor and mail contract wrecker, was leading the filibuster against the treasury-postoffice conference report, but his strategy was designed merely to delay action until the house accepted the senate amendments to the ship subsidy bill. This the house refused to do tonight by a 118 to 83 standing vote.

The filibuster against the New Guffey-Vinson coal bill gave administration leaders far more concern, for Senator Borah of Idaho, arch foe of price fixing and monopolies, said he would "speak indefinitly."

A unanimous consent request by Senator Matthew M. Neely [Dem., W. Va.] to call up the bill for consideration was blocked by his colleague, Senator Holt, who also declared that he would filibuster the bill as long as he could stand on his feet.

Minority Rakes Measure.

The conference report on the tax bill, which graduates the existing corporation income tax structure from 8 to 15 per cent and superimposes graduated undistributed earnings taxes reaching a maximum of 27 per cent, was severely indicted in a minority conference report filed by two Democratic senators, George and Walsh.

The minority report says the conference report retains the entire plan of the house bill, which the senate finance committee rejected unanimously, and superimposes it upon the existing corporation income tax structure; that it is a merger of two bills which in tax theory are diametrically opposite.

"It cannot be too often reiterated, nor too strongly emphasized, that the theory and concept of a tax on a sliding scale on undistributed corporate earnings is to penalize the accumulation of corporate surpluses and reserves," the report states.

"We submit that such a policy is contrary to every dictate of prudence, contrary to every sound business principle, contrary to the experience of the past, inimical to the real welfare of the stockholders, and will tend to promote insecurity for the workers of industry. It is a spendthrift policy."

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], speaking on the senate floor, denounced the tax measure as "the latest and the worst of the serial assaults that are being made on thrift and prudence, at a moment when these old fashioned 'horse and buggy' virtues are prerequisite to the restoration of the national character and equilibrium."

"This is a blind and sinister speculation in the rights and resources of 125 million people," Senator Vandenberg added.

Short and Heated Debate.

The debate on the tax bill was acrimonious but short, since only one hour's discussion was allowed. Representative Allen T. Treadway [Rep., Mass.] declared that not a single member of congress knew what was in the conference report and yet the members were being asked to vote on it.

"The Democrats are more interested in preparing for their obituary services at the Philadelphia convention next week than they are in writing a tax bill," shouted Treadway. "There never was a tax bill prepared like this one in this country or any other."

Representative Samuel B. Pettengill [Dem., Ind.] asserted that under the bill corporations with $10,000 net income would pay 61 per cent higher taxes and concerns with $20,000 would pay 100 per cent more than under existing rates.

Dividends from Workers.

"You are forcing the little corporations to make distributions to their stockholders instead of their workers," declared Pettingill.

"At the same time you are asking business to put men back to work."

The bill was described as "a Hungarian goulash, a pot pourri" of surtaxes, normal taxes, excise taxes, and tarifs by Representative Frank Crowther [Rep., N. Y.].

"This is the fifth tax bill under this administration," said Crowther. "Under the NRA bill there were taxes. Then the nuisance taxes were continued and the 3 cent postage stamp extended. In 1934 we had the so-called loophole tax, in 1935 the 'soak the rich' tax, and now in 1936 we have the 'soak the corporation' tax.

"You know these new taxes won't balance the budget, but you don't dare to go into this next campaign without making a political gesture."

TAX INCREASES IN NEW BILL

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—Tables showing the drastic tax increases corporations will have to pay under the conference report on President Roosevelt's reform proposals were submitted in a minority report by Senators David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] and Walter F. George [Dem., Ga.].

123 BILLS SENT TO ROOSEVELT FOR FINAL O. K.

Has 10 Days to Decide After Congress Quits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt had before him today 123 bills passed by a congress speeding toward adjournment.

The great majority of the bills are unimportant relief measures. In the batch, however, is the 2 billion 400 million dollar deficiency bill which carries 1 billion 425 million dollars for continuance of WPA and the Robinson-Patman bill for the tightening of anti-trust laws which would bar unfair price discriminations through use of faked discounts and rebates. The bill is known as the anti-chain store bill.

Ten Days to Act.

The White House teemed with activity as the staf examined the bills and presented recommendations to the President. Mr. Roosevelt is expected to act on the bills before he goes to Philadelphia to accept the Democratic nomination in a speech June 27. He has ten days after adjournment of congress in which to sign or veto the bills.

In the morning Mr. Roosevelt had his semi-weekly press conference which consisted chiefly of negative answers to questions put to him. He cut his appointments down in order to devote himself to the work put before him by congress.

Confers on Money Plank.

In the afternoon he discussed the financial plank of the Democratic convention with Bernard Baruch, New York financier. Mr. Baruch refused to say any more about his visit than that it embraced discussion of the wording of the Democratic money plank. He said he would not attend the convention as he plans to leave for Europe June 24.

"There is no news in my visit," he said, "except my gout. I am going to Europe to attend to my 'dogs.'"

Loses His Life in Effort to Save Goat from Drowning

Beaumont, Miss., June 19.—(AP)—Sherif C. S. Myers said today that Julius Boggs, 20, gave his life in a vain attempt to save a small goat from drowning. The goat walked out on a railroad trestle over Leaf river. A railroad motor car frightened the animal and it leaped into the stream. Boggs jumped in after it. Both were caught in the swirling current.

BARE MILLIONS IN AAA CHECKS PAID PRODUCERS

Big Payments to Sugar Firms, Report Shows.

age payments in the five states was about $100.

$274,130 to California.

In California, which also has never been considered a corn-hog state, nine more large operators got a total of $274,130, one operator, Fontana Farms Company, Inc., taking $155,575. In New Jersey the Jersey feed farms got $48,752. In the same state a contracting company, the Riddle Contracting Company, Inc., is listed as having received $14,720 for killing little pigs or plowing under corn land.

The highest tobacco check went to the American Sumatra Tobacco company, which got $41,454 under the 1934 program. The Clarence Le Bus estate in Kentucky got $19,976 in the same year.

The biggest rice payment under the 1935 program went to the Louisiana Irrigation and Mill company at $73,659. A payment of $64,799 went to the Acadia Vermillion Rice Irrigation company. More than two dozen companies in Louisiana, Arkansas, California, and Texas got more than $10,000.

Form "Suits Purpose."

In the report the large checks were given under states by crops and years. Under the manner of presentation no effort was made to give the totals by crops and by years or even by states. At the AAA office it was said ambiguously that the form of presentation was not adopted because it was confusing, but because it suited their purposes.

The report substantiated in every particular the charges made by Senator Vandenberg at the time he demanded support of his resolution. The senator first asked for a report on all payments above $10,000 and when he met with evasion, presented his resolution, which was adopted late in April after prolonged partisan debate when Wallace exerted every political effort to conceal the list.

BONUS CASH RUSH ENDS; STATIONS CLOSE TONIGHT

Nearly 60 per cent of the approximately 100,000 veterans in Chicago and Cicero who have received bonuses delivered by the Chicago postoffice have certified their bonds for cashing, Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said yesterday. The peak of the rush for certification has passed and the special certification stations established in armories and schools will be discontinued tonight, the postmaster said, as the regular postal stations can easily handle the remainder. Of the 103,034 bonus packages received here for veterans served by the Chicago postoffice, 96 per cent have been delivered.

3 Held After Admitting Part in Fatal Car Crash

Pekin, Ill., June 19.—(AP)—Sherif Ralph Goar said today that three Peoria, Ill., young men confessed that they were riding in the car which early last Sunday sidewiped another automobile, causing an accident which resulted in the death of Mrs. Margaret Frederick, 39, of Peoria. Orlando Allen, 21, the driver, and his companions, Kenneth Painter, 23, and Leslie B. Darrow, 22 were charged with manslaughter and held in the county jail.

The 74th congress, in first session ended nearly a year ago, passed appropriations of $9,579,756,510.

TWO HELD, THIRD SOUGHT IN $10,000 BOND FRAUD QUIZ

The filing of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus before Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle in Criminal court yesterday disclosed that the state's attorney's office has two men in custody and is seeking a third in an investigation of a forged bond fraud.

Meyer Goldstein, 40 years old, 4429 North Lawndale avenue, is the man for whom the writ was filed. It was made returnable today. First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley admitted that Goldstein had been in custody for several days, but refused to disclose the identities of the second man held and the third sought.

Goldstein, identified as the head of a wholesale tailoring company, was arrested when he offered as collateral for a $7,000 bank loan $10,000 in forged bonds of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, Crowley said. Goldstein denied knowing the bonds were spurious, but is being held, Crowley said, because investigators are not satisfied with his statements.

The second man in custody is reported to be an ex-bootlegger.

HIGH COMMAND OF DEMOCRATS IN PHILADELPHIA

Convention Crowd Peak Expected Tomorrow.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 19.—(AP)—The Democratic high command moved into Philadelphia today forecasting a serenely peaceful national convention, while thickening throngs in hotel lobbies told that the big party meeting was only a few days away.

With a siren blowing motorcycle police escort leading the way James A. Farley, chairman of the national committee, drew up to the Bellevue-Stratford, spent a few minutes joshing with newspaper correspondents, and then established himself in sumptuous headquarters.

W. Forbes Morgan, secretary of the national committee, arrived with the chairman and was located near by. Charles Michelson, chief of the national committee's publicity staf, was located next door. New Deal headquarters were complete.

Farley in Blue Room.

Punsters found material for obvious remarks when the breezily optimistic Farley was established in the Blue room, and a troublesome political issue was translated into wisecracks when it was observed that the Gold room had been reserved for Michelson.

Downstairs and in other hotels the lobbies were beginning to teem with convention crowds, although the peak of the influx was not expected until Sunday.

Delegates, newspaper men, and political camp followers stood in groups renewing old acquaintanceships, discussing campaign prospects, and worrying about tickets to the convention, an absorbing topic for all arrivals.

Expect Smooth Sailing.

Confident in their control of the situation, party leaders foresaw little difficulty in smoothly obtaining adoption of their program, calling first of all for the renomination of President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner, abrogation of the traditional two-thirds nominating rule, and the adoption of a New Deal platform.

There were possibilities of a mild fight against dropping the two-thirds rule, emanating principally from the south, but party leaders counted an easy majority. With the two-thirds rule another old standby, a rule under which some state delegations cast their votes as a unit, was expected to go, attended by some objections.

Senator Robert Wagner of New York, who will be the chairman of the platform committee, has been assembling suggestions for a week or more. Some thought a disagreement might develop over the monetary plank. Wagner was expected in town Sunday.

Hall Is Completed.

At the convention hall a regiment of Philadelphia police was assembled receiving assignments for the convention. Engineers were busy adjusting the loud speaker system and painters were spreading gray-green and white paint upon the newly completed platform, stage boxes, and press work benches.

A special police guard was established over the vital units of the speech amplification system to prevent tampering, playful or malicious.

LOOK TO FARLEY AS PEACEMAKER IN ILLINOIS CAMP

Mayor Heads East and Horner Follows.

Whether harmony or hostility is to pervade the Illinois delegation to the Democratic national convention which opens at Philadelphia on Tuesday was being widely discussed yesterday among Democratic chieftains.

Mayor Kelly left yesterday, bound for Atlantic City for a brief visit before the convention. He is expected to hold conferences with National Committeeman Pat A. Nash on Sunday at Atlantic City. Gov. Horner is to depart tomorrow afternoon on the convention special, which will carry both Kelly-Nash and Horner delegates, alternates, and friends.

Farley May Make Peace.

Conjectures among some of the local Democrats were that Postmaster General James A. Farley may seek to bring about peace between the rival Illinois groups before the convention opens. Several days ago the Horner forces reported from Springfield that Mr. Farley had told them he would come to Illinois some time after the convention in the rôle of peacemaker, if needed.

One peace plan which some of the Democrats discussed yesterday concerned a theoretical program under which if Gov. Horner refrained from opposing the reëlection of Mr. Nash as national committeeman, Horner might be made chairman of the Illinois delegation.

Differ All Along Line.

As affairs stand, the Kelly-Nash wing appears to have a majority of the 58 delegate votes on the matter of electing a national committeeman. Whether the Horner camp will pit a candidate against Nash is yet to be determined.

A contest appears quite likely over the position of Illinois member of the convention resolutions committee. The Kelly-Nash camp has been talking of Judge Norman Jones of the Illinois Supreme court for the post. The other side has been advancing the name of Michael L. Igoe, United States district attorney, who played a prominent part in opening the fight for a dripping wet plank in the national platform four years ago at the Chicago convention.

FRANCE TO PRINT PAPER MONEY TO SAVE TREASURY

Deputies Vote for Indirect Inflation.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 19.—Having staked its fate—and that of the capitalist régime—on an appeal to the country not to lose faith in the franc, Premier Leon Blum's new deal tonight won a breathing spell from immediate difficulties by obtaining from the chamber of deputies authorization for indirect inflation to the extent of over two billion 200 million dollars.

By a vote of 340 to 208, the deputies approved a revision of the convention between the government and the Bank of France which will enable the printing presses to refloat the treasury. The treasury is so dry that Vincent Auriol, finance minister, is said to have told the chamber finance committee that unless the measure was voted at once the state would be unable to meet its obligations Monday.

How Bill Operates.

The mechanism of the complicated bill is based on two principles.

1. Blocking for an indefinite period of over 900 million dollars worth of treasury bonds already discounted by the Bank of France. The bonds are not repudiated, but redemption is indefinitly postponed.

2. Authorization to discount up to one billion 300 million dollars of the new treasury notes at the bank.

Counting the new loan and the old, which for the time being is canceled, that makes 2 billion 200 million dollars worth of paper added to the already heavy credit inflation.

In hard cash the treasury only gets a little over a billion, however, since out of the 1 billion 300 million dollars discounted, some 200 million dollars must be repaid to London bankers. This leaves exactly one billion 100 million dollars for the treasury.

Since Auriol himself estimated that the treasury deficit between now and the end of the year will be exactly one billion dollars, that does not leave a handsome margin. It does pull the government off the rocks, however.

Hopes to Secure Loan.

In principle this is inflation to end inflation. In the future the government hopes to obtain the money necessary for its program by a democratic loan like an American Liberty loan. For the moment it is not felt that public confidence in the Socialist government is sufficient to assure the success of such a loan, hence it is necessary to go to the Bank of France—in other words to replace the quantity of gold by a quantity of government IOU's as security for the franc.

In official circles it is hoped this act will restore public confidence so that hoarded capital will flow back into circulation.

Conservative financial circles are dubious and think that in the end the government will be forced to apply strict currency restrictions.

Before the vote was taken on the bill, Auriol outlined the government's financial policy.

In the final analysis it seeks to end the flight of capital by telling the capitalists there is nothing to be afraid of except their own fear. Both devaluation and its opposite, financial Fascism, were repudiated by Auriol.

Seeks Fugitive Capital.

Instead the finance minister said that to save the franc and restore prosperity, it is only necessary to put back into circulation within the country some four billion dollars—the total of the gold or currency hoarded within the country plus French capital invested in foreign securities. Auriol accordingly proposed to the capitalists that they call back their fugitive capital.

On the reassuring side, Auriol stressed that the government rejects the communist scheme for a tax on wealth. He offered amnesty to tax dodgers who declare their holdings abroad. He also said private banks will not be nationalized—just more closely supervised.

HER MATE SEEKS DIVORCE

Jessica Pepper of the stage and screen, whose husband, Leon Janney, actor, was reported in New York yesterday to be en route to Reno to seek divorce. They were married less than three months ago. A suit for separation filed by the actress in New York has been withdrawn.

Goes by Plane

New York, June 19.—(AP)—The Daily News said today Leon Janney, 21 year old stage and screen actor, has gone by plane to Reno to sue his pretty show girl bride of less than three months, Jessica Pepper, for divorce.

The paper said a suit for separation, $200 weekly alimony, and $1,500 counsel fees, filed last week in Supreme court by the former Follies girl, had been withdrawn before Janney took off yesterday.

Janney, who has been playing a lead in the Broadway play "Mulatto," and Miss Pepper were married in a 4:30 a. m. ceremony March 26, but two weeks later she was back with her mother.

FIREMEN RESCUE 12 TRAPPED AS ELEVATOR FAILS

Eleven passengers and an elevator operator were held prisoners for 45 minutes during the homegoing hour last evening when the elevator stopped between the first and second floors of the building at 730 North Franklin street. Then firemen got them out. Jack Smith, the operator, told the firemen that some mechanical trouble caused the safety catches to lock the elevator so that it could not be lowered or raised.

The firemen lifted off the iron grating at the top of the car, then lowered a ladder from the second floor to permit the occupants to climb out.

WIFE DIVORCES JOHN S. CONDON, RACE TRACK MAN

Ending many months of litigation, Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Superior court yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. Emma Williams Condon, 28 years old, 925 Montrose avenue, from John S. Condon, 41 years old, son of the late "Blind John" Condon, owner of the old Harlem race track. The son now owns several race tracks.

Robert E. Cantwell Jr., attorney for Mrs. Condon, revealed that Condon had settled on his wife half of the $200 a month annuity left him by his father, $17,500 from the pending sale of the Harlem golf course, $20,000 in paintings and household furnishings, and $1,250 in lawyers' fees.

Condon filed suit for divorce in Arkansas, but his wife filed a suit here, and Judge Desort enjoined him from going through with the Arkansas suit on the ground that he is a legal resident of Illinois.

CALL ZIONCHECK INSANE; BOARD ASKS DETENTION

"Too Dangerous to Be at Large," Court Is Told.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—Contending that Representative Marion A. Zioncheck [Dem., Wash.] is insane and has homicidal or other dangerous tendencies, the District of Columbia commissioners today filed a petition in court asking that the congressman be interned in St. Elizabeth's hospital, an institution for mental and nervous cases.

The commission, a three man board which governs the national capital, filed the petition in the District of Columbia Supreme court. Justice Oscar Luhring immediately set a jury hearing for June 26.

Zioncheck was informed of the court action as he looked through a window of a ward in Gallinger hospital where he has been under mental observation for more than two weeks.

Charges He's "Railroaded."

"They're railroading me," he said. "There is nothing wrong with me."

Zioncheck was taken to Gallinger hospital on a commitment sworn to by the local sanitary officer after a series of riotous events which he climaxed with two visits to the White House where he left empty beer bottles and pails of moth balls and ping-pong balls for President Roosevelt.

Other events in the whirlwind of happenings that preceded his incarceration included his marriage to Rubye Louise Nix, 21, former WPA stenographer, their hilarious honeymoon to the West Indies, and squabbles with Zioncheck's landlady, Mrs. Benjamin Scott Young, who claimed the representative threw her bodily out of his rented apartment, seriously injuring her.

"Without Sufficient Capacity."

"The said Marion A. Zioncheck is represented to your petitioners," the commissioners stated, "and by them believed to be an insane person with homicidal or otherwise dangerous tendencies, without sufficient capacity for the government of himself and of his property.

"The said Marion A. Zioncheck has been insane or of unsound mind since to wit, the first day of June, 1936, the cause of his insanity being to petitioners unknown, but if certain representations made to them be true he is an unfit person to be at large.

"Your petitioners further believe that if he be permitted to go at large within the said district, the rights of persons and property therein will be jeopardized and the preservation of public peace imperiled, and the commission of crime rendered probable."

Mrs. Katherine Louise Welbourne, 22 years old, 1420 Lake Shore drive, filed suit in the Circuit court on Thursday for a divorce from Paul Alfred Welbourne, 25 years old, of Elmira, N. Y., member of an old Boston family, it was revealed yesterday.

HISTORIC N. Y. CHURCH ASKS TO REORGANIZE UNDER 77B STATUTE

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—Threatened by foreclosure proceedings, the Second Presbyterian church, also known as the Scotch Presbyterian church, since it was founded in pre-revolutionary days, filed a petition in federal court today to reorganize under section 77B of the bankruptcy act. It is located at 360 Central Park West.

First located on Cedar street, near Broadway, the church was seized and used as a barracks by Hessian mercenaries.

The petition to reorganize said that the church had exercised "a commanding influence on the lives of the members of the faith" for nearly two centuries.

The church's total assets were reported to be $1,493,377, while liabilities were said to be $1,790,117.

SNAKE TORTURE ACCUSER PLEADS GUILT IN MURDER

Los Angeles, Cal., June 19.—(AP)—Charles Hope, on whose story Robert S. James is accused of the rattlesnake-bathtub killing of his last wife, Mary, pleaded guilty today to first degree murder charges.

Sentencing was set for July 10.

Deputy Public Defender E. E. Cuff said Hope would be a prosecution witness when trial of the six times married James starts on Monday.

JURYMEN IMPOSE 8 YEAR TERM FOR RAPE OF GIRL, 18

A jury in the Criminal court of Judge E. I. Frankhauser yesterday found William Hanson, 2926 Pine Grove avenue, guilty of rape and fixed his punishment at eight years in the penitentiary.

Hanson, 28 years old, was indicted on a charge brought by Muriel Kaiser, 18 years old, 4715 North Talman avenue, daughter of Elmer Kaiser, orchestra leader and member of the Chicago Board of Trade. Miss Kaiser said she met Hanson on March 11 at a public ballroom, and accompanied him to a tavern. She charged that Hanson doped one of her drinks, then took her to a hotel room and attacked her.

BREAK UP PLOT AGAINST WIDOW OF WILL ROGERS

Los Angeles, Cal., June 19.—(AP)—Charged with attempting to extort $1,000 from Mrs. Will Rogers, widow of the actor-humorist, a 76 year old man was arrested at the federal building today.

He was seized by detectives and identified as Joseph Snyder.

The officers said Mrs. Rogers reported she received a long letter from a man named Snyder in which he related a strange story of Rogers' early days in Oklahoma and threatened to publish a book uncomplimentary to Rogers.

SON OF TAFT AND PROF. ROBEY ON STAF OF LANDON

Publicity Man Is Among New Advisers.

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Topeka, Kas., June 19.—[Special.]—The staf of personal advisers to Gov. Alf M. Landon was increased today by the arrival of E. Ross Bartley of Chicago, Frederick Robey of New York, and Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati. All three men will remain with the governor during the campaign.

Bartley will handle the governor's press relations. He is a former newspaper man who served as private secretary to Charles G. Dawes when Dawes was the Vice President. From 1931 to 1934 Bartley was the director of publicity for A Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago.

Taft is the son of the late President and a brother of Robert Taft, withdrawn candidate for the Republican nomination for President. Charles is an attorney and an expert on municipal government.

Teacher at Columbia.

Prof. Robey has been teaching economics at Columbia university and is a well known authority on the subject.

The governor said Bartley will accompany the party leaving Wednesday for Estes Park, Colo., but that Taft and Robey will not join Landon there until later. The latter two men will serve in a general advisory capacity, according to the governor.

A delegation of Kansas editors, who are holding their annual convention here, called on the governor this afternoon and presented a new pipe to him. The presentation was made by Carl Brown Jr., 10 years old, son of the managing editor of the Atchison Globe, the paper owned by Ed Howe.

Preceding the presentation Carl Sr. told the Republican nominee that he should keep his old pipe to "fumigate Jim Farley and Tammany Hall."

Made Honorary Member.

"We want to congratulate you and tell you that we have made you an honorary member of the Kansas Editors' association," the elder Brown said. "Now you must live up to our motto, ". . . pure, unsullied, sanctified, and perfect."

"The new pipe has the fragrance of a typical prairie state," Brown told the governor as Landon filled the pipe and lighted it.

"I appreciate your coming and thanks for the pipe, but being a pure, Christian newspaper man would be like having two men in the same grave," the governor replied.

The governor explained that "two men in the same grave" is a colloquialism meaning an impossibility.

The governor will address the editors tomorrow morning and then confer with his newly arrived advisers.

URGED TO SEEK VICE PRESIDENCY —GOV. HERRING

Des Moines, Ia., June 19.—(AP)—Clyde L. Herring, Iowa's New Deal governor, today said he again is being urged to seek the Democratic nomination for Vice President.

A delegate at large to the Democratic national convention, the governor said he had not had time to give telegrams, letters, and expressions of support he has received recently "much consideration."

A personal friend of President Roosevelt, the two term Iowa executive less than a year ago received suggestions from friends and party leaders in several states that he permit his name to be submitted to the next party convention for second place on the ticket.

Fifteen Planks Proposed for Union Party by Lemke

Washington, D. C., June 19.—(AP)—Representative William Lemke of North Dakota, who announced his presidential candidacy on a new party ticket today, issued this 15 plank platform of "the Union party of the United States":

1. America shall be self-contained and self-sustained—no foreign entanglements, be they political, economic, financial, or military.

2. Congress and congress alone shall coin and issue the currency and regulate the value of all the money and credit in the United States through a central bank of issue.

3. Immediately following the establishment of the central bank of issue congress shall provide for the retirement of all tax exempt, interest bearing bonds and certificates of indebtedness of the federal government, and shall refinance all the present agricultural mortgage indebtedness for the farmer and all the home mortgage indebtedness for the city owner by the use of its money and credit which it now gives to the private bankers.

Demand Living Wage.

4. Congress shall legislate that there will be an assurance of a living annual wage for all laborers capable of working and willing to work.

5. Congress shall legislate that there will be an assurance of production at a profit for the farmer.

6. Congress shall legislate that there will be an assurance of reasonable and decent security for the aged, who, through no fault of their own, have been victimized and exploited by an unjust economic system which has so concentrated wealth in the hands of a few that it has impoverished great masses of our people.

7. Congress shall legislate that American agricultural, industrial, and commercial markets will be protected from manipulation of foreign moneys and from all raw materials and processed goods produced abroad at less than a living wage.

For Strong Defense.

8. Congress shall establish an adequate and perfect defense for our country from foreign aggression either by air, by land, or by sea, but with the understanding that our naval, air, and military forces must not be used under any consideration in foreign fields or in foreign waters either alone or in conjunction with any foreign power. If there must be conscription, there shall be a conscription of wealth as well as a conscription of men.

9. Congress shall so legislate that all federal offices and positions of every nature shall be distributed through civil service qualifications and not through the system of party spoils and corrupt patronage.

10. Congress shall restore representative government to the people of the United States to preserve the sovereignty of the individual states of the United States by the ruthless eradication of burocracies.

Favors Conservation.

11. Congress shall organize and institute federal works for the conservation of public lands, waters, and forests, thereby creating billions of dollars of wealth, millions of jobs at the prevailing wage, and thousands of homes.

12. Congress shall protect all industry and private enterprise by controling and decentralizing the economic domination of monopolies to the end that these small industries and entereprises may not only survive and prosper, but that they may be multiplied.

13. Congress shall protect private property from confiscation through unnecessary taxation with the understanding that the human rights of the masses take precedence over the financial rights of the classes.

Would Limit Incomes.

14. Congress shall set a limitation upon the net income of any individual in any one year and a limitation of the amount that such an individual may receive as a gift or as an inheritance, which limitation shall be executed through taxation.

15. Congress shall reëstablish conditions so that the youths of the nation, as they emerge from schools and colleges, will have the opportunity to earn a decent living while in the process of perfecting and establishing themselves in a trade or profession.

Townsend Says Convention Will Decide About Lemke

Dr. Francis E. Townsend said last night that a decision on whether his old age pension plan organization would support Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota for President on a third party ticket would be determined at the Townsend convention to be held in Cleveland from July 15 to 19. The Townsendites were predicting that the convention would draw 24,000 delegates.

FATHER COUGHLIN BACKS REP. LEMKE FOR PRESIDENCY

nation's history," he said. "Our rallying cry is for all liberals who cannot longer tolerate the old order of things. There is no doubt in my mind that we will elect a majority at the next congress; we plan to concentrate on the election of congressmen favorable to our cause."

Among his fifteen planks Lemke offered an avenue for inflation in advocating a central bank through which congress "shall coin and issue the currency and regulate the value of all the money and credit in the United States. Another plank advocated, upon establishment of the bank, retirement of all tax exempt securities and refinancing of agricultural indebtedness as contemplated in his defeated bill.

Other planks provided for congressional assurance of a living wage, profit for farmers, reasonable and decent security for the aged, eradication of burocracy, a limit on incomes and inheritances, protection against confiscation of property and control and decentralization of monopolies.

A Nominal Republican.

Lemke, a nominal Republican and one of the founders of the nonpartisan movement in North Dakota, was born at Albany, Minn., Aug. 13, 1878. He attended public schools in North Dakota and the University of North Dakota and received a law degree from Georgetown university in Washington, D. C. He engaged in the practice of law at Fargo in 1905.

He was attorney general of the state from 1916 to 1920, being among three state officers recalled in 1921 when its citizens revolted against the radical program with which he was identified. Senator Lynn J. Frazier [Radical, N. D.], co-author of the inflationary farm act, then governor of the state, also was recalled at the same time.

Lemke was elected to congress in 1932.

RALLIES LEMKE SUPPORT

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin indorsed the newly announced presidential candidacy of Representative William Lemke of North Dakota tonight in a nation-wide radio broadcast.

In the address the priest from Royal Oak, Mich., lashed out at both President Roosevelt and Gov. Alf M. Landon and declared that Representative Lemke was "eligible for support" by the National Union for Social Justice.

Since Father Coughlin is head of the Social Justice union, it is believed that the announcement of Mr. Lemke and the declaration of Father Coughlin presage a coalition support for the Lemke third ticket from the Social Justice union, the Townsendites, and the followers of Gerald L. K. Smith, who took over the mantle of Huey Long.

See Effect on Campaign.

It is believed the new ticket with this kind of support may have a large effect on the presidential campaign.

Father Coughlin declared that behind the ticket would "rally agriculture, labor, the disappointed Republicans, and the outraged Democrats," as well as "every lover of liberty."

Father Coughlin prefaced his indorsement of the Lemke-O'Brien ticket with a lengthy analysis of the days before Franklin D. Roosevelt went to the White House and cited the inaugural address of the President when he pledged to "drive the money changers from the temple."

This, said Father Coughlin, Mr. Roosevelt had failed to do. In 1936, he asserted, "our disillusionment is complete." He condemned in bitter terms the Roosevelt farm policies which resulted in destruction of crops and assailed the "immoral Tugwellism of destruction."

"It is not pleasant," he said, "for me who coined the phrase, 'Roosevelt or Ruin,'—a phrase fashioned upon promises—to voice such passionate words. But I am constrained to admit that 'Roosevelt and Ruin' is the order of the day, because the money changers have not been driven from the temple."

Father Coughlin devoted little attention to Gov. Landon and the Republicans, although he did explicitly say that this nation had "turned its back" upon the "rugged individualism" which he said they represented.

He assailed the Republican platform plank on money and set forth a brief version of his familiar ideas about how the money system of the country should be governed.

He proceeded then to condemn the Democratic platform in advance and said the 1932 platform of the Democrats had been plowed under through direction of "Rexford Tugwell, the power and the brains behind the White House throne."

SAYS 3D PARTY ORGANIZATION IS 'TRAGIC' ERROR

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 19.—(AP)—Howard Y. Williams, national organizer for the Farmer-Labor party, tonight termed the presidential candidacy of William Lemke on a third party ticket a "tragic mistake."

Williams, here to address a mass-meeting, said the candidacy was "an effort to split the progressive vote and let the Republicans in."

"The voice is the voice of Lemke," Williams said, "but the hand is the hand of William Randolph Hearst. While Lemke seems to be the servant of the people, this move is a tragic mistake.

"There is need for a new party, but not one controled by politicians from the top down. Lemke's candidacy is just another flash in the pan."

NOW—with the passing of title, the first since the Briggs family purchased it from the Government, this beautiful virgin "bit of nature" has just been split up into sizable parts to make it available to Chicago and suburban families—and is offered by the well known ARTHUR T. McINTOSH & CO., 160 N. La Salle, Chicago.

Although but 33 miles from the city and located only ¾ miles from the main highway near Lake Zurich, with millions of automobiles passing it annually, this beautiful rippling lake, hidden from sight by deep forests, hills and dales, up to now has been practically unknown to the public. Its very existence, and being less than 1 hour's ride from Chicago, is a surprise to most everyone.

Conditions of transfer of title made it possible to price water-front wooded parcels, high over the water's edge, for only a fraction of their worth. With large parcels 50 feet by 200 in the third tier priced at only $79 on terms, should give an idea of how rapidly acceptable applicants are subscribing to the available parcels.

HOUSE TO HOUSE CANVASS BEGUN HERE BY G. O. P.

Campaign Gets Under Way Two Months Early.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Cook county Republicans started up their machinery of organization yesterday with the purpose of getting a two months' jump on the technique and strategy of the impending campaign. After a meeting of the county candidates with the Cook county Republican committee at the Hotel La Salle, the first batch of blank books was sent out for the start of a house to house canvass by precincts.

This year, instead of waiting until September before cracking into the detail work, the Republicans plan to put in some of their hardest efforts during July and August. The house to house canvass, according to County Chairman Edward F. Moore, will be completed by Sept. 1.

A Thoroughgoing Survey.

The party workers are directed to "get the sentiment" in each precinct on Wayland Brooks for governor, on Landon and Knox, and on the county ticket. The canvass is to contain figures on Republicans and Democrats registered and not registered, and an estimate of how many votes will be cast Nov. 3 in each precinct for Landon and Knox on the presidential ticket; for Brooks for governor; for Otis F. Glenn for senator.

Plans for the fall campaign are to be based on the precinct canvass books, according to Dr. William H. Reid, chairman of the organization committee.

"Every person of voting age should be interviewed," said Dr. Reid at the candidates' meeting and later at the county committee's session.

Guesswork Is Ruled Out.

"This canvass should prevent illegal registrations and will assure an honest election in your precinct. The workers are asked to keep constant watch for removals, changes, and new voters in each precinct and to record them in the book. All voters must be interviewed personally, and the canvassers are not to guess the voter's sentiments.

"This is the real start of the campaign; we're going to work every day, and not wait until September."

Present at the meeting of candidates were Mr. Brooks, the nominee for governor; Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman and candidate for congress in the Ninth district; C. N. Bergstrom, Alva L. Bates, and Samuel R. Ballis, candidates for sanitary district trustees; Harry S. Ditchburne, nominee for state's attorney; William Busse, for recorder; George F. Nixon, for board of tax appeals; Judge John H. Lyle, Judge Edgar A. Jonas, and nearly all the remainder of the Municipal court and county tickets.

G. W. Rossetter Appointed Aid to G. O. P. Treasurer

George W. Rossetter, former president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, has been appointed assistant treasurer of the Republican national committee, C. B. Goodspeed, the new treasurer, announced yesterday. It was also announced that Seymour Wheeler of Chicago has been named to serve on the national committee's finance committee.

46 GUARDS HELD FOR GRAND JURY IN STRIKE FIGHT

Kent, O., June 19.—[Special.]—Behind locked doors of the city hall, 46 company guards from the Black & Decker Electric company pleaded innocent today to charges of shooting with intent to wound during a strike outbreak at the company's plant yesterday.

They were bound over to the grand jury under bond of $1,500 each. Following their arraignment they were returned immediately to their cells in the same building pending efforts to make bond.

Bonds or Jail, Mayor Says.

Mayor W. I. Harvey presided over the blanket arraignment of all the defendants. They nearly filled the courtroom. Police Chief St. Clair West said that if the men were unable to make bond they would be taken later to the county jail at Ravenna.

Before being arraigned the defendants all were finger printed at the city hall. All the guards were booked as residing in Cleveland.

Meantime, quiet prevailed at the Black & Decker plant, where six men were wounded yesterday in a four hour gun battle between pickets and guards that had been rushed into the plant under protection of a tear gas barrage.

Ex-Treasurer of Bay State Backed for Governor

LANDON TO WIN, BROOKS TELLS 7,500 AT RALLY

'Will Take Midwest Ideas to White House.'

Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, told 7,500 persons who attended a party rally last night in the forest preserve west of Downers Grove that Gov. Landon would be elected President this fall and would "take the midwest viewpoint into the White House."

"Under a Republican administration," Mr. Brooks said, "the Illinois state government will be conducted in such a manner that there will be more benefits, more opportunities for all. The problems to which we shall devote our efforts are better education, lower tax bills and a reduction in the cost of living.

"The people of the middle west are taking a greater interest than ever before in the national election of 1936 and this brings the assurance that a Republican adminstration that knows midwest needs will be sent to Washington."

Hadley Assails Burocracy.

Another speaker at the rally was Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton, Republican nominee for attorney general of Illinois.

"The people of the United States," he said, "are looking to the Republican party for leadership and for the destruction of the Frankenstein burocracy that is burdening us now. We have been led away to the left into the wilderness, away from the liberties guaranteed us by the constitution.

"Once before, when constitutional liberty was in danger, the Republican party selected a man from a typical prairie state for its leader. Again the party makes a similar choice. Inspired by the leadership of Landon and Knox, the people will return the Republican party to power this fall, restore confidence, and secure the return of prosperity."

William J. Stratton Talks.

Another candidate who spoke briefly was William J. Stratton, nominee for secretary of state.

Much enthusiasm was displayed at the meeting, which was held under the sponsorship of the Downers Grove Republican club, and presided over by Bernard M. Long, clerk of the Probate court of Du Page county. Most of those attending came from Cook, Kane, and Du Page counties, but twelve other northern Illinois counties sent delegations.

BORAH TO BACK LANDON, ASSERTS GRANGE DEPUTY

Towanda, Pa., June 19.—(AP)—Ray McKaig, of Idaho, national grange deputy and a personal friend of United States Senator William E. Borah, said tonight the senator will support Gov. Alf M. Landon for president.

McKaig also declared emphatically in an interview that he will not be a candidate for United States senator from Idaho.

"With Senator Borah filing for reelection I would not be foolish enough," he said. "On the other hand I will do everything I can to help him."

ELECTION BOARDS OF 10 CITIES FORM NEW ASSOCIATION

Registration Plan Is Sought.

The Association of Election Commissioners of Illinois was formed here yesterday to evolve a uniform system for permanent registration of voters in Chicago and the nine other Illinois cities which come under the provisions of the registration law recently enacted by the legislature.

Holger A. Carlson, head of the Rockford election board, was named chairman of the association after winning in a toss of the coin with V. W. McIntire, a Danville election official, who was then named vice chairman.

Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, a member of the Chicago election board, was elected secretary, and Attorney Robert L. Taylor of the legal staf of the Chicago board was named counsel.

Election Board Required.

Under the new law, which goes into effect July 1, only those Illinois cities which have boards of election commissioners can have permanent registration. These cities, in addition to Chicago, are Peoria, Springfield, East St. Louis, Rockford, Danville, Bloomington, Aurora, Cairo, and Galesburg.

County Judge Jarecki, head of the Cook county election machinery, pointed out that the new registration statute makes it mandatory on the city councils of these ten cities to provide funds for installing the machinery for the new system.

"We must not sacrifice efficiency for expense in setting up the permanent registration system," Judge Jarecki said. "Honest elections cost less than rebellions."

Funds Create Problems.

Some of the downstate election officials indicated they may have difficulty in getting their city councils to provide the funds, particularly where there are political differences.

The new association will have an executive committee composed of one representative from each of the ten election boards. Members will be named later and will hold quarterly meetings, the first to be at Aurora on Sept. 25 and 26. The first registration in Chicago under the new system will be Aug. 4 at the offices of the election board.

LANDON'S OFFICE ASKS COPIES OF TRIBUNE PICTURE

A telegraphic order for copies of a portrait of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas which will appear in colors in tomorrow's rotogravure section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE was received yesterday from Willard Mayberry, the Republican presidential nominee's secretary.

Mr. Mayberry's wire, from Gov. Landon's office in Topeka, directed that a number of copies be supplied to the Young Republican club of Roanoke, Va., and that the remainder be sent to the governor.

THE TRIBUNE'S portrait is a color reproduction of a full page photograph, one of Gov. Landon's favorites. Copies of it, framed under glass, can be obtained at the Tribune Public Service offices, in Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street, for 75 cents [over counter] or for $1 by postpaid mail. TRIBUNE readers desiring the portrait are requested not to send coins or currency in ordering by mail.

DEMOCRATS SEE TRADE PACTS IN THEIR PLATFORM

Managed Money Plank Is on Program.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—(AP)—Democratic platform planners were recorded tonight as insistent that the party pledge itself to a "nonpartisan reciprocal trade program" to make the United States a "moral force among the nations of the world."

After viewing the Republican platform calling for repeal of the reciprocal trade treaties, Senator Pope [Dem., Idaho], a champion of the farm interests in reciprocal trade pacts, said Secretary Hull's views were expected to be a controling factor in shaping the tarif plank.

"It is well known that the secretary wants to keep the reciprocal trade program nonpartisan," he said.

On International Affairs.

On international affairs, Pope said, there had been considerable closed door talk of recommending that the United States command an active part among nations for maintenance of peace and economic understanding.

Senator Lewis of Illinois, Democratic whip, said he understood no mention by name would be made of a minimum wage law for women and children, but that the platform likely would favor a "proper balancing of wages and hours of labor."

Senator McAdoo of California, wartime secretary of the treasury, said he did not expect any fight over the money issue, believing the convention would declare for a managed currency as conducted by the present administration.

See "New Money" Bloc.

A currency plank submitted by Senator Thomas [Dem., Okla.], who unsuccessfully has advocated issuance of 3 billion dollars of new currency, was interpreted by him as opening the way for future legislation by the "new money" bloc in congress.

Chairman Jones [Dem., Tex.] of the house agriculture committee said he understood that nothing definite other than continuation of the soil conservation program with its crop control features, had been decided upon by farm plank planners.

A program reported to have the approval of Secretary Wallace embraces the present AAA soil conservation program with subsidy payments to farmers, production control within constitutional limits, reciprocal trade agreements, and commodity loans to farmers.

21 CITY BEACHES WILL BE OPENED TO PUBLIC TODAY

Twenty-one beaches under city supervision will be opened today to the public, it was announced yesterday by Walter Wright, superintendent of parks and recreation.

The largest beaches maintained by the city are at 76th street, 79th street, Clarendon avenue, and Touhy avenue. There are 17 smaller beaches along the lake.

Fourteen beaches controled by the park district are scheduled to open on July 1. The city will employ 140 life guards and the park district 225.

FAINTS IN COURT WHEN SON CALLS AUNT 'MOTHER'

Mrs. Josephine Meucci, 25 years old, of Milwaukee, fainted on the witness stand in the Circuit court of Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday as she heard her son, Raymond Jr., 6 years old, point out another woman in the courtroom as his mother. Judge Feinberg halted the hearing, which was on a writ of habeas corpus sought by Mrs. Meucci to regain custody of the boy from his paternal uncle and aunt, Aldo and Florence Bachini, 1614 South 51st street, Cicero. Raymond called Mrs. Bachini his mother and said Mrs. Meucci was his "first mother."

Mr. and Mrs. Bachini adopted Raymond in May, 1935, seven months after his father was killed in an automobile accident. Last May 9 the County court set aside the adoption on the ground that the mother was not notified.

Judge Feinberg ordered Mrs. Meucci to bring her fiancé, Leonard Cianciola, to court today for an interview, and said he would decide then on who shall have custody of the boy.

WIFE'S SUIT ASKS A GUARDIAN FOR SIDMON M'HIE

Mrs. Isabel D. McHie, 69 years old, of New York City, filed suit in the Lake county Superior court in East Chicago, Ind., yesterday, asking that a guardian be appointed for her husband, Sidmon McHie, 73 years old, wealthy Hammond publisher. The bill, drawn by Attorney James McCarthy of Whiting and Felix Buoscio of Chicago, alleges that McHie is incompetent.

McHie has a suit for divorce pending against his wife and this is scheduled for a hearing next Wednesday before Judge John F. Cody in the Superior court in Hammond. He alleges cruelty.

Mrs. McHie caused a sensation in March, 1935, when, as she was being taken to a hospital from a Grand Trunk railroad train in Battle Creek, Mich., her purse flew open and $24,196 in cash and jewelry worth $150,000 fell out.

KILLS SELF WITH RAZOR.

Mrs. Aino Walo, 41 years old, was found dead yesterday in her home at 5743 Warwick avenue. Her throat and left wrist were slashed with a razor, which was found beside her body.

SABATH INQUIRY CHARGES RACKET IN REALTY BONDS

Chicago Firm Is Singled Out for Criticism.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—The "fleecing and robbing" of 5 million persons of 20 billion dollars in gold bonds and real estate securities was charged in a supplemental report issued today by the house select committee investigating real estate bondholders' reorganizations. The chairman is Representative Adolph J. Sabath, Chicago Democrat.

At the same time the house judiciary committee announced that it had reported favorably the Sabath bill designed to place bondholders' groups under federal control through vesting power in the controler of the currency as a "conservator in bankruptcy."

Hits Title and Trust.

The Sabath report dealt with several firms in Chicago but singled out the Chicago Title and Trust company for special criticism. This concern, the committee declared, appeared as trustee, depositary, manager, or in some other capacity in 65 per cent of the 100,000 foreclosure cases filed in state courts in Chicago and adjacent territory. Its influences were stamped as "subversive."

"It is noteworthy," the committee said, "that four out of the nearly 200 law firms used by this company handled 16 per cent of the cases but received about 40 per cent of the fees. These four law firms are outstanding members of the Chicago Bar association."

In the case of trust 17,400 of the concern, the committee charged that there was a secret agreement between the trust company and the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company to divide the profits equally. Collateral bonds totaling 17 million dollars were issued, principally sold to the public.

Reports $562,690 Divided.

The committee reported that up to Aug. 11, 1931, $562,690 was divided up between the trust company and the bank.

"Actually, the trust company at all times was a partner for profit with the bank, and its pecuniary interests were placed ahead of its trust duties and obligations to the public," stated the committee. "After 1931, and because of the general debacle in real estate securities, further profits of this sort became unavailable for secret division. But there was a way out.

"By throwing the trust into the courts, the Chicago Title and Trust company immediately placed itself in a position to exact fees, as trustee, from the corpus of the estate. Thereupon this trust was thrown into equity receivership 'to freeze its assets.'"

Pays Itself $100,000.

Subsequently, the trust company paid itself a fee of $100,000 on account, the committee said, and 2½ years after the filing of the equity suit had accumulated $1,200,000 in cash, "but no distribution was made to improverished holders of bonds."

Seven groups controled defaulted issues in Chicago, the committee declared. They were named as follows:

1. Chicago Title and Trust company.
2. Combination of banking interests consisting of ex-officers of the Dawes group, Chicago Title and Trust company, and the First National Bank of Chicago.
3. Continental Illinois National bank.
4. Dawes group, ex-officers of the Central Trust, Central Republic Trust, Chicago Trust, and Standard Trust.
5. First National group, handling besides its own issues those of the First Trust and Savings bank and Foreman State bank.
6. S. W. Straus & Co., working through 16 affiliates and subsidiaries.
7. Outlying smaller banks, most of them directly influenced by the Chicago Title and Trust company.

Claim Fraud Disclosed.

Disclosures of the committee covering the whole country, it was declared in the report, indicate "gross fraud and dishonesty," and apparent income tax evasion, warranting the scrutiny of the department of justice and bureau of internal revenue.

"The select committee has devoted nearly 2 years investigating this 'racket,'" said the report. "It finds many investment and mortgage bankers are responsible for unloading dishonest securities on the public, and it is they who are now the chief factors in this racket by which most of these 5 million people are being defrauded of their investments by so-called protective committees, and the unjust and inequitable reorganizations which they foist upon their victimized investors.

"Many houses of issue maintained large stafs of high pressure salesmen to unload on the investing public billions of dollars worth of these securities. Banks often connived and conspired with these houses, through affiliates, to unload these securities on their own depositors and customers.

"Most real estate and industrial securities now in default owe their present condition to the false and inflated values which were dishonestly set up as security for the obligation.

"Millions of dollars deposited with trustees have been withheld unnecessarily from distribution to boldholders. Estates of minors, incompetents, widows, and orphans handled by banks or trust companies as guardian, administrator, executor, trustee, under a will, have in very many instances been depleted or completely wiped out through reckless and selfish management."

The committee declared that its investigations in many instances had scared financial houses into correcting their practices.

DENY ALL CHARGES

A blanket denial of every charge of fraud, dishonesty, evasion of law, and fleecing of real estate bondholders was made on behalf of the Chicago Title and Trust company last night by Chester Davis, vice president and trust officer, on being informed of the Sabath investigating committee's report which singled out this company for criticism and also listed six other Chicago groups.

"I have no desire to enter into a controversy with Mr. Sabath," said Davis. "He is in Washington and we are here. He is a lawyer and should know the Illinois law on foreclosure and what the duties of a trustee are. But if the charges made in Washington are meant to apply to us, they have no foundation.

"We are convinced that the facts will not bear out Mr. Sabath and his committee report in any charges of misconduct leveled against the Chicago Title and Trust company. Some of the matters mentioned in the report have been aired in court and the charges dismissed. We refer any one to the court records."

Passed On by Wilkerson.

Referring to trust 17,400, Davis recalled that a reorganization was approved in federal court by Judge James H. Wilkerson after representatives of the Sabath committee had intervened in the case.

"All actions of ours have been passed on by the courts," Davis added.

He also recalled that charges were made against the company as receiver for H. O. Stone & Co., at the instance of the Sabath committee, and were dismissed. Income tax was one of the matters involved.

Davis pointed out that Chicago Title and Trust never has been a house of issue, its connections with real estate reorganization arising principally from its duties as trustee.

"We make it a practice to employ competent counsel," said Davis, in reply to charges of favoring certain law firms. "In many cases counsel is selected by the protective committee." He was unable to name the four firms referred to in the report.

Sinks After Landing 1,400 Safely

Unaware of Danger

Detroit, Mich., June 19.—[Special.]—Unaware of their danger, most of the 1,400 passengers on the excursion steamer Tashmoo gayly danced to the music of a "hot" band early today as the ship, a gaping hole in its bottom, raced toward land after striking a rock.

Water that cascaded through the huge hole swirled waist deep around members of the engine room gang as they stoked boiler fires to keep pumps working. They stuck to their job until water began extinguishing the fires

Ten minutes after the 306 foot vessel struck a rock half a mile from the main ship channel in the lower Detroit river it reached Amherstburg, Ont., and began to sink in 18 feet of water at the dock.

The boat sank 30 minutes after the last passenger left it.

Perfects Radio Tube of 30 Billion Cycle Frequency

Pasadena, Cal., June 19.—[Special.]—Perfection of a radio tube that generates a wave only one-third of an inch long was announced today by scientists at the California Institute of Technology. Dr. G. W. Potapenko perfected the ray, which has a frequency of 30 billion cycles a second. The new apparatus has been of great value in studying atomic structure through the relative absorption for the waves exerted by various kinds of matter, scientists said.

ROOSEVELT IS DETERMINED TO DRAFT LEHMAN

Insists Governor Again Head N. Y. Ticket.

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's friends, it was reported authoritatively today, are preparing a movement to draft Herbert H. Lehman for another term as governor of New York as an integral part of the Democratic national convention when it opens in Philadelphia Tuesday.

Not only is the governor to be made chairman of the New York state delegation, but, it is said, he is slated to be the only one to second the nomination of President Roosevelt from his home state after John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie presents his name to the delegates.

Roosevelt Is Determined.

The President has not weakened in his determination to find means of persuading the governor to reconsider his announcement that he would not be a candidate for renomination this fall.

In fact, with Postmaster General James A. Farley's arrival in Philadelphia this afternoon it became apparent that Mr. Roosevelt's determination to insist on Gov. Lehman's continuance in office has become stronger than ever.

The belief is growing among the sponsors of the draft Lehman movement that he cannot resist the call of the party in view of the urgent demands of Democratic leaders, who are said to feel that the party's main hope of a victory in November depends on Lehman. The governor polled a record vote in the last election, and it is believed his presence at the top of the ticket might serve to stem the anti-New Deal tide.

To Force Lehman's Hand.

It is expected that Gov. Lehman's appearance before the convention will be the signal for such a storm of applause that the governor will be brought to realize his decision has become a matter of "intense national interest."

He will share the place of prominence among the New York delegates only with United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, who will be chairman of the committee on resolutions.

MAYOR VOICES HIS SUPPORT OF PLAN TO FILTER CITY WATER

Pointing out that Chicago will be confronted with a serious health threat three years hence if immediate steps are not taken to safeguard the city's water supply, Mayor Kelly yesterday declared emphatically in favor of filtration.

The mayor stated his views in a letter to Charles P. Schwartz, president of the City club, commending the club on its recent report stressing the need for water filtration.

"Our water supply problem is one in which I am intensely interested," the mayor wrote.

"Although our chlorination control is as efficient as that of any city in America, yet chlorination alone is subject at times to heavy contamination and has elements of risk to public health which must be recognized. These risks are increasing each year.

"With a reduced diversion of water from Lake Michigan, effective in 1939 under the order of the United States Supreme court, much of the polluted water which is now kept out of the lake will be discharged into our drinking water and jeopardize the quality of water at our intakes. This is a warning which must not go unheeded.

"The solution of this problem obviously lies in the construction of water filtration plants."

Baby Bites a Snake; He's All Right but Snake Dies

Atlanta, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—Seventeen months old Jack Bone, at play in his yard, reversed the usual process today and bit a snake. But it was an eight inch non-poisonous one. The baby at a hospital was pronounced none the worse for the experience. The snake died.

TRAFIC HALTED IN A WHOLE COUNTY FOR BANDIT HUNT

Farmingdale, N. Y., June 19.—[Special.]—Every trafic light in Nassau county was turned red at 10:16 a. m. today in an effort to trap three gunmen escaping in an automobile after the holdup of a messenger of the First National bank of Farmingdale.

The gunmen slugged the messenger as he was returning to the bank from the postoffice with two packages containing $13,000 in currency. They dragged him into their car and sped away. Three blocks away they tossed the dazed messenger into the street and raced on toward Suffolk county.

While the lights were kept red automobile movement came to a standstill throughout the island.

BROKER DE WITT IS GIVEN DEFAULT DIVORCE DECREE

Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court yesterday signed a decree granting a default divorce to John DeWitt, 35 years old, of the Ambassador East hotel, wealthy stock broker, from Dorothy Peck DeWitt, 32 years old, of Claremont, Cal.

Attorney Robert Cantwell Jr. for DeWitt informed the court that his client had to obtain service by publication, because his wife would not hire a lawyer or accept service. DeWitt, however, has made voluntary arrangements to send his wife $250 a month for the support of their child, Cornelius, 7 years old, Cantwell said.

New York, June 13.—[U. P.]—The investor in diamonds at the lowest ebb of the depression in 1932 tonight could count two dollars for every dollar he spent.

There is a boom in the diamond markets in the United States. Brokers attributed the rise to many factors, principal of which is fear of inflation.

PLEASANT SOCIAL LIFE OF PRISONS POPS INTO PRINT

Cell House 'Time' Is Done by Boys at Joliet.

The newest contribution to the social life in Illinois prisons has just come off the press in the form of an eight page monthly publication, the Joliet-Stateville Time, written and printed by convicts at Stateville and Joliet penitentiaries.

Pictures of Gov. Horner and Joseph E. Ragen, superintendent of prisons, the two who made possible this new leisure time activity for convicts, adorn the front page of the first issue. The initial editorial speaks glowingly of the pair and of the prisons' new recreational facilities.

Through its columns, many written in light, gossipy vein, run glimpses of other activities at the prisons, inaugurated by the present administration. One convict-journalist refers to this as boondoggling.

Soft Ball for Ball-and-Chain.

One page is devoted to the Stateville industrial soft ball league's schedule. A two column sports section deals with convict baseball and gymnasium notes. Several columns expatiate upon the courses in accounting, salesmanship, and poultry husbandry now open to the convicts. Courses in photography, radio engineering, advertising, and business management soon will follow, the article says.

A columnist from Stateville's D cellhouse writes of the boondoggling of Convict Jack [Fruit Cake] Stevens, former Indiana middleweight champion. Boondoggler Stevens, it appears, was noted carrying a pan of pebbles for the new promenade in the prison yard.

Another columnist "wishes to extend orchids to Warden Ragen for the excellent stage show lately provided."

All Very Interesting, Indeed.

A third writes: "We are pleased to say that several auto motors have just recently been purchased for the students to take apart and reassemble, all very interesting."

An article entitled "The First Six Months Are the Hardest," bearing the by-line, "Author Unknown," delves even more deeply into the new convict pleasures.

"Convicts do not become sick of prison," he says. "That is, not in the sense that people on the outside are led to believe. They do not become so inflicted with incarceration that the thought of the days yet to be served is a mania. . . . Prison isn't prison any more after that [the first six months]. . . . It's just a temporary inconvenience one has to tolerate."

The paper has a circulation of 6,500, 5,246 copies going to the convicts. Cost of publication is taken from the convicts recreation fund, a fund created by the profits of the prison commissary and used for "varsity" football and baseball uniforms and other items necessary for the happy prison life.

A. J. Kerwin, former Springfield printer, is civilian supervisor in charge of the Joliet-Stateville Time. He has a staf of 12 convict-reporters and 15 convict-printers.

HUSBAND PLEADS UNWRITTEN LAW; FREED IN SLAYING

A jury before Judge Joseph Burke in Criminal court yesterday acquitted Gustaf Wesley, 25 years old, 2835 West 15th street, of the murder of Russell De Franco, 24 years old, 1639 South California avenue. De Franco was shot to death last Christmas day.

Wesley's defense was a combined pleading of self-defense and the unwritten law. He tesified he had been separated from his wife, Gertrude, 22 years old, for several months, and learned that she had been seen with De Franco. He said that he met De Franco near the latter's home to remonstrate with him, that De Franco attacked him, and that then he killed the young man.

Mrs. Wesley was a spectator at the trial, which was her husband's second. Wesley was first tried three weeks ago, the jury being dismissed May 28 when it could not reach agreement.

Hold Murder Theory

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 19.—[Special.]—The theory that Mrs. Eleanor Feely, 30, wife of a University of Pittsburgh faculty member, and their two children had been murdered was strengthened today with the announcement that a man's thumb print had been found on a hammer lying near the bodies.

Police Lieutenant George Schmotzer expressed the belief the woman killed the children and herself, but Deputy Coroner John Artz said: "I don't care what the police say; some fiend—some ghoul—murdered them."

The report of an autopsy showed that all three died of strangulation although one of the children, Bobby, 5, had been hit on the head with a hammer before being strangled, and that an ice pick plunged into Mrs. Feely's chest nearly penetrated her heart.

The hammer on which the man's thumb print was discovered had been used to tighten a hemp rope looped around Mrs. Feely's neck and fastened to a radiator pipe. The handle of the claw hammer was thrust through the rope under the woman's throat.

WIDOW PLEADS NOT GUILTY OF SLAYING BROKER

Mrs. Mildred Mary Bolton, who rarely talks except for publication, made a brief appearance before Chief Justice Denis J. Normoyle in the Criminal court yesterday, registered complaints at the manner in which her publicity is being handled, and pleaded not guilty to the murder of her husband, Joseph, insurance man.

While waiting for her hearing to begin, she assured reporters that she had never attended the trial of Betty Martin, who was acquitted recently of murdering her husband, Andrew.

"My lawyer told me not to talk," said Mrs. Bolton. "If there is anything I like to do it's talk, but if Mr. Levy [Harold Levy, her attorney] says I shouldn't talk, why I just won't."

When Judge Normoyle ascended the bench, she said:

"Your honor, I don't wish to be photographed. These photographers insist on taking my picture every time I move. Can't you do . . ."

Levy interrupted her to enter the not guilty plea, and the case was assigned to Judge Robert C. O'Connell, who will set a trial date Monday.

Bolton was shot twice in the back, and once in the chest, in his office at 166 West Jackson boulevard last Monday. Mrs. Bolton was alone with him in the room.

GOOCH HANGED; 1ST TO DIE UNDER LINDBERGH LAW

350 See Abductor of Two Officers Executed.

McAlester, Okla., June 19.—[Special.]—Hopeful of executive clemency to the last moment, Arthur Gooch, 27, former Okmulgee butcher boy, was hanged today for kidnaping two Texas officers and transporting them into Oklahoma to escape arrest.

He was the first person to die for violation of the Lindbergh law. One of the officers was shoved through a showcase and injured during a scuffle, thus making the death penalty applicable.

Gooch walked almost an eighth of a mile to the scaffold, which was inside an extension of the main prison walls. A crowd of more than 350 persons, including eight women, witnessed the execution.

Until the very last Gooch apparently thought he might be saved. He called newspapermen to his hot, stuffy cell shortly before the death march and asked if President Roosevelt, who late yesterday declined for the second time to intercede, had changed his mind.

"This Isn't Much Fun."

"Make sure the President hasn't changed his mind," Gooch said. "I'd like to know right away if he does. I don't want to be kept in suspense a minute longer than necessary. This isn't much fun."

Gooch's death cell farewell to his 6 year old son Billy was, "Dont get into trouble, son." The boy had pleaded with death row guards, "Don't hang daddy."

The gangster was convicted of kidnaping R. N. Baker and H. R. Marks in Paris, Tex. The officers were released at Snow, Okla., unharmed except for a cut Baker suffered in a scuffle. Gooch's case was carried through all channels of appeal, twice reaching the United States Supreme court.

Two Slayers Electrocuted.

Montgomery, Ala., June 19.—[Special.]—Elmer N. Arant, former Fort Deposit public utilities manager, accused of killing the wife of a former friend, and Walter Miller, colored, convicted of raping and slaying a white girl, were electrocuted here today.

ROCKFORD CELERY MERCHANT IS SHOT; NEIGHBOR SEIZED

Rockford, Ill., June 19.—[Special.]—George Licali, 45, operator of the Rockford Celery company, was near death this afternoon, shot through the throat by a man who called at the company offices to see him.

Licali's daughter, Victoria, 17, said the shot was fired by Tom Petta, alias Rumore, 45, a neighbor. Petta, arrested at the Freeport, Ill., city limits an hour later, denied that he had been involved in the shooting.

Police said friends of the two families had told them Petta was jealous of his wife and that Licali had tried to convince Petta there was no reason for his jealousy.

Pharmacist Gets 30 Years on Child Kidnaping Charge

Judge John J. Lupe in Criminal court yesterday sentenced Paul Diekelman, 30 years old, a pharmacist, to thirty years in the penitentiary on a charge of kidnaping a child, of which a jury found him guilty last week. Diekelman was accused of enticing a 4 year old girl to his apartment at 1834 Melrose street on April 16, and there mistreating her. Diekelman's attorney, William Scott Stewart, said he would appeal the case when Judge Lupe refused a motion for a new trial.

THIEF IS BLIND IN ONE EYE; THE OTHER ISN'T BAD

Arraigned before Judge J. M. Braude of the Municipal court on a charge of shoplifting, Albert Lundy, 56 years old, a casual, said he was blind in his right eye, had an impairment of the vision in his left, could not find work, and had stolen to get money for food.

"Cover your left eye with your hand," said Judge Braude. Lundy covered his left eye.

"Shall I sentence you to this number of months," said Judge Braude, holding up one finger, "or to this number?" He held up four fingers.

"I'll take the first," said Lundy, and got it.

GORMAN ORDERS 200TH SENTENCE IN SAFETY DRIVE

Another Gets 1 to 14 Years for Manslaughter.

Judge Gibson E. Gorman yesterday imposed his 200th jail sentence since he took charge of the Safety court on May 4. "I don't relish sending motorists to jail," he remarked to Assistant State's Attorney John Phillips, "but it seems to be the only means of curbing the trafic toll of deaths and injuries."

At the same time Judge E. I. Frankhauser of the Criminal court sentenced John Vaughn, 25 years old, 199 East 155th street, to one to fourteen years in the penitentiary. Vaughn was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury last week. According to testimony, he was drunk when his car struck and killed Herman Rohder, 52 years old, of Riverdale, on April 26 at Halsted and 139th streets.

Quarrels, Drinks, and Drives.

The 200th driver to be sentenced by Judge Gorman was Alex Becker, 33 years old, 7917 South Shore drive, who received ten days in the county jail for operating an automobile while intoxicated. He admitted he had had several drinks after a quarrel with his wife.

Howard Adams, 38 years old, 5101 Kenmore avenue, received 60 days in the county jail for leaving the scene of an accident. He was chased and captured by police after his car struck and fatally injured George Davis of Toledo, O., on May 19 at Congress street and Michigan avenue. A coroner's jury absolved him of a charge of manslaughter because Davis was walking against a red light.

Involved in Fatal Accident.

Others sentenced to the county jail during the day's session in Safety court were:

Frank Jones, 29 years old, 7932 Normal boulevard, two days for reckless driving after a manslaughter charge was nol prossed. On April 19 at East 43d street and Cottage Grove avenue, his car collided with one driven by Thomas Byrne, 46 years old, 1421 East 60th street. Byrne died of pneumonia.

Thomas Reilly, 28 years old, 346 North Lockwood avenue; three days for reckless driving.

George Hansen, 41 years old, 3901 Belden avenue; ten days for drunk driving.

Arthur Lemming, 43 years old, 2942 Kolmar avenue; ten days for driving while intoxicated.

Youth Placed Under Court.

John Plecko, 18 years old, 3013 Archer avenue, whose motorcycle struck and killed a 10 year old girl, was forbidden to operate any motor vehicle for one year and was placed under supervision of the Boys' court by Judge J. M. Braude yesterday. Plecko ran into Lorraine Slowinski, 2944 Archer avenue, at Lock street and Archer avenue on May 27.

George Barnard, 19 years old, 6630 North Campbell avenue, a floorman in a garage, and William Payton, 24 years old, colored, 1625 Simpson street, were accused in the Trafic court yesterday of having held a race at 73 and 75 miles an hour in the outer drive between Montrose and Wilson avenues. Judge Frank M. Padden fined them each $75 and $8.50 costs for speeding. Barnard also was fined $25 and $8.50 costs for having license plates that were issued for a different car.

ORDER PREACHER TO PAY $18,000 IN LOVE THEFT

Raleigh, N. C., June 19.—(AP)—A jury here awarded Hoke Paige $18,000 in his $40,000 heart balm suit against the Rev. E. H. Gattis, a clergyman.

The Baptist minister was found "wantonly and wilfully" guilty of having alienated Mrs. Paige's affections in the latter part of 1934. The verdict was returned last night, after a two day trial.

Gattis testified his only interest in Mrs. Paige was as a friend of the family. Mrs. Paige testified in his behalf.

Gattis, who holds no regular pastorate, but is a frequent preacher throughout Wake county, operates a small real estate business in addition to a filling station, and said on the witness stand he held title to property valued at approximately $25,000.

HORNER TO TOUR ELEVATED ROADS NEAR NEW YORK

Will Study Merits for Use Here.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Tribune tour information bureau yesterday gave Gov. Horner a marked map to route him from the Democratic convention after it closes in Philadelphia next week-end for an inspection trip over New York's west side elevated highway and over New Jersey's elevated highway from the Newark airport to the Holland tunnel under the Hudson river.

"There has been so much agitation for elevated highways in Chicago," said the governor in Springfield "that I want to see one in operation. I'm not taking any engineers with me because I wouldn't understand a technical engineering description of the structures anyway. I just want the personal experience of riding over them so that I can visualize how they function."

Says Test Will Show Value.

"If you'll ride on the overhead pavement and then cover the same course in surface street congestion," interjected Robert Kingery, state director of public works, "you'll get a good picture of the safety value of elevated highways."

"You're thinking favorably of the proposal for elevated highways in Chicago?" the governor was asked.

"I favor elevated highways for Chicago," Horner replied, "but not at the expense of the downstate losing any roads."

Study Highway Program.

The governor, his highway engineers, and his campaign manager then turned to a final review of a $10,320,000 road building program to be financed half with gasoline tax and license fee revenues and half with the regular federal aid allotment that becomes available on July 1.

For consideration as part of this program there have been requests for $500,000,000 worth of farm roads, and so the governor will have to disappoint at least some of his constituents.

100 Coreans Are Drowned as Boat Capsizes in Storm

SEOUL, Corea, June 19.—(AP)—One hundred Coreans were reported drowned today when a motor boat capsized in a storm off the coast of southern Corea. The Japanese News agency said the craft was en route to Shimonoseki from a small Corean port and carried about 120 persons, mostly coolies.

AUTO VICTIM'S BODY IS FOUND ON STATE ROAD

Trace Clew in Downers Grove Accident.

Apparently the victim of a hit-run driver, Edward Guenther, 50 years old, 1140 Van Buren street, was found dead yesterday beside route 34 between Oakwood avenue and Downers drive in Downers Grove. He was identified through an old fishing license and a divorce decree found in his clothing, and is believed to have been unemployed.

Chief of Police James Dwyer of Downers Grove found the battered headlight of a late model automobile, near Guenther's body.

Boy Dies of Injuries.

Theodore Andersen, 6 years old, died last night in the Lake County General hospital in Waukegan of a fractured skull received earlier in the day when an automobile driven by his mother, Mrs. Flora Andersen, collided with another car at the intersection of route 173 and the Bean Hill road, two miles east of Antioch.

Mrs. Andersen's husband, Charles, is a truck farmer near Antioch. The driver of the other machine, John Casazza, 30 years old, of Rockford, and a passenger in his car, were slightly injured.

Police Operator in Hospital.

An inquest into the death of Thomas Walsh, 40 years old, 5243 Washington boulevard, who was killed early yesterday when the automobile in which he was riding with George St. Arnaud, 39 years old, 5352 Washington boulevard, crashed into a railroad abutment near 16th and Clark streets, was continued to Aug. 26.

St. Arnaud, a Central station police operator, was reported in a critical condition with a skull fracture and internal injuries. His fiancée, Margaret McGuire, 28 years old, 4148 Wilcox avenue, told police St. Arnaud bought his automobile with his veteran's bonus.

Confesses in Auto Death.

Clement Ross, 34 years old, 7025 Wolfram street, yesterday confessed to police that he was the driver of a truck which ran over Harry Smith, 43 years old, 1313 South Kedzie avenue, as Smith was taking a sun bath in a driveway of the freight station of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad at Peoria street and Carroll avenue Wednesday.

Smith died later in the hospital.

Ross said he started for the hospital with Smith in his truck but stopped and called an ambulance when the injured man complained of the bumps. Ross was held.

Girl Hit While Running.

Josephine Cardoni, 10 years old, 767 Uhland street, was seriously injured yesterday when she ran into the side of an automobile driven by Harry Nordeen, 39 years old, Waukegan, at Clybourn avenue and Blackhawk street. Nordeen said the accident was unavoidable. He was held on a reckless driving charge brought by the child's father, Joseph.

The coroner's office reported 458 persons killed in Cook county trafic accidents between January 1 and 4 p. m. yesterday. In the same period, 359 were killed and 7,799 injured within the city.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item Wednesday reported the fining of Miss Florence Stumpfa on a short weight charge filed against her several months ago when she was the owner of a store at 5249 West Chicago avenue. Roy Beaubien said yesterday that he is the present owner of the store, which he acquired June 1, two months after Miss Stumpfa ceased doing business, and that he has never given short weight to any customer.

'I WANT TO HANG,' AVERS STOCKING SLAYER OF GIRL

San Francisco, Cal., June 19.—[Special.]—Albert Walter Jr., 28, self-styled enemy of all women, vigorously protested an insanity plea, entered for him in Superior court today, and demanded that he be allowed to plead guilty and be hanged for the "silk stocking" slaying of a young woman he met on a bus.

But the plea was entered despite his protests, and he was ordered examined by alienists before his trial, which was set for June 25. Public Defender Gerald Kenny asserted that "we can't take a chance of permitting an insane man to be hanged."

"But I'm not insane, Walter exclaimed. "I want to be hanged. This is as good a way of committing suicide as there is. I want to get it over with."

The neatly dressed young man, who willingly discussed the psychological aspects of his crime, also reaffirmed his intention to refuse any help from his father, who lives in Boston, or his wife of a year whom he deserted in New York recently.

Albert Walter Sr., who declared his son had been a victim of a strange wanderlust since he was 10 years old, announced in Boston that he planned to come here at once.

The wanderlust son surrendered to police "because my conscience bothered me," and confessed the fatal strangling of Miss Blanche Cousins, 31, of Idaho Falls, Idaho. He said he became incensed because she resisted his love making.

The ship, regarded as the smallest in the world with full rig, came here from Melbourne, Australia, which she reached last Dec. 31. The Joseph Conrad is the property of Alan Villiers, Brooklyn author.

[The Joseph Conrad was reported missing recently off the coast of New Zealand and was feared to have been wrecked in a storm.]

DECISION TO END BOYCOTT OF ITALY STIRS NEW ROW

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, June 19.—The British government's decision to abandon sanctions seems to be taken in league of nations' quarters to mean that sanctions are finished, that the league and Great Britain thereby suffer a bad blow, and that the real fight in the June 30 assembly will center not on sanctions but on nonrecognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Today maneuvering began from certain capitals, believed to include London, to defer the nonrecognition question until the September assembly as the best means of placating Italy—presumably with the idea of letting nonrecognition die from neglect.

Some of those favoring nonrecognition answer by coupling sanctions and nonrecognition. They argue that if the latter issue is deferred until September, then the decision to raise sanctions must also be deferred.

Supporters of nonrecognition anticipate a hard fight. The main practical interest in nonrecognition here is that the issue is expected to make it very difficult for Britain and Italy to make a deal or for Italy to borrow money she must have to develop Ethiopia.

France Joins the Parade.

PARIS, June 19.—(AP)—The new French Socialist government swung into line today in the parade headed by Great Britain to remove sanctions from conquering Italy. An official communique disclosed the cabinet had agreed to "accept" the lifting of sanctions.

"The government, faithful to the principal of collective action, will associate itself with any decision adopted by the league of nations," the statement said. "Informed of the present situation of the sanctions question, it felt consideration of facts led it to accept their lifting."

Whether the economic penalties will be lifted immediately was not disclosed. Although they will not end officially until the league acts, it was felt sanctions are ended now so far as France is concerned.

Italy in Friendly Gesture.

LONDON, June 19.—(AP)—A quick Italian gesture of friendship for Great Britain today followed this country's sanctions surrender.

Dino Grandi, the Italian ambassador whose lips have been sealed in public since the Ethiopian war began, broke his silence.

"I consider friendship with Great Britain and the great British people as sentimentally and politically an essential part of my personal feelings and of our national life," he said.

Critics of the government's decision to lift sanctions went on a warpath.

Lord Cecil, presiding at the opening session of the general council of the League of Nations' union at Scarborough, said: "I can only attribute this astonishing proceeding to sheer panic." He introduced a resolution to be acted upon tomorrow urging members of the union to "use all constitutional means" to obtain a reversal of the sanctions decision.

Germany Firm on Policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 19.—Germany's foreign policy will not be affected by yesterday's declaration of Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, announcing Great Britain's decision to abandon sanctions against Italy and asking Germany's aid in securing European peace. This was decided today by Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, Reichsfuehrer Hitler's personal envoy on foreign relations.

MEXICANS TEAR DOWN SIGNS ON MORROW STREET

CUERNAVACA, Mexico, June 19.—(AP)—Two youths today tore down the street signs on Morrow street, named for the late United States ambassador, Dwight Morrow, and substituted placards which read:

"We ask a change in the name of this street, because it has one which is opprobrious and unworthy of our social tendency. Society is offended because Yankee imperialism is glorified in one of its exponents."

The two were arrested, police identifying them as Luis Orozco and Ignacio Gonzalez, employés of the Agricultural bank.

Stanek, Czech Ex-Cabinet Member, Commits Suicide

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 19.—(AP)—Franz Stanek, 68, former president of the chamber of deputies and former member of the Czech cabinet, committed suicide today in a local sanitarium. Sanitarium authorities said apparently he was depressed by an incurable illness.

IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY BARRED, ITS LEADER JAILED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, June 19.—The government of Emon de Valera tonight barred the Irish Republican army as an unlawful organization. The action followed reference in the dail this week by Acting Minister of Justice Boland to recent political murders which have been blamed on the Republican army. He announced the government's intention to smash the organization.

The army suffered another blow when a military tribunal sentenced Maurice Twomey, its chief of staf, to three years in prison for being a member of an unlawful association.

The government has issued an order forbidding a parade Sunday by the Republican army in honor of the late Wolfe Tone, revered exponent of Republicanism. An attempt to stage the parade will be met with violence, it is feared.

CAPTURE FANTOM SHIP IN SEARCH OF PIRATE GOLD

Boat Rammed Off Coast of British Guiana.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, June 19.—(AP)—Four English fishermen who fled Grimsby April 2 with the trawler Girl Pat were under police protection here tonight, but authorities said there were no charges against them.

The crew members who have escaped arrest on both sides of the Atlantic in their reported romantic search for pirate gold are Capt. George Black Osborne, 32; James Osborne, 31, able seaman, a brother of the captain; John Hector Harris, 31, able seaman, and Howard Stephen, 17, cook.

The twenty-five ton trawler was towed in by the government vessel Pomeroon off the coast of British Guiana. The Pomeroon rammed the Girl Pat and took the men into custody after they refused to surrender.

Under Police Protection.

But Maj. C. P. Windup, inspector general, later issued this statement: "These men are not under detention. They have put themselves under police protection and they will not in any way be prevented from leaving the station."

Charges of marine theft have been placed against the seamen by an agent of Lloyd's.

The owners conducted a long and often balked quest for the four, who left Grimsby presumably bound for the regular fishing grounds in the North sea but instead headed for Spain and then down the coast of Africa.

Pass Capt. Kidd's Island.

The boat followed a strange course, hurrying from ports before her papers could be checked. She went past the Salvage islands, where rumors said Capt. Kidd hid a fortune in gold, to the west coast of Africa.

Ten days ago she bobbed up in South American waters and a new search was on.

The Girl Pat, her fuel gone and apparently badly in need of food and water, anchored yesterday four miles off Georgetown beach. Officials said when a police launch came alongside the crew shouted:

"We're outside the three mile limit. Get out or we will sink you."

Pursue Mystery Ship.

Officials went into a hurried conference with Sir Geoffrey Northcote, governor, who asked London for instructions. After this delay the gov- Pomeroon, with police aboard, was sent to arrest the Girl Pat's crew.

When the Pomeroon came alongside the "mystery ship" refused to surrender and tried to get away under emergency sail. After two and a half hours the government ship rammed her, the Girl Pat's tender sunk, and her bulwarks stove in. The crew was then brought to Georgetown.

STATE PENSIONS HEAD SURPRISED BY CHECK DELAY

Will 'Look Into It,' He Promises.

James H. Andrews, state old age pension superintendent, said yesterday in Springfield that he was surprised to hear that no pension checks have been received by Cook county applicants. Many pension applications were sent to Andrews' office two months ago after their investigation by the Cook county bureau of public welfare, the pension agency here.

"The first checks should be in the hands of the recipients now," said Andrews, who has been promising the payments "within ten days" for more than a month. "We have sent about 3,000 certifications for payment to the state auditor's office, including 600 for Cook county applicants. There must be a snarl somewhere along the line and I'll look into it."

Blames Cook County Bureau.

Asked why downstate certifications outnumber those issued for Cook county by more than four to one, Andrews said he had had difficulty in getting information in proper form from the Cook county bureau of public welfare.

With appeals for aid coming in daily from elderly persons who had expected to receive state assistance sometime ago, Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau, conferred with Andrews in Springfield yesterday about the delay.

Moss blamed "conflicting advices" from the state office for part of the delay. He also protested to Andrews about the arbitrary reductions made by the state office in amounts recommended by the county agency for pensions. Without explanation, Moss said, cuts ranging from $1 to $4 were made in recommended payments ranging from $10 to $15 a month.

Federal Funds Needed.

After the conference, Andrews commented on this, implying that the cuts were made because the state had not received federal matching funds which it now expects to get by virtue of the legislature's adoption of amendments to the pension laws demanded by Washington.

The bill amending the pension act was signed yesterday by Gov. Horner. The federal social security board will be notified today that the state has established control over employé standards in the county units. Federal matching funds will enable the state to pay maximum pensions of $30 a month instead of $15.

PREPARE TO RESCIND EMBARGO ON ARMS TO ITALY, ETHIOPIA

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—The United States is preparing to rescind the proclamation, issued by President Roosevelt last October and reaffirmed in February, placing an embargo on the exporting of arms and munitions to Italy and Ethiopia, it was learned today from a high official source.

The embargo is to be withdrawn as soon as it is definitly learned all strife has ceased in East Africa. Reports from Addis Ababa to the state department assert that the Italians have occupied and pacified approximately two-thirds of Ethiopia.

As soon as pacification of the remaining third is accomplished and the administration has definite information all fighting has ceased the neutrality act no longer will be put into operation against Italy and Ethiopia, because the latter country will have ceased to exist independently.

STORY OF BRITISH PROMISE OF HOME TO JEWS IS TOLD

Lloyd George Asks Nation to Retain Mandate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 19.—David Lloyd George, Great Britain's wartime prime minister, repeated today the circumstances which led to the famous promise by Lord Balfour, then lord president of the council, to provide a national home for Jews in Palestine.

His statements were made in the course of a speech in the house of commons insisting that Great Britain must keep its mandate over Palestine in order to carry out the "Balfour declaration."

The promise was given, Lloyd George said, "at one of the darkest times in the war. The French army had mutinied, the Italian army was on the eve of collapse, America had hardly started to come in.

Sought Jewish Aid.

"There was nothing left but for Great Britain to confront the most powerful military combination the world ever has seen. We came to the conclusion it was most vital we should have the sympathy and cooperation of that most remarkable community—the Jews throughout the world. They were helpful in America and even in Russia.

"We proposed this to the allies. France, Italy, the United States, and all the others accepted. I bear testimony to the fact that the Jews responded to the appeal which was made."

The veteran Liberal statesman went on to praise the aid given by Dr. Chaim Weizmann, now president of the world Zionist congress, to the British army. Dr. Weizmann was director of the British admiralty laboratories from 1916 to 1919.

Weizmann Saved Day.

"I do not know whether the house realizes how much we owe to Dr. Weizmann, that marvelous scientist," Lloyd George said. "He absolutely saved the British army at a critical moment when a particular ingredient essential for our great guns was absolutely exhausted. This great chemical genius solved the problem and he was only one of many who rendered great service to the allied cause."

The ingredient in question was not named.

Meantime, William G. A. Ormsby-Gore, colonial secretary, announced that 42 Mohammedans, 38 Jews, and four Christians have been killed in the racial disorders in Palestine recently. In addition, 384 Moslems, 149 Jews, and 78 Christians have been injured.

ATHLETE HORSES TUG FOR RECORDS IN MATCH TODAY

Tribune's Thrilling Contest Open to Public.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Coördination of mind and muscle on a magnificent scale will be seen today at the second annual Horse and Mule Pulling Contest which is to be staged at the Wheaton experimental farm under the sponsorship of THE TRIBUNE.

Here is arranged for the public a country holiday amid the wheat fields and shade trees, with a sporting spectacle of rare and growing interest, which has behind it the solid commercial interest of farmers and horse breeders.

When Jim and Dick and the 80 other farm animals entered in the contest bend their mighty necks into the collar and strain their huge legs into the turf to pull against the mysterious dynamometer behind them, the spectators on the farm hillside will get a thrill that equals a football or a ring contest.

Almost Mammoth Strength.

It is a sporting event because one can never tell what untapped reservoirs of strength the horses will find as they strain and push to perform the equivalent of starting a 38,000 pound wagon load on a pavement or pulling six plows sixes inch deep in stubble ground.

What they do is measured accurately by the machine behind them. How they do it is one of the intangibles of the mind, an electric tension between driver and animal, a courage born somewhere in the depths of their inheritance.

The big purpose of the contest is to find out what makes good work animals and breed more of them. Contests of this kind will do more in the next twenty years to improve work stock than has been accomplished in other ways in the last fifty years, according to Wayne Dinsmore, secretary o fthe Horse and Mule Association of America, who has charge of the technical phases of the contest.

Big Event at 12:15 P. M.

The preliminary contests, eliminating all but fifteen of the best teams, will start at 9:30 o'clock this morning [Chicago daylight time]. The horses will weigh in at 7:30 this morning.

The scales have been inspected by Joseph Schmitz, weighmaster of the Chicago Board of Trade. The finals, where the big thrills will come, will start at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon. Admission is free and there is plenty of room on the hillsides. Details will be broadcast by a public address system from the judges' stand so that all may know just what is going on.

The animals that will be seen are regarded as farm power units. They are among the best on the farms of the middle west. Eight winners in last year's contest will be on hand, also prize winners from the Crete, Ill., and Goshen, Ind., competitions. Ten teams arrived before 6 o'clock last night.

"These contests have shown," said Mr. Dinsmore yesterday, "that few horses can exert a tractor pull greater than their own weight, that great heart girth is necessary, sound hocks, and heavy muscled hind quarters.

"With all these there 's something intangible, unique, something that cannot be measured. It makes the difference between the winner and the quitter. Some fight to the last drop. Others give up.

An Unscheduled Handicap.

"I remember an army sergeant who tried out a team of mules in a Kansas City contest. He was nearly in tears because the mules would not go the distance.

"'The presence of all those ladies in the audience,' he said, 'made it impossible for me to talk to the mules in their accustomed language.'

"No whips or threats or ill treatment of any sort is permitted at these contests. The old fashioned mule drivers are just out of luck.

"The things that we are trying to develop in farm horses are strength, ability to walk fast with a heavy load, ability to stand up under hard work in hot weather, and easy keeping qualities.

"Next January the Horse and Mule association will begin to issue certificates of merit to stallions entered in contests that fulfill the requirements. One of the requirements is to walk a mile in 16 minutes with a one ton load."

Fifteen cash prizes, ranging from $20 to $100, and totaling $500, will be awarded the owners of the draft teams. In addition are special drivers' prizes ranging from $4 to $15. The Wheaton farm is 30 miles west of the loop on Roosevelt road. Parking space will be provided and food will be served on the grounds by the Wheaton post of the American Legion.

SETTLE BATTLE OVER DANCER'S VISITS TO SON

Mrs. Sonya Flood Dawson, 29 years old, a burlesque dancer, was granted permission by Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Superior court yesterday to visit her son, Ronald, 4 years old, on alternate week-ends. She agreed, in turn, to cease her efforts to have the child removed from the Loufbourow boarding school in Oak Park.

This arrangement was suggested by her attorney, Norman Becker, who withdrew a request for another boarding school when Judge Desort specified that there is to be no time limit on the mother's visits with her son. She and the boy's father, Sterling Dawson, have joint custody of the boy. She had charged that her previous visits were limited to ten minutes each.

Dawson had his marriage to the dancer annulled a year ago after her previous divorce from Lawrence Flood, a traveling salesman, had been set aside on the ground of fraud. She is living at 4844 Quincy street with a son, Lawrence, 8 years old, by her previous marriage.

Sues Her Husband to Insure Share of Bonus for Children

Mrs. Agnes Lowe, 30 years old, 2921 North Spaulding avenue, admitted to Judge Leon Edelman in the Domestic Relations court yesterday that she had brought a charge of nonsupport against her estranged husband, Walter, 36 years old, 2750 Fullerton avenue, only through fear that he might not share his soldier's bonus with his three children. She said that Lowe has been sharing his disability compensation with them during the five years of their separation. Lowe said that he planned to give $275 of his $500 bonus to his children. The case was continued to Thursday.

FOUR KILLED, 12 ARE HURT WHEN BUILDING FALLS

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—At least four workmen were crushed to death and a dozen others injured today in the collapse of the center section of a sixty family apartment house under construction in the Bronx.

One body was taken out of the wreckage, but firemen and policemen reported seeing four other bodies in the débris. Other rescuers said they had seen three bodies besides the one that was removed. The police said that three and possibly five men were still missing late tonight.

The six story building, which was nearing completion, had been extolled only three days before at an elaborate ceremony as being an advanced type of construction. Congratulations had been extended because there had been no accident.

Battle to Extricate Bodies.

Late tonight firemen and policemen, working with a crane—floodlights hung against trees—cables, electric saws, and acetylene torches, were trying to extricate bodies from wreckage that piled up to the third floor. The crane and cables were used to pull down sections of the front wall preparatory to lifting out the jumbled mass that lay inside.

District Attorney Samuel J. Foley, the police, fire, building, and state labor departments had investigations under way to determine the cause of the accident and whether there had been any criminal negligence. A score of witnesses were examined at hospitals and the Bronx Park police station.

Believe Plumbers Caused Crash.

The Bronx building department suggested that the collapse might have been caused by plumbers on the third floor who were boring through a brick column for piping, possibly weakening the structure up to the roof and its penthouse.

The workers were carried down with the mass of perhaps a hundred tons of jumbled débris.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Today Is Big Day.

Friday, June 19, 1936.

This is the big day on the experimental farm near Wheaton for which everybody on the farm has been planning. Teams of horses and mules entered in the second annual pulling contest will swing into action this morning to compete for prizes. The farm is holding a sort of "open house" for the public, which is invited to attend this unique event, enjoy the outdoors, and join in a sort of old fashioned country picnic. There is no admission charge for the pulling contest.

Although the horse and mule pulling contest today is the big event of the week on the Wheaton experimental farm, the boys have had plenty of other things to do the last few days. When we were on the farm the other day the boys were working in the cornfields, the experimental plats, the hayfields, and around the haykeeper. The farm team of mules had the heavy job of keeping the two row cultivator going in the corn field.

Bag Pair of Raccoons.

A pair of raccoons came back to the Muscovy pond just once too often. About ten days ago several raccoons raided a Muscovy nest on the pond. This week they returned, probably with the idea of enjoying more Muscovy eggs. Rawlings had a live trap ready for them. This trap bagged a pair of raccoons which never again will eat Muscovy eggs.

The ponds on the farm always seem to have a surprise when you visit them, no matter what season of the year it is. Last week we hiked over to see the Muscovys on their little "swimming pool," and there was a long necked, long legged blue heron standing in the tall grass at the edge of the water, apparently ready to shoot that strong, sharp pointed bill at the first frog to show himself in the grass.

We stayed around for a while to watch the three families of Muscovys that now call the pond their home. The way they live you would think they were trying to become wild ducks. Rawlings puts out grain for them, but the ducks leave it alone, preferring to hunt natural food.

One Muscovy in the barnyard has just received the "medal of the year" for her outstanding performance on a clutch of eggs. This hen hatched out 19 ducklings. When she waddled off her nest with this gang behind her she won easily.

We watched her the other day as she headed her squad toward the pool near Rawlings' house where the Muscovys stay. It was laughable to see the proud old hen amble up a little incline to the pool, hit the water and swim down the tank while behind her splash after splash told the story of the little ducklings taking to the water to follow the leader.

Count 160 Turkey Poults.

There is plenty of turkey talk around the Wheaten experimental farm these days what with 160 turkey poults now accounted for. That is not the final count on turkeys, however. Several of the hens that made their nests out in the fields or woods very likely have hatched out poults which, temporarily, are marked A. W. O. L.

Besides the 160 poults now counted, about 70 or 75 guinea hens are running around yelling every time something disturbs them.

THE SOVIETS GATHER AT PHILADELPHIA.

Congress, moving precipitately towards adjournment before the Democratic convention meets in Philadelphia Tuesday, is a legislative body controled by the men who will control the convention. The convention must defend the works of the congresses to which it dictated and from which it almost invariably compelled the required response.

The convention must point with pride to more vicious legislative enactments than were ever put on the record by any previous national assembly. Since the establishment of the national legislature under the constitution there has been no such deliberated onslaught upon the principles of American representative democracy as that made in the 73d and 74th congresses of the Roosevelt administration.

These congresses were the creatures of the commissars who in Philadelphia will hail their own works with glee, reviewing the acts which have sent the republic reeling to the ropes a dozen times. They may have thought by choosing Philadelphia as the convention city they were borrowing the clothes of the patriots who made the American nation. In June, 1787, Philadelphia was the meeting place of the men who formed the constitution. The sovietized convention meets to destroy what was given the nation 149 years ago. How felicitous the choice of time and place! It serves to dramatize the contrast.

The convention must view with admiration an administration and legislative bodies which have caused graver concern in the United States than has been felt since a Democratic convention met in Chicago in '64 and declared the war to save the Union a failure. It has been the bad luck of the party, against the wishes of many of its sensible members, to fall into the hands of men who if they could achieve their purposes would do a lasting injury to the country which gave them all the privileges they possess and all the power they misuse.

Any party may fall into bad hands. The Republican organization several times has been at the disposal of persons who abused it. That it never seriously threatened the integrity of the nation or the validity of its principles is also true. It is the misfortune of the Democratic party that it has been taken over in the interests of extreme radicalism and revolution. As is nearly always true, the milder radicals have been superseded by the extremists and the acts of congress testify to the violence of their purposes.

The Democratic convention must defend legislation which has made a very pretty start at communism in the United States. It must defend a record which while depriving the citizens of their privileges, their rights and their immunities has increased destitution and dependence upon relief. The Democratic administration found a depression and made it a catastrophe. It took charge of a problem which could have been and should have been managed by the adults of the present time and, multiplying it a hundred fold, has passed it on for settlement in hard labor by a future generation. Mr. Roosevelt's endowment of youth is the greatest debt in all American history.

Thanks to the Supreme court, there remains in spite of congress something to be saved of free American government. The convention in Philadelphia will attempt to ratify its destruction. It will praise the efforts thus far made and promise to redouble them. The Democratic convention at Chicago four years ago was supposed to be an ordinary assemblage of politicians engaged in the familiar procedure of trying to nominate a ticket and thereafter elect it. They were hoping to turn a Republican out and put a Democrat in. No one knew they were preparing to mine the constitution and blow it up. Probably even they didn't at the time, and many of them, although taking orders, have been gasping ever since.

No misunderstandings exist as to the Democratic convention in Philadelphia. It could not deceive the people if it tried. Whatever it says will be interpreted by the titles of various acts of congress dictated but not read. Whatever happens to the country, it cannot be double-crossed again.

THE EIGHTH THOUSAND.

Another seventeen days have passed since THE TRIBUNE printed an editorial on the subject of automobile accidents on our city streets. True to form, the massacre clock has registered another thousand casualties. The carnage remains unchecked. The total of eight thousand was reached nearly half a month ahead of the 1935 record, proving that policing drives are inadequate, if not ineffectual.

It is an awful indictment of our civilization that lack of common courtesy is an outstanding cause of the deplorable condition. At one extreme a driver with time to spare saunters leisurely down the middle of the street with the mental persuasion that "he is as much entitled to that lane as anybody." At the other is the motorist whose sole aim is to find the head of the procession—who exults in the number of cars he has passed, takes pride in outmaneuvering his fellows in congested districts and considers "beating the red light" an accomplishment. Motor frenzy has displaced both courtesy and common sense.

A human competitive instinct is the basic cause for "taking a chance." Efforts to curb the spirit have always failed, with final recourse to safety devices. Hundreds were killed by horses in the streets of medieval cities before the necessity of segregating different kinds of trafic produced the sidewalk. Thousands were killed by the railways before it was appreciated that the foolhardy must be protected against themselves by special signals and gates. Even now we realize that grade separations are the only final answer, the volume of trafic dictating the necessity.

Motorized travel has produced another parallel problem in large cities. History shows the solution—the segregation of different kinds of trafic. Plans have been drawn that will make ninety-eight per cent of Chicago casualties impossible, not by double-decking of all of the streets but through the construction of a relatively simple system of safety roadways. Must politics wait until motor casualties run into millions, or will the public demand a truce to temporizing?

THE GOVERNOR AND RELIEF FUNDS.

Prior to 1933 the principal source of revenue of the state had been the general property tax. The state tax levy had averaged 30 million dollars per year for the 8 years preceding, and once had reached 36 million dollars. Henry Horner was elected governor in 1933 on the promise that he would reduce the existing large expenditures and burdensome taxes.

Gov. Horner persuaded the legislature to abolish the property tax for state purposes and to substitute for it a sales tax of 2 per cent, which was raised to 3 per cent to provide additional funds for unemployment relief. On July 1 the state is washing its hands of responsibility for unemployment relief by passing the administration along to the townships, cities, and counties. Due to improvement in retail business, the sales tax in Illinois will bring in about 72 million dollars this year. One-third of this amount is to be apportioned among the communities as the yield of the extra 1 per cent when the tax was increased from 2 to 3 per cent. But this leaves the state about 48 million dollars from the tax which replaced the property tax which had yielded as much as 25 million dollars in only three boom years.

Thus Gov. Horner, who came to office pledged to economy, is levying a tax of 48 milion dollars upon the people, or 50 per cent larger than the most Gov. Small ever levied. The governor is determined to collect this record breaking exaction after passing along to the communities the burden of unemployment relief.

A sales tax of 1 per cent will bring in approximately as much money as the general property tax formerly produced. Taking into account the liquor taxes which were not available prior to 1933, that should be ample for all state purposes. If the 3 per cent sales tax is retained, then two-thirds of the revenue should go for unemployment relief. The Adamowski bill would permit the state to retain half of the sales tax money, or about 36 million dollars this year. The bill has passed both houses. Will Gov. Horner now dare to veto this bill and deny cities the funds to feed their unemployed?

THE NEWCOMER.

A new atmosphere dispels the majestic gloominess of the vaulted railway waiting room. Instead of the cathedrallike stillness, all is vibrant with life. The ubiquitous station loungers are scarcely in evidence among the expectant groups that pass excitedly to and fro. Red caps dart hither and thither with their unbelievable loads. Station masters, resplendent in newly pressed uniforms, seem fairly bursting with important information. Train service employés, passing across the concourse, pause to glance eagerly in the direction of the train shed. The gatemen have dropped their lethargic attitudes. Even the sonorous loud speakers seem to have caught a new spirit as they announce:

"The streamliner is ready on track four."

Editorial of the Day

MORE THAN JUST GADGETS.

[Grand Rapids (Mich.) Press.]

Bruce Barton, who is now directing his advertising talents toward putting a Republican in the White House, some time ago announced this profound credo: "I believe that men are still shaving every morning before breakfast."

Upon this fundamental article of faith he built a soaring tower of industrial development. Barton reasoned that many bright ideas come while a man has razor in hand. The shaver forthwith translates these ideas into new products. New products call for factories. Factories need men. That makes for jobs and the return of prosperity to America.

It is encouraging to see the number of new products intended for use, not production, on display at the National Inventors' congress here. These inventions are the kind that put men on the pay rolls instead of displacing men by a refinement in manufacturing methods. Technological progress ultimately makes for more jobs, but the speed with which this has been taking place has sometimes thrown men out of jobs faster than greater demand could replace them.

One new invention as important as the automobile would give us the greatest prosperity we have ever known, President Albert C. Burns told the Inventors' congress Wednesday. He proposed that the RFC set up a board to pass on practical ideas and lend money to assist the inventor, using a lien on the patent for collateral. With the government subsidizing writers, architects, and artists, it is only fair that the inventors be included.

Then, while the inventor was having his morning shave, he could send his mind roving after new ideas instead of worrying about the grocery bill. Women inventors doubtless receive the same mental stimulation from a powder puff.

A combination of razor or powder puff and RFC loan, plus the inventive knack, would produce greater economic gain for the country than any number of boondoggling projects. Provided only that the products were commercially practicable, the result might be more than just gadgets. It might be a very real, tangible sort of prosperity based on production, not destruction, of goods.

NO WONDER the English touring our beautiful country have a hard time trying to understand the American language. They come over with the assumption that they are well versed in the King's English. And then they pick up a newspaper and read something like Mr. Terry Druggan's piteous lament yesterday regarding the legal contest over the ownership of his brewery: "There's a lot of guys tryin' to chisel the pants offen me." Now, even graduates of the best colleges at Oxford or Cambridge would have a very hard time trying to translate that into the King's English.

John Drake's worn heart is overtasked with pain;
His final buoyant dream a fugitive
That worthy sons should heir his lands and live
On acres bought with blood at Lundy's Lane
And rendered from a forested domain
To fields and orchards; with the reeded sieve
Or marsh reclaimed by men more bent to give
Than take, in turning fallow lands to grain.

John Drake's descendants have a shifty mien;
Ignoring work, they are inclined to brawl,
To fling the years to ribald carnival
And spend their heritage for gasoline;
O God, he prays, send me clear eyes, strong hands,
To plow the furrow deep and hold the lands!

THAT "APPLAUSE INDICATOR" they used down in the Cleveland convention would be, as I have before pointed out, a wonderful thing for every home. Every householder should trade his electric sweeper or the icebox for an applause indicator. Let us suppose that the mamma wants a new sealskin coat and papa wants the budget to include two dozen bottles of Scotch. Mother would first make her announcement with this result:

In milliamperes:
For the new coat, 63.
Against the new coat, 97.

Then papa's proposition of joining the new golf club would come up.

In milliamperes:
For the two dozen bottles of Scotch, 93.
Against the two dozen bottles of Scotch, 29.

You see how it is, men, and why you should get one of these applause indicators in the home. You ought to be able to make a lot more noise than the mamma, and if you get her to consent to leave the decision to the machine you've got her licked. Unless the mamma brings in the twins and Junior with his drum and has Laura play the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" on the piano. And the mamma will probably give Fido a sly kick and start him howling. But look out for these things, men. Don't let the mamma stuff the ballot box.

TOO MUCH even of a very good thing is entirely too much. Often in Canada, north of Lake Superior, I have prowled around for hours hunting caterpillars for bait. But now up in that country caterpillars are spread around for miles, stopping trains by messing up the track and walking in such number into the lakes and streams that the fish are simply gorged with food and pay no attention at all to the most attractive bait an angler dangles before them except to yawn and shove the fool thing out of the road.

TRAINING THE BLADDER.

ONE of the most baffling problems facing physicians and parents is the involuntary emptying of the bladder [enuresis] at a period when control should have been established—somewhere between the ages of 2 and 3 years. If a child is addicted to the habit after the age of 3, he is classified as a bed wetter.

Ancient folklore records many preventives as well as cures, such as "the child should wear a clean gown when baptized and the godparents should keep their money in their pockets." This latter superstition obtains at christenings even in these days.

The phenomenon is more common in those youngsters who are classified as "nervous" and from 12 to 15 per cent of this group will be affected. Heredity is a factor inasmuch as in 30 to 40 cases out of every 100 there will be a history of bed wetting in the childhood of the parents.

The modern viewpoint is that enuresis is not a disease, neither does it signify an abnormality of the bladder, nor profuse activity on the part of the kidneys. It is purely a functional or psychic disturbance.

Of course certain diseases will accentuate or continue the symptom such as diabetes insipidus and true diabetes. Stones in the bladder, inflammation; in fact, any irritation anywhere along the urinary tract may be responsible. Many of these children are regarded by the neighbors as badly spoiled and some will exhibit temper tantrums or abruptly refuse to mind. The psychic factors of fear, dislike, jealousy, and inferiority play an important rôle. The habit may develop after a severe illness in which for a time the youngster was unconscious or in delirium with loss of control.

Every child facing the situation needs help. In the first place he must be convinced that with his coöperation the habit can be overcome. This means restricting fluids after 4 p. m. and using an alarm clock so that the urine may be voided at least once during the night. A system of rewards for bladder consciousness may be helpful. The necessity of establishing confidence on the part of the child is recognized. Can you stop the habit? Of course you can. Some parents will need reëducation themselves before they can train their children correctly, and there are many good books that may be read with profit, such as "The Nervous Child," by Cameron, and "Big Problems on Little Shoulders," by Carl and Mildred Renz.

Toilet regularity is essential and youngsters will need to be taught cleanliness and normal bladder hygiene. Scoldings have no place in the treatment, but encouragement and praise for success mean everything. If failure occurs—it is too bad, but let us try to avoid a recurrence. Efforts to establish toilet routine should begin when the child is from 15 to 18 months of age. This involves several periods a day, first upon waking in the morning, before and after each meal, and following the afternoon nap. Of course, overtraining must be guarded against, as the urinary pouch must be allowed to enlarge, to grow normally, through retaining a certain amount of fluid. Evening excitement and staying up too late will undo the lessons of the day. The child should be more complacent and quiet at bedtime than at any other period.

Many diets have been recommended but few are of value unless water drinking is limited. By the dictum "restrict fluids late in the afternoon" we do not mean that the child should not take plenty of water, milk, etc., between waking and 4 p. m. Certain dry foods may be used late in the day.

In nine cases out of ten the method of encouragement and coöperation will succeed. If the child arrives at the age of 8 or 10 and has failed to conquer the habit entirely the physician will usually search for some irritation or defect that is maintaining the nervous system in a hair-trigger state.

KEEP UP COURAGE.

E. F. writes: Is sighing caused by the heart? What makes a person sigh very deeply with a feeling of not having a friend in the world? I have been sighing now and then since about 1910. I think it started when I was 18 years old. I worked on a farm and the farmer beat me. I will never forget how I cried and sobbed. Then I grieved so much to go home and started to sigh deeply. I finally got over the habit, but now I am sighing again. This time it may come from worry. I am very blue at times and get to thinking of the things that have gone wrong and the friends that have gone back on me. After all I have been through I sometimes think my heart is going to break. When I sigh very deeply people hearing me ask what is the matter.

REPLY.

Sighing has been thought to be due to some heart weakness, but recent study indicates that that is rarely, if ever, the case. It usually occurs in people who are nervous, fatigued, or bored.

You have evidently been through enough to wreck a granite constitution, and you are to be congratulated on maintaining your courage. Do not give up. Try to find friends who are kind and considerate, for there are millions of them. At the same time avoid those who would selfishly impose upon you. Sometimes unburdening oneself to an understanding physician or minister may help.

ROSE FEVER.

Mrs. R. J. McC. writes: Last year during the month of June my husband was attacked with what some people call rose fever and this year the same thing has occurred. It acts like hay fever. He has frequent sneezing spells when he gives one sneeze after another, and his eyes water. Can you suggest anything to relieve this condition?

REPLY.

Your husband has a type of hay fever which probably is caused by one or more of the following grass pollens: June grass, orchard grass, red top, or timothy. This type of hay fever is popularly called rose fever because it occurs about the time the first roses blossom. Skin tests to locate the specific offending pollen, followed by proper vaccine treatment given by a physician experienced in such cases should bring relief.

ERRATIC LIGHT.

J. J. writes: What causes one to see different shapes? Can anything be done about it?

REPLY.

There are several factors that must be investigated by a competent eye specialist. Muscle difficulty, not due to paralysis, can be corrected. A cataract can be removed. Seek an accurate diagnosis as some condition possible of remedy may be present.

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

Shall It Be the Old Confederation?

Philadelphia, Pa., June 20, 1787.—In convention. Mr. William Blount from North Carolina took his seat. Mr. Lansing of New York observed that the true question was whether the convention would adhere to or depart from the foundation of the present confederacy. It is proposed that the general legislature shall have a negative on the laws of the states. Will a gentleman from Georgia be a judge of the expediency of a law which is to operate in New Hampshire? The system was too novel and complex.

Mr. Mason of Virginia meant not to throw any reflections on [the continental] congress as a body. He meant, however, to speak his sentiments without reserve on this subject; it was a privilege of age and perhaps the only compensation which nature had given for the privation of so many other enjoyments and he meant to exercise it freely. Is it to be thought that the people of America, so watchful over their interests, so jealous of their liberties, will give up their all, will surrender the sword and the purse to one body and that not chosen by themselves? They never will. They never ought. Will they trust such a body with the regulation of their trade, with the regulation of their taxes, with all the other great powers which are in contemplation? It was acknowledged by Mr. Patterson that his plan could not be enforced without military coercion. Rebellion was the only case in which the military force of the state can be properly exerted against its citizens. To punish the nonpayment of taxes with death was a severity not yet adopted by despotism itself.

Mr. Wilson of Pennsylvania urged the necessity of two branches; observed that if a proper model were not to be found in other confederacies it was not to be wondered at. The number of them was small and the duration of some at least short. The Amphyctionic and Achæan were formed in the infancy of political science and appear in their history and fate to have contained radical defects. The Swiss and Belgic confederacies were held together not by any vital principle but by the incumbent pressure of formidable neighbors. The German owed its continuance to the influence of the house of Austria. A private citizen of a state is indifferent whether the power be exercised by a general or state legislature, provided it be exercised for his happiness.

INHERITANCE TAX.

Kankakee, Ill., June 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. A, a widower and childless, died leaving his estate to be equally divided between his sister and his sister-in-law. The entire estate amounted to about $7,000. Lawyer has advised sister-in-law she will have to pay inheritance tax on her share, but the sister will be exempt from inheritance tax on her share. Is this correct? 2. How small must an estate be before it is exempt from inheritance tax? 3. A brother-in-law was the beneficiary to the above A's insurance. However, the brother-in-law was not mentioned in the will except as administrator. Will the brother-in-law have to divide the insurance with the heirs named in the will? E. J.

1. The exemption to a sister of the deceased is $10,000 worth. The sister-in-law is not a relative of the deceased and her exemption would be only $100 worth.

2. Exemptions under the state tax depend on the size of the gift received by each beneficiary and on the degree of the relationship to the deceased rather than on the size of the estate.

3. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NOT DANGEROUS NOW.

Chicago, June 12.—[Friend of the People.]—We have been having trouble with a house next door. Somebody built a fire in it about three weeks ago. The house is close to ours and I can't sleep nights for fear that another fire will break out. I have reported this several times, but have been unable to get any action. We are afraid to go away at night for fear that when we return our house will be afire. The owner is so stubborn he won't pay attention to what we say. T. S.

Our inspector reports this is a vacant, one story frame cottage and basement flat slightly damaged by fire; is in a neglected and dilapidated but not dangerous condition; the adjoining buildings are not endangered at present. The owner of record has been notified to barricade all openings and put building in safe and good condition. If this notice is not complied with this department will proceed as the law directs.

LET'S DRIVE TO MILWAUKEE.

Chicago, June 17.—Your editorial of June 17 entitled "Let's Drive to Milwaukee" is constructive and provocative of thought.

Why not utilize the circus for lessons in efficiency?

Run trailers on flat cars having whole trains of them. Run them off at destination and distribute with trucks attached to each trailer, synchronizing receipt and delivery. Have men at each end to assemble and distribute with the minimum of delay.

Build the flat cars light so they can travel at high speed between terminals. Have a standard fastening on each flat car to engage a standard fastening on each trailer so they can be fastened without loss of time and effort.

It would be a fine thing to keep freight trucking off the concrete highway. It would be nice to see long trains speeding through the country loaded with trailers.

No expensive construction is needed in flat cars. Rubber tires on trailers would absorb all the jar and vibration damaging to freight. There would be no need for expensive packing. Trailers would be loaded at the shipper's door or loaded with the pickup system and unloaded at consignee's doors with but one handling.

ROSS H. MCMILLAN.

HIGH STEPS.

Chicago, June 17.—I am fully in accord with Mr. W. M. Brown of St. Joseph, Mich., who complains of the high steps from sidewalk to pavement on most corners of our streets. If this high stepping is hard on a young old gentleman like Mr. Brown, it is far more so for mothers and nurses with invalids in wheel chairs. I encountered the same trouble at the Navy pier years ago when we went there on a boat from Lincoln park. High steps everywhere; it was too much for me.

Invalids, shut in most of the time, are easily forgotten, yet little acts of kindness and thoughtfulness mean much to them and perhaps more to their mothers.

EXPERIENCED.

POOR SPORTS.

Mendota, Ill., June 12.—After listening to the splendid W-G-N broadcast of the Republican national convention last evening which brought to us so vividly the fine speeches of those men who so graciously retired in favor of Gov. Alfred M. Landon, I would like to nominate as the two worst sports in the world Senator William E. Borah and his campaign manager, Carl Bachmann. As a former admirer of Senator Borah I am humiliated by his littleness.

JOHN GOODPASTURE.

UNKNOWN CANDIDATES.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., June 17.—Referring to Senator Norris' observation that Gov. Landon is unknown to the American public: Has it ever occurred to the senator that if F. D. Roosevelt had been really known, as we now know him, the voting public probably would not have had confidence in him, and would not have elected him? He might think that over, also.

C. T. RAY.

BUT HE'S A REPUBLICAN.

Chicago, June 2.—May I suggest the name of Controler General McCarl, the only Democrat to fight consistently for economy in government during this four year orgy, as a candidate for the serious position of President of the present United States? I would hate to think that his remembering the taxpayer would bar him from such office. A. W. S.

LADIES, DON'T SHOOT.

Chicago, June 16.—Time was when woman shot her husband's affinity, but those days are past. Now she shoots her husband. Right-o! Always remember that the affinity could not go out with him unless he asked her, so, if you must shoot, shoot him. But why shoot? If he leaves you, in time he will leave her, and both will get theirs. Take it easy.

THE PARTY SYSTEM HELPS.

Park Ridge, Ill., June 6.—It might not be amiss to inquire just how they distinguish between sane and insane congressmen when they are not engaged in driving their cars over the White House lawns. G. W. R.

LET'S DRIVE TO ROCK ISLAND.

River Forest, Ill., June 17.—The editorial in today's issue, "Let's Drive to Milwaukee," expresses, I believe, the sentiments of all the driving public, and the plan outlined in your paper is very fine, but why wait until the roads are a total loss before we get going on the thing? We recently drove to Rock Island and the condition there was equally bad. The amount of freight hauling is stupendous and the use of the highways for pleasure driving is just out. The constant effort of drivers of pleasure cars to pull out from behind trucks is not only tiresome but highly dangerous.

My suggestion to the highway departments of all states is to use certain highways for pleasure cars and certain highways for the routing of trucks or any hauling vehicle. Even trailers, when hooked on to small coupés, should be classed as trucks. Why couldn't this sort of a plan be adopted?

There are three or four routes running to Milwaukee and one might be allotted to truck use only.

LUCILE WALLACE BUCKLEY.

FOR A BONDED PLATFORM.

Chicago, June 18.—Permit me to suggest that the Democratic party be required to give a 30,000 million dollar bond for strict adherence to every plank of the platform it will evolve, by some process of New Deal legerdemain, and then adopt with great gusto and applause at the forthcoming national Democratic convention in Philadelphia.

With all the vast resources that the New Deal has gouged out of the hide of patient and easy going John Public this would be no hardship.

Repudiated platforms, like the one President Roosevelt and a rubber stamp congress turned their backs on during the last three years, should be made an impossibility in this land of the brave and home of the free.

And, in order to sidestep any confidence racket on the part of "Call Me Jim" Farley et al. in the posting of such a bond, the United States Supreme court should be appealed to for the approval of it. O. A. M.

FAMILY RATES AT THE BALL PARK.

Waukegan, Ill., June 17.—I believe it would be a good stimulant to future gate receipts if major league parks would arrange for half price tickets for children accompanied by their parents, on the off weekday schedule.

Many families, like my own, like to go in one big party, but at $1.10 per, for four under the age of 14, along with the two adults, it would bring our weekly ball game too high.

Please think about this point.

PAT DURKIN.

PARABLE.

Chicago, June 4.—When I hear any one say he intends to vote for Roosevelt because "times are better," I am reminded of a chance encounter with a young couple I used to know. They were beaming with joy, fairly jubilant. The man explained. "We're sitting on top of the world," he said. "We borrowed a thousand dollars and paid all our debts."

D. S. JOHNSON.

PAYING FOR SUPERHIGHWAYS.

Park Ridge, Ill., June 15.—"Woodstock favors the superhighway." So do the landowners in the loop and the outlying sections. The land values created by this superhighway when built should pay for it. If this system was adopted the highway would soon be built. Now the landowners want increased land values without paying. ARTHUR ANDERSON.

STRATEGY.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 13.—If you have any political sense at all you will realize that the moral and numerical support of Democrats is necessary to the election of Landon. If you think that villifying the memory of Woodrow Wilson, as in your front page editorial this morning, will aid you in obtaining that support, you need a guardian. O. GYLSTROM.

SHE ROLLS 'EM.

Chicago, June 11.—In the first picture of today's paper, Little Orphan Annie, speaking to her teacher, has short sleeves; in the second long, and in the third short again. Does the dress with long sleeves go with the longer speech, or what have you? READER.

SCIENTISTS SEE SUN IN ERUPTION DURING ECLIPSE

Valuable Data Gathered from Phenomenon.

MOSCOW, June 19.—(AP)—Signs of eruption and hot gases on the sun were evident during the total eclipse today, scientists reported.

Weather was sufficiently clear to permit them to carry out their whole program of observation at Ak-Bulak, where a Harvard university and Massachusetts Institute of Technology expedition was stationed.

At Kustanai, however, where a Georgetown university and National Geographic society party was encamped, weather conditions were so unfavorable it was able to carry out only part of its scheduled program.

Stars Clearly Visible.

Observers at Ak-Bulak reported the horizon remained pink during the 117 seconds of totality and stars were clearly visible. The Corona was pearl colored. Thousands of peasants gathered to witness the eclipse and watch the scientists at work.

Both American and soviet scientists at Ak-Bulak expressed themselves as highly satisfied with their observations and said they believed valuable scientific results are to be expected.

A soviet sub-stratosphere balloon carrying two pilots and an astronomer went up at Shistovsky shortly before the eclipse. It was equipped with special instruments to observe the phenomenon.

Residents of Moscow could see a partial eclipse. Some forty expeditions in the field of totality made many varieties of observations and study.

Weather Secrets Sought.

Among other things, the penetration of solar secrets is expected to help solve problems connected with long range weather predictions and explain much of the mystery surrounding behavior of radio waves in the earth's atmosphere.

Astronomers who sought information on this proceeded on the theory that the mysterious agency which excites the chromosphere, or sun's atmosphere, also produces electro-magnetic storms on earth and is responsible for the auroras.

Germans Discover New Star.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 19.—A new star of third to fourth magnitude was discovered by German astronomers last night while preparing to watch the partial eclipse of the sun today. It was one and one-half degrees south of the Epsilon star in the Cepheus constellation. The discovery was made almost simultaneously at three observatories.

VIEW EXPLODING STAR

Williams Bay, Wis., June 19.—(AP)—Old mother earth watched from a box seat tonight one of the rarest shows since the universe began—a star explosion that happened long before the shepherds saw the star of Bethlehem.

Far off in an outer rim of space—so far that the earth and the sun are next door neighbors by comparison,—the star "blew up" some 2,000 or 3,000 years ago.

Civilizations have risen and fallen since then, but even light—traveling at 186,300 miles a second—could not give earth the news of the blast until last night.

Suspected for a Month.

Man had suspected for a month that something had happened out there in the milky way, for a scientist in Holland had reported that cosmic rays—children of disintegrating matter—had been traveling to earth in greater and greater numbers from that direction.

Last night an amateur astronomer at Delphos, O., L. C. Peltier, pleased with his recent discovery of a new comet, looked through his telescope and saw a bright star that wasn't there the night before.

It was so bright he found he could see it without the telescope.

When astronomers all over the world found it on the sky pictures their telescope-cameras took, they were excited. It was far brighter than the last "new star," Nova Hercules, which appeared before Christmas in 1934.

At Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago here, Dr. Otto Struve announced that the star had been on astronomers' maps since 1893 and had not become any brighter by 1930, when its picture was last snapped.

Needed Powerful 'Scope.

At that time, Dr. Struve declared, the star could be seen only through the most powerful microscopes. Its brightness was of the 15th magnitude.

The explosion, which Dr. Struve said hurled gas and star dust in all directions at the rate of 500 miles a second, increased the star's light to the magnitude of 2½.

The stuff the explosion was throwing off was hydrogen, helium, and magnesium, Dr. Struve added, explaining this meant that a thermometer on the star's surface would show about 15,000 degrees centigrade—"a very normal heat" for a star.

The débris of the explosion, Dr. Struve asserted, would float off between the stars and collect into clouds called nebulæ, the filmy stuff of which the Milky Way is made.

WARNS BUSINESS AGAINST THREAT IN NEW NRA BILL

Van Allen Talks at Radio Meeting.

A warning that business, including the radio industry, will be throttled anew by the Walsh-Healy [new NRA] bill, which awaits only President Roosevelt's signature to become a law, was given yesterday by Attorney John W. Van Allen of Buffalo, N. Y., general counsel of the Radio Manufacturers' association. Mr. Van Allen spoke at the closing session of the association's 12th annual convention in the Stevens hotel.

"When this bill becomes a law," Attorney Van Allen asserted, "the chances of favoritism in the awarding of government contracts will be greatly multiplied. Any one to become a bidder must have subjected his business to complete federal regulation. Otherwise he becomes disqualified for securing any government business.

Business Pays Bill.

"Any business that does not so subject itself must, however, continue to pay taxes and to pay the prices set by companies that have submitted to these regulations. It will be again a denial of the equal opportunities which have made this country great."

The Radio Manufacturers' association is concerned because its members sell considerable equipment to the aviation, army, and naval services of the country.

A. W. Cruse of the United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce told the manufacturers that they were overlooking opportunities for increasing their foreign trade.

Large Field Is Open.

"The export field has hardly been scratched," he said. "There is a lot of business to be had in spite of the keen competition."

Leslie F. Muter, president of the Muter company, Chicago, was reelected president of the association.

MᴀcARTHUR GIVES PHILIPPINES PLAN TO DEFY INVASION

Draws 10 Year Program to Build Up Defense.

MANILA, June 19.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, former United States chief of staf, gave this young Philippines commonwealth a defense plan today "to give pause to the most ruthless and powerful."

Gen. MacArthur, principal military advisor to the Philippine government, recommended an economical setup for "an active and carefully planned defense of every foot of shore line in the inhabited islands of the archipelago."

$80,000,000 Expenditure.

The plan envisages an expenditure of $80,000,000 in the first ten years of its operation, to be appropriated in yearly instalments of $8,000,000. The Philippines will obtain complete independence within that period.

Principally, the plan embraces a fleet of small and fast torpedo boats for coastal defense, an air corps based mainly on fast bombers, and a regular army and reserve corps.

Ultimate strength of the regular army will be about 930 officers and 6,500 men, the general said. The reserve corps is to be trained under "universal military service," in schools and out, at the rate of 40,000 a year.

Named Field Marshal.

After his report had been transmitted to the national assembly President Manuel Quezon appointed Gen. MacArthur field marshal of the Philippine army.

The general in his report asserted the plan "completely negatives any possibility of employing the army in aggressive action and makes no attempt to attain a more militaristic objective than the development of each island in the archipelago as a citadel of defensive strength."

Speaking of the advantageous geographical isolation of the Philippines, the general said each island, under the developed plan, would have "a garison of sufficient strength to insure an effective concentration of force against troops landing."

Believes Invasion Impossible.

Of Luzon, site of Manila and containing almost half the commonwealth's population, he said the use of torpedo boats and planes would make invasion almost impossible.

The defense plan, Gen. MacArthur said, provides for gradual accumulation of reserve stocks of imported munitions and war materials to prevent defeat by naval blockade.

Asserting acquisition of a battle fleet was out of the question for the nine months old government, the general said the war purpose of the marine and air force "will be to deny the use of Philippine territorial waters to a hostile fleet and to preserve communications between the islands."

The jury which convicted Blaske of second degree manslaughter recommended mercy.

WARNS NANKING CHIEFS TO HALT ANTI-JAP 'LIES'

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 19.—Yakichiro Suma, Japan's consul general at Nanking, sternly warned the national government there today against continuance of "malicious propaganda falsely accusing Japan of fostering subversive activities."

Suma's protest was delivered to Gen. Chang Chun, foreign minister. He declared that the tendency of "Nanking officials to blame Japan has become more marked since the outbreak of the anti-Japanese campaign in Canton."

Suma, long closely associated with the viewpoint of the Japanese army, recently went to Tokio and conferred with Hachiro Arita, war minister.

Challenge Laid Down.

In an interview there he declared: "China must accept Japan's program of coöperation or prepare for war with Japan."

Suma discussed with Chang Chun today arrangements for the presentation of the credentials of the new Japanese ambassador, Shigeru Kawagoe, who is scheduled to arrive next week to initiate negotiations for a further adjustment of Sino-Japanese relations.

It was reported, meantime, that Shantung province, which the late President Harding and former Secretary of State Hughes rescued from Japanese control at the Washington naval conference in 1922, will be returned shortly to Japanese domination. The Nipponese, it is said, have demanded Shantung's incorporation in the Japanese controled Hopei-Chahar political council.

Other Demands Made.

This demand followed a conference of high Japanese military leaders at Tientsin. Resolutions also were adopted demanding the independence of northern customs and appointment of Japanese advisers to all administrative departments of the northern régime.

Shantung is headed by Gen. Han Fu-chu, former adherent of the so-called Christian general, Feng Yu-hsiang. He is said to have announced his intention to fight in the event of Japanese interference.

13 ARRESTED FOR NAZI PLOT TO RUIN MUSIC FETE AT SALZBURG

SALZBURG, Austria, June 19.—(AP)—Police said today they had uncovered a Nazi plot to disrupt the approaching Salzburg music festival with terroristic acts. Among the plans, it was alleged, was included the tossing of tear gas and stench bombs.

Max Christianell, publicity director for the festival, and 12 youths were arrested. Tension developed along the Bavarian border when German frontier guards refused to permit Austrian workers to go to their jobs in Germany.

Austrian officials did not retaliate immediately, but they pointed out they could exclude German workers from Austria on the basis of the regional agreement.

KILLED WIFE OF POLICEMAN, THEN SELF, IS VERDICT

A coroner's jury held yesterday that Myer Nielsen, 33 years old, a paroled Minnesota convict, shot and killed Mrs. Mae Jensen, 44 years old, wife of Policeman George Jensen, and then committed suicide. The two were found slain in Nielsen's apartment at 1502 South Kedvale avenue on Thursday night. A revolver lay beside Nielsen's body.

Policeman Jensen, who lives at 4501 Washington boulevard, testified at the hearing that he did not know Nielsen and was unaware of his wife's association with him. The Jensen's had been married 19 years, but had no children, he said. Jensen said that his wife was not in their apartment when he left at 6 p. m. Thursday to take up his duties as a trafic policeman at Kedzie avenue and Madison street.

Mrs. Lillian Klein, 28 years old, Nielsen's sister with whom he lived, testified that she had heard her brother call a "Mae" on the telephone several times during the last six months. She said, however, that she never saw Mrs. Jensen. Nielsen, estranged from his wife and two children, who are living in St. Paul, served two years in the penitentiary at St. Cloud, Minn., for burglary. He was paroled a year ago.

SHERIDAN ROAD

By Helen Topping Miller

SYNOPSIS.

Eden Faraday, young secretary, opens the door of a taxi early in the morning and finds a man murdered. She and the driver are taken to the police station, where Eden is allowed to call her grandmother. Eden's mother sells gowns. Eden and her young sister, Robin, and Coburn, her brother, depend on their peppery Gran. Owen Field of the district attorney's office arranges Eden's release, though she is needed as a witness.

INSTALMENT VI.

IN NEED OF PROTECTION.

In the bathroom of his mother's old house out Sheridan road, Owen Field shaved himself carefully.

The house was grim and middle aged and proud and Mrs. Sara Field was grim and 58 and proud, too. She sat before the slow glow of a coal grate as her son came down the stairs, a dry looking woman with long ivory colored hands set on firm wrists. Quiet, the hands were beautiful, but when she moved them the observer got the impression of cruelty, of something about to be punished.

She had a pedantic air, wore a pince-nez, yet was actually little interested in books. She had all the aspects of the religious, yet seldom went to church. She was always on guard a little against her son. Her eyes withdrew when he came into the room. There was something animal and strange about men, to her, that repelled her. They had seeking eyes. They were always wanting something to happen and Sara Field wished for nothing to happen.

Owen Field ruffled her dry, smooth gray hair. Instantly she put up her long fingers and pressed it into neatness again.

"You're going out?"

He nodded, flicking a match down the chimney facing.

"Owen—please! The tiles. You're going to Keane's, I infer?"

"I may look in for a few minutes."

"You have your key?" She always asked that, though he had carried his own key for twelve years. Cordie, the elderly servant, came in quietly with his overcoat.

Field thrust his car through the trafic deftly. He was due at Lydia Keane's party, but he had no special enthusiasm for the affair. Lydia Keane was a brilliant and lazy young woman who pretended to scorn men and under this pretense of indifference built wily traps, baiting them with a long, dark, daring beauty, a drawling wit, and intervals of appealing helplessness cleverly staged.

Field had been aware for two years that Lydia was setting her snares for him under a brightly studied attitude of casual frankness. It had pleased him to evade her little deadfalls, slip through her shining lures, all the time conscious of her carefully hidden fury. But tonight he rang her bell with a feeling of detachment. Something had happened to him. He had seen a girl that morning who had upset all his ideas about women. Because of her he was sensing for the first time the drift of ugly currents that up to now had been merely so many sources of problems to his desk, to be solved with satisfactory flourishes.

The sharp jerk of this new anxiety arrested him when at the door of Lydia's apartment building a young man put himself directly in the way.

"Mr. Field? I'm Goetz of the Mirror."

"Nothing to say."

"Whether you talk or refuse, it's news." The young man was amiable. "Just thought you might be willing to confirm the rumor that this Faraday girl would identify the fellows who bumped off Grappi."

"Still nothing to say," Field repeated.

"Thanks. Good-night." The reporter hurried away.

But Owen Field did not move. He was thinking fast. If the Mirror, a raucous sheet, hinted that Eden Faraday knew the murderers of Grappi the girl was definitely in danger. That she could not possibly know anything about the sordid affair would not matter to the men, high and low, who were undoubtedly involved in the business. They dealt with suspicions as ruthlessly as with evidence. And they were always frantic with fear.

He would get away from Lydia's party quickly. If Eden Faraday needed protection she needed it without delay.

Lydia herself opened the door. Field was aware of well dressed people, cigaret smoke, soft piano music, and the fragrance of early daffodils.

"Owen—you didn't disappoint me! I should have been crushed. Come meet these people——"

"Sorry, Lyd—I can't stay. Just ran in to tell you. Office business. Mind if I use your telephone?"

"In here," Lydia was displeased. "You're terribly unkind, Owen. I'd counted on you. You're sure it's office business."

He smiled at her. "Listen if you like." He dialed a number quickly. "Hello. Lieutenant—Field speaking. Put a couple of good men on that Grappi witness right away, will you? Yes, Faraday. I'll be there in a few minutes. Satisfied?" he asked Lydia Keane, as he hung up.

"Not entirely. The Faraday witness is a young society blonde, I understand from the papers."

"She's a nice working girl who's in danger, Lydia. And I'm interested in seeing that nothing happens to her until I need her—that's all."

"You look horribly guilty. Sure you can't come in for even one cocktail?"

"Absolutely sure. Sorry, Lyd—better luck next time."

"You are vile to me. I don't know why I adore you so pathetically. It must be something pathological in me that I don't know about."

"You don't adore me, Lydia—unless I'm one of the marching army of your flames. You're much too beautiful to bother about a police court lawyer. Good-night."

"Good-night. I'll go in and begin loathing you. By tomorrow I should be good at it." She made a little grimace at him, but he was disturbed to see her lips quiver. Lydia was in love with him. Under an irritated airiness she concealed the raw pulse that beat so starkly in her angry eyes. He hated hurting her, but there was nothing else to do. As he hurried back to his car he could not even keep his mind upon her.

. . . .

Back at the Faraday apartment a discussion was going on while Bridget changed to street clothes. Creighton began it.

"How's the law going?" he asked of Coburn.

"Putrid." Coburn unwound his long legs, sat up abruptly. "Do you know what I think?" he demanded. "I think I ought to chuck the whole business and go on the stage. Somebody in this family ought to carry on Gran's traditions."

Gran's small face shut up like a fist. Her eyes saw old visions, then burned with scorn for the arrogance of youth.

"The stage," she said, "takes work! Hard work and plenty of it. You wouldn't like the stage."

Coburn burned angrily. "I'm not a lazy hound even if you women do think so! I'm indifferent now because all my life I've been shoved into things that I hate."

"No one shoved you into military school," Gran argued. "He was tearing the world up to get there, but when the sergeant made him get up at 5:30 and drill and mind orders he lost his taste for that."

"Please," begged Coburn, "why go back to that beastly place?"

"Then," Gran went on, "he wanted the law. Politics, he said. Politics needed young men with brains. So we found money for the law—and now you see?"

"Youth always flounders a little," Sidney Creighton oiled the waters, "and these are tough times for the young people."

"What," inquired Bridget, brightly, coming in, "is all the argument about?"

"He wants to go on the stage," Gran glared at her grandson.

"Well, you should be flattered by that, Gran, dear. Well, come along, Sid. This whole expedition is fantastic, but my family have been reared to be young tyrants."

"Hold your hat over your face, Ede, when the flashlights flare," mocked Coburn.

THE best of this week's literary manna comes from Chicago pens. Vincent Sheean is no longer a Chicagoan and he was a Chicagoan only for a few years out of the "lifetime" which he recorded so vividly in "Personal History," but his years in Chicago and in association with a Chicago newspaper molded his whole personal history and he is in reality a Chicagoan. "Personal History" was more than an astonishingly best seller. It was a seed book—one of those books that falls upon the fertile ground of public fancy and bears fruit in other books of the same genre. Some of its fruit was not so fruity as "Personal History," some of it was plummier. But none of it had the politico-philosophical conclusions that were implied in "Personal History."

Those same philosophical political conclusions spurred Vincent Sheean when he set himself the task of writing a novel about the abortive revolution of 1799 in Naples.

In a "Note on Sanfelice" from the pen of its author, Mr. Sheean says that "the problem of revolution conceived as the violent acceleration of historic processes" interested him alike in "Personal History" and in "this novel of two aspects, the first special, local, and dated, and the second general, universal, and permanent."

"Sanfelice" is bound to be a best seller by the fact that it is the next book after Vincent Sheean's immensely popular "Personal History" and by the added fact that it is a re-creation of a thrilling period of history. It will probably have glowing praise from a great many people who see in it for the first time the amazing picture of a dissolute Neapolitan court ruled not alone by a spoiled and selfish queen, but with the incredible Emma Hamilton pulling the strings for many of that queen's gestures, Nelson's one good eye slavishly worshiping Emma's loveliness of form and feature and doing her [and the queen's] behest.

The historic material in "Sanfelice" is as dramatic and as "accelerated" as any that one could find in the history books.

Before I had received the pamphlet in which Vincent Sheean tells how he came upon Colletta's history of the Neapolitan kingdom [but after I had read "Sanfelice"] I had taken myself to Colletta because I felt that "Sanfelice" was not a historical novel in the usual sense of the word—that is, the background of history with fictional characters playing their dramatic parts against the facts—but was rather a rewriting in more vivid detail of actual events with actual characters and none others. In Colletta I found the heroine [not in all details like Mr. Sheean's] but with the essentials of her life unchanged, her self-seeking lover, Ferri, the adoring and indiscreet Baker.

Mr. Sheean has rewritten history and not a novel in "Sanfelice." To me "Sanfelice" is neither the fish of fiction, the flesh of history, nor the good red herring of a marriage of the two. Its point of view is not contemporary to its subject; that point of view is too remote for good history. It is larded with references to the interpretations of history per se for fiction, and too "ideated" for pure combination of the two.

As a rewritten record of thrilling days well told it is exciting to read.

Writes Biography of Mayflower's Captain.

The late Henry Justin Smith, coauthor with Lloyd Lewis of "Oscar Wilde Discovers America," finished before his death his careful historical investigations about Christopher Jones, who brought the Pilgrims to America in the best known boat of American history, the Mayflower. Mr. Smith found out much about his hero that disproves some of the recorded conceptions of the disgruntled voyagers [all of whom, like him, were crossing the stormy Atlantic for the first time] and who did Christopher the signal disservice of forgetting his first name. For over 300 years Christopher's captaincy was credited to another Jones and the hand of God in landing the pilgrims on the stern and rockbound coast was mistaken for the venal hand of a bribed pirate. Mr. Smith has re-created the long voyage through almost 200 pages of this interesting record, and he tells, finally, of the return voyage and the end of captain and ship.

Mary Hastings Bradley Presents Short Stories.

Mary Hastings Bradley's eighteen skilful short stories collected in "The 5-Minute Girl" are none of them concerned with yesterday, nor, except in three of the stories with spots further away than a suburb of Chicago or a town on the Hudson.

Those three stories are laid in Africa, the geography which Mrs. Bradley has made so literarily her own in her famous books about her African expeditions.

One of the stories, "Mrs. Bennistree's Coat," is about the revenge which a young man planned on the D. C's wife who had driven his sister into jungle exile by a social cut—and might have happened in any close social group, but the other two have native African beliefs as their motivation. One is the story of a black girl's love magic over a white man, and the other the story of a tribesman's help to two lovers—and its macabre end.

"The Custom of His Country" is, to me, the most interesting of the stories in the book. There is a not very convincing murder mystery in "The Wrong Room." "The Fifty-Fifty Wife" is a convincing tale of one. Two or three of the stories are about simple folk—"Emergency Exit"—an amusing one of a Wisconsin farmer who had a good scheme [though somewhat expensive] for getting rid of a visiting sister, brother-in-law, and assorted children.

Trip in Trailer Described by O'Brien.

Princess of Pless Says Little of Importance.

Daisy, princess of Pless, in her 'What I Left Unsaid," is a long way, geographically, spiritually, psychologically, and every other way from anything remotely resembling our local open-faced honesty, although she declares over and over that she is one of the frankest persons on record. She might very well have left all of the contents of this book unsaid . . . it is merely a going over again of her memoirs about "dear queens" and the hard working royalty of her acquaintance. Her first book was quaint—in something of the same manner [royally]—as was the sweet singer of Michigan [rurally]. It was filled with "Dear Diary"'s and constant wonder whether the extravagant compliments about her beauty could really be true. But it also had some good gossip in it and it was amusing. "What I Left Unsaid" is about a great many minor middle European royalties, all of whom are recorded by their first names. Many of their letters are printed which prove only how dumb the dumb can be. The letters of Eitel Friedrich prove him an abominable speller and not versed in grammar but a young man with a noble heart torn by the horror and the waste of war. They are the only important record in the book which has about the same excitement as small town gossip.

Hillel Bernstein Kids the Dictators.

A couple of years ago Hillel Bernstein wrote a hilarious book called "L'Affaire Jones," which kidded the French with rapierlike skill. Now the same skilled newspaper reporter has written "Choose a Bright Morning," whose object is to kid the head off a European dictator called "The Hero." The hero of the book is an American millionaire who, after planting a statue on every available hilltop in France to commemorate something, presents himself and a statue of the Hero to the Bidlo government. What happens between the moment he arrives and departs satirizes the most expensive and expansive of the dictator shows. Mr. Bernstein has lost the cunning of "L'Affaire Jones," however, and "Choose a Bright Morning," while it is bright in spots, has the dullness of satire gone flop about it.

Very definitly Chicago is showing the rest of them up this week.

Book on Victorians Tells Their Choice of Reading

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" was the first American book to cause a great sensation in England, and was said to have "put the whole world, from queen to slavey, in a ferment." So great was the interest aroused that when Harriet Beecher Stowe's second book, "Dred," appeared, the English public bought 100,000 copies in four weeks. This information gleaned from "The Victorians and Their Reading," by Amy Cruse [Houghton Mifflin, $4].

Write Stories of Bit Players in Big Events

But Their Biographies Are Imaginary.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—A little book of curious interest is to be published here in July under the title "Imaginary Biographies" [Allen & Unwin]. Contributors to it include Hilaire Belloc, Miss Helen Simpson, and James Agate; and the series is made up from talks given over the radio in England. Each contributor has invented a brief "life" and character for somebody who is known to have existed and played, if only for one moment, a part in the history of mankind, but of whose real story nothing is known.

For example, one such character is the original of Leonardo da Vinci's famous "Mona Lisa," another is the man who recognized King Louis XVI. at Varennes as that king was escaping from the French revolutionaries, a third is the person who, when Mrs. Siddons, the great English actress of the eighteenth century, visited Scotland, patronizingly called out "No sae bad" when her performance was ended.

As the different biographies were all composed with great spirit, by authors well able both to assure themselves of historical accuracy and to create amusing characters for the invented persons, the talks were a success and the book should be very entertaining.

But it will not be a best seller. For best sellers England still relies upon "Sparkenbroke" [Macmillan, $2.75], Beverley Nichols' religious tract "The Fool Hath Said" [Doubleday-Doran, $2], and John Gunther's "Inside Europe" [Harpers, $3.50], which, in the latest edition has been brought up to date with a new preface. Runners-up are Mrs. Boileau's Scottish novel "Clansmen" [Dutton, $2.50], Miss Rebecca West's "The "Thinking Reed" [Viking, $2.50], Mr. Maugham's "Cosmopolitans" [Doubleday-Doran, $2.50], Mrs. Wodehouse's "Young Men in Spats,"* and Negley Farson's "Way of a Transgressor" [Harcourt, $3]. It is worth noting that with the exception of Mr. Farson's book, now well established and much advertised, all the outstanding best sellers are works by authors who are already prime favorites with the public.

But there will be some new arrivals soon—neither of them a new novelist, but both authors who have been known for some years.

First, Jeffery Marston, whose tale of high finance, "The Rocket" [Michael Joseph], has brought him to a success long overdue; second, C. S. Forester, whose "The General" [Little-Brown, $2.50] is the story of a "brass hat" [or staf officer] who won his spurs in the Boer war, commanded a division in the great war, was a snob, something of a hero, and a lucky survivor of battle, and who ended his days strolling along the promenade at a British seaside resort. It is a thrilling book.

*To be published in New York, July 24. American publishers and prices are noted where books have had publication here.

'Sea Mary' Vigorous Adventure Novel with Ocean Setting

If O. R. Pilat [what a name for a marine writer!] continues to do his fiction sailing on blue water, sea literature should get some worthy additions during the next few years. His first novel, "Sea Mary" [Scribners, $2.50], reads like the work of an old hand at salt water adventure.

Pilat has written a vigorous, though tragic story of life on a five masted schooner during a voyage from Porto Rico to Africa. The author navigates his rather slim plot with skill and assurance, so that both the lover of the sea and the reader who likes a punch in his adventure novels will enjoy this salty yarn.

Mysteries of the Week

BY MORTIMER QUICK

Hark from the grave anything but a mournful sound! How we happen to have, at this late day, a new Edgar Wallace thriller is not explained, but, anyway, here is one called "The Mouthpiece" [Dodge, $2], and the name of a co-author, Robert Curtis, is also given. How much Mr. Curtis has done about it, it is impossible to say, but whichever of the writers, dead or living, is chiefly responsible, between them they have turned out a very entertaining and lively story.

The story is all about one of those unexpectedly inherited fortunes and not much of a mystery, since the cards are on the table from the very start. But how an unusually attractive heroine extricates herself from the machinations of some double-dyed rotters and sees through the murky surface of an unscrupulous young man into the pleasant soul beneath results in quite a bit of excitement and a good deal of amusement.

Are there any more of these stories to be resurrected, I wonder, and if not, has Mr. Curtis caught the swing of his illustrious collaborator to the point of writing others on his own account? We hope so, but in case this is the last of the master's works read it and laugh—then weep a little for one whose talent so richly gold-plated sturdy dross.

You may be a little dismayed at the sophistication that has invaded the Fiji Islands, but you will not be disappointed in the number of murders and their attendant circumstances set forth in "Murder in Fiji" [Crime Club, $2] by John W. Vandercook. It goes scuttling along and you with it, growing curiouser and curiouser with every page. Messrs. Lynch and Deane are summoned to Fiji to solve a crime or two which have a ritualistic look and might betoken a relapse into cannibalism on the part of its natives. They find themselves in the midst of a very orgy of murder.

Men drop like flies right under the noses of the investigators and you do get the impression that the final triumphant solution is more luck than intelligence. Mr. Vandercook's pleasant style and pretty wit are displayed in their fine flower and through all the bloodshed he conveys a sense of reality and truth of environment that is unusual and result in a book which is not just a list of gruesome murders but a tale of exotic lands and eccentric people upon whose aspects, extravagances, natural sciences, and personal peculiarities he is an authority.

Reveals American Role in War on Subs in Mediterranean

In "The Splinter Fleet" [Bobbs-Merrill, $3] Ray Millholland has brilliantly depicted a salty and glorious part played by America in the world war—though little known and seldom if ever written about—the work of a fleet of Yankee submarine chasers in Mediterranean and Adriatic waters. This is one of the jolliest, breeziest collections of naval war thrills we've read.

The author, chief engineer on one of the splinter fleet, can manage a typewriter as easily as a gasoline engine. As a result his rollicking, humorous, and at times tragic recital of battles with both enemy submarines and allied red tape and aloofness provide one of the fastest moving stories of real adventure written about the war.

Captain Dingle Pens Who's Who in River Pirates of World

Capt. Dingle, who can spin as salty a sea yarn as any one could ask for, has turned from fiction to blue water buccaneering of both the old-fashioned and modern variety in his latest book, "Sinbad's Book of Pirates" [Lippincott, $2].

This roistering anthology of freebooting is as capable, well written, and entertaining a "pirates' who's who" as the most avid reader of black flag rascalities could ask for. Blood flows like a spring flood on the Ohio, rum is as plentiful as lemonade at a circus, and swords dispose of victims faster than a modern gangster could do the job.

Capt. Dingle has turned out a masterly biography of the gentlemen of the skull and bones. Every pirate ace, from Blackbeard down to the modern Chinese sea bandits, stalks through these sanguinary pages.

SOPHIE TUCKER went to a matinée performance of "Saint Joan" this week and afterward went backstage to wait for Miss Cornell to change for the street. They left the theater together, and thus, late that afternoon, North Clark street homegoers were treated to the sight of the last of the red hot mommas and the first lady of the theater walking down the street arm in arm, in absorbed conversation.

Miss Cornell—Warning—Painter.

MISS TUCKER had wept and applauded Miss Cornell's rapt and impetuous St. Joan. I had rather hoped she might have had just such an experience as did Noel Coward one matinée day when he, at that time appearing in New York in "Private Lives," went around to another theater to see Judith Anderson in "As You Desire Me." As he applauded vigorously at the end of the second act a little old lady in the adjacent seat stopped her own clapping long enough to tap him on the shoulder.

"And you are very good, too," she said archly when Mr. Coward looked up in surprise.

MISS CORNELL is sailing for Mallorca for a rest when her present tour—she is taking "Saint Joan" to San Francisco—is completed. And next autumn she expects to appear in Maxwell Anderson's "Wingless Victory," which the playwright is said to have written with her in mind. During her stay in Chicago she has lived quietly at the Lake Shore Drive hotel, and occasionally, accompanied by one or two members of her company, gone out to the Saddle and Cycle club to lounge in the sunshine and give her dachshunds a run on the beach. She is going to Madison, Wis., on Sunday, where President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin will confer upon her an honorary degree.

EMPLOYES in an office of the seventh floor of a loop building were busy at their typewriters and filing cases Wednesday when a painter suddenly stuck his head in the window and muttered, "Santa Claus, boys and girls."

Hearing of this little prank a holiday incident of several years ago inexplicably came to mind. Alfred Shaw, architect, painter, and sportsman, had shot a moose in the north woods and had had the head mounted as a gift for the Kellogg Fairbank family. The gift arrived at a moment when one of the famous Fairbank holiday at-homes was at its height, and, as the spread of the antlers precluded its being brought in the door, it was swung up to a window for entrance. As one of the guests—he happened to be Thornton Wilder—was bidding his hostess good-by, the antlered head suddenly appeared at the drawing room window. Mr. Wilder showed no astonishment, but when a friend, later in the evening, asked about the Fairbank party he replied that it had been up to its usual standard of excellence. Indeed it had been so good that when he left, he added, the reindeers were coming right in at the windows.

Paris Fashions to Be Printed in Full Color

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Statistics prove that the rotogravure section of THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE is a prime favorite among women readers, urban and suburban.

Tomorrow this feminine reader preference is bound to reach a new peak with the rotogravure section cover devoted to an exclusive fashion study.

From the salons of Paris dressmakers—Patou, Chanel, Mainbocher, and several more—a collection of natural color photographs has been hurried across the Atlantic for presentation to THE TRIBUNE's feminine public. The photographs show the smartest, most attractive gowns, suits, and wraps for warm weather wear to be found in these salons.

During the last few weeks Bettina Bedwell, Paris fashion authority for THE TRIBUNE, has gone to the various designers with Scaioni, the color camera craftsman. Miss Bedwell has selected the creations that she considers the most wearable and at the same time the most significant in their design.

She has helped pose a half dozen of Paris' most striking models and Scaioni with his color plates and perfect camera technique has done the rest.

The results speak for themselves. Very definitly the collection of photographs, which will be continued with additional reproductions a week from tomorrow, marks a new achievement in the art of color photography. And it is only logical that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE should score this success, for it consistently has held the lead in the development of color among the newspapers of the United States.

Tomorrow a number of high fashion points for summer will be emphasized in the models that are reproduced. Afternoon dresses that are knee length in front and ankle length at the back, for instance. Flower bandeaux fashioned out of velvet and worn as a complete circlet. Capes of chiffon that drift dreamily from the shoulders.

Tomorrow these style setters and others will be pictured on the front cover of THE TRIBUNE'S rotogravure section. Don't miss them!

The latest contribution to the comfort and safety of sun worshipers who want to tan but not burn is a fragrant, quick drying cologne that takes the sting out of the sun's rays. It has a companion piece in a dusting powder in sun tan tint.

Now here's a noble idea—a new kind of cologne that is also something of a sunburn preventive. The maker says positively that it filters the burning rays of the sun and, under normal conditions [meaning, of course, the condition wherein you use the brains the Lord gave you about moderation in exposure], will give the skin ample protection.

It's a nice cologne, with a nice lemony fragrance; its manufacturer attributes its anti-burning quality to a trick base. You simply apply it generously while you're in the sun to avoid burn and to tan evenly. It dries very quickly, so you needn't fear looking messy in the process of sunning yourself.

You can use this as you would any other cologne, too—after the bath or when you feel the need of a soothing, cooling refreshant.

This has a companion piece in a dusting powder; for this, too, the manufacturer claims powers that make the sun stay its burning rays; the ingredient used in the cologne is used in this, also. It comes in a sun tan shade, which seems to us an inspiration for the woman who prefers the golden coat in summer. Her usual white dusting powder is hardly harmonious. And it's a deodorant, neutralizing perspiration odors. Its own fragrance is light and subtle. The one we received was gardenia, rather a nice version, but there are other fragrances as well.

The cologne is in a bottle that's handy for beach use, with a sprinkler stopper. It isn't too fragile or too fancy and stands solidly on its sensible base. The powder container is almost elaborate, built somewhat on the lines of a cradle, covered in pretty floral patterned paper and banded in gold. The puff is a big, sensible, square one.

Good Morning!

To know her was to love her
And to love her was to die
For she was a fatal lady
Though she had no idea why.

Did you ever hear of such a thing as a charming melodrama? Well, to my notion that description fits the World Playhouse's new film play.

Mary Ellis, in the title rôle, has charm. So has her principal leading man, Walter Pidgeon. The picture has some charming music and there is considerable charm about its manner of presentation. So—what would you . . . ?

The story? Ah, there's the rub. With a few variations, it's the story Theda Bara used to draw . . . the tale of a woman, irresistible to men, who meets tragedy because of her lure. Only Theda used to be a bad, bad girl who had coming what she got. The heroine of this yarn is quite the opposite—a good and lovely creature of circumstance.

[Not wishing to hand myself anything in the nature of a bouquet BUT—I guessed early in the picture who was at the bottom of the deaths of the unfortunates who loved too well sweet Marion Stuart, alias Maria Delasano, alias Malevo.]

Marion is rehersing for her opera debut that night when the movie opens. She goes home to rest. . . . In her room are officers of the law. . . . A man who is known to have loved her is dead—and she is under suspicion.

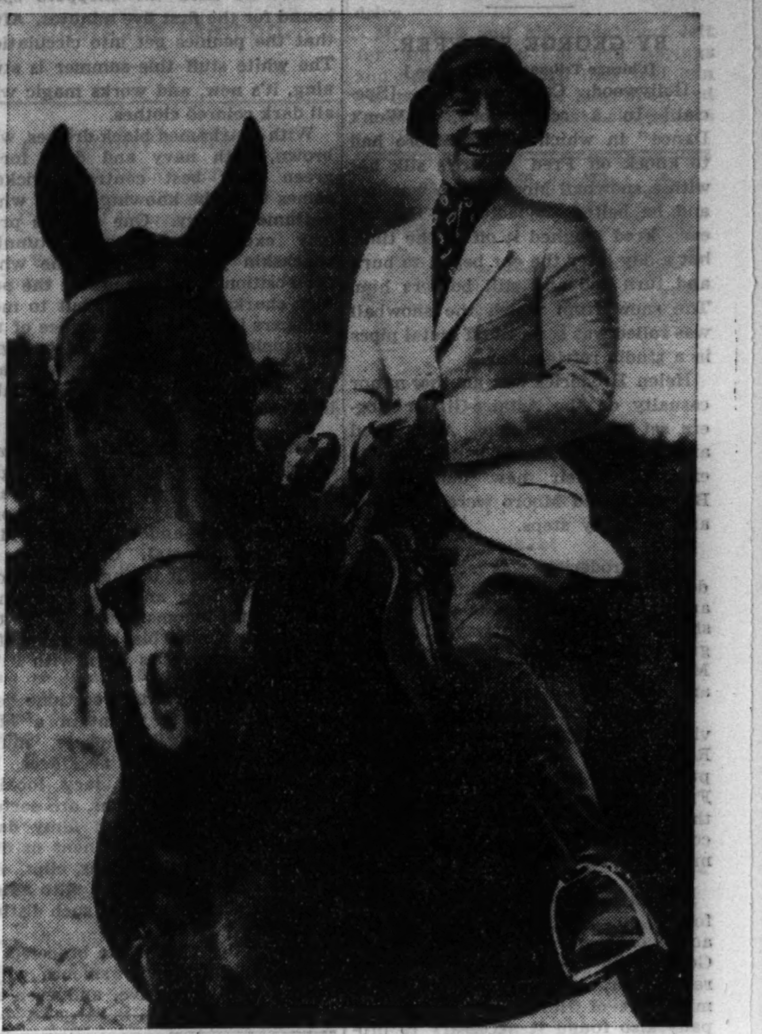
The girl is immediately released but the shock causes her to flop at her debut. . . . She takes another name and goes to South America with a traveling opera company. Men and murders are her lot until the finale which features a breath taking chase through the flies of an opera house. [Reminiscent of "Phantom of the Opera"—this episode.]

Miss Ellis is a lovely creature. She can and does sing, has a world of poise, and keeps you liking her every minute. Whatever happened to that much rumored engagement of hers to Tullio Carminati, I wonder?

Because of astute and sympathetic direction, clever portrayals by the entire cast, and that "subtle something" which spells—charm—"Fatal Lady" holds your interest well.

See you tomorrow.

Lake Forest Horse Show



Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr. was smiling when this picture was taken yesterday at the Onwentsia club, in anticipation of the success she knows the Lake Forest Horse show will be next week. Already all the boxes have been sold and, although the 5,000 reserved seats will not be put on sale until next Wednesday, many reservations for them have been taken at the horse show association's downtown headquarters, State 0035.

So far there are 956 entries and John T. Pirie Jr., secretary, expects that the number will exceed 1,000 by the deadline tonight. The number of horses [296] and entries already exceeds that of any show held this year, including the major eastern ones. Performances will be given Thursday and Friday afternoon and evening, Saturday morning and afternoon, and Sunday afternoon.

Dorothy Williams Becomes Bride of the Rev. Carruthers

Announcement is made of the marriage yesterday in Stamford, Conn., of Miss Dorothy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams of Shippan Point, Stamford, to the Rev. F. Locke Carruthers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Carruthers of Wilmette. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock in St. John's Episcopal church, and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

After a wedding trip in Canada the Rev. Mr. Carruthers and his bride will make their home in Wilmette. He is curate of the Church of the Holy Comforter in Kenilworth. He is a graduate of Northwestern university and of Seabury Western seminary.

Daughter of Orchardist to Be Cherry Fete Queen

Traverse City, Mich., June 19.—[Special.]—Miss Ardis Manney, 18, whose home is in a Leelanau county cherry orchard, will rule as queen of the national cherry festival to be held here July 15, 16, and 17. It is the first time the daughter of an orchardist has been queen. Miss Manney, a brunette, has just completed her freshman year at the University of Chicago. The contest was held tonight.

Astaire's Ear Is Injured in Studio Scene

Snowball Misses Silk Hat Worn by Dancer.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 19.—[Special.]—In a scene for "I Won't Dance" in which Victor Moore had to knock off Fred Astaire's silk hat with a snowball Moore's aim was low and he belted the actor on the left ear. Fred laughed it off at the time, but a day later the ear began to burn and turn red and still bothers him. The snow from which the snowball was rolled was scraped off metal pipes in a studio refrigerator.

Helen Broderick was another minor casualty on the Astaire-Ginger Rogers set at RKO studio. After Fred and Ginger go on the dance floor to exemplify their new dance Miss Broderick and Moore were to follow and do fancy steps.

Miss Broderick was scheduled to do a whirl and fall into Moore's arms, but the floor was slippery or she miscalculated; anyway, she did a grand swoop, but utterly missed Moore. The fall twisted an ankle and skinned one leg.

Astaire's next film will be an individual starring affair. So will Ginger Rogers' next. The studio thinks the public may get too accustomed to Fred and Ginger together to continue them together indefinitly, but after a couple of solo pictures they will make one together.

A rattlesnake patrol has been formed to protect white and Chinese actors on location with Metro's "The Good Earth" company on a 500 acre range near Chatsworth, about fifteen miles out of Hollywood. The company also found it necessary to provide special pens to protect the poultry used in the farmyard scenes. Coyotes made such inroads on the fowl that scenes were delayed until propmen could procure more chickens.

Byrnece Macfadden, daughter of the magazine publisher, has been signed to a movie contract and starts as a maid in "The Devil on Horseback" for Producer George Hirliman.

Charlie Ray is one of the old time stars doihg subordinate bits in Paramount's "Hollywood Boulevard." He plays a movie author. Francis X. Bushman Sr., like Maurice Costello, does a bit as on old time director.

Jack Benny's contract with Paramount has been written to bind him for three pictures, "Big Broadcast of 1937," "College Holiday," which Frederick Hazlitt Brennan and Producer Harlan Thompson are writing, and one more. In the meantime Benny is dropping radio broadcasting until October when he will be through with movie work.

Sam Goldwyn's studio announces the next Merle Oberon picture titled "Covenant with Death" will "deal with a phase of the Irish revolution not taken up in 'The Informer'; rather the British side of it than the Irish." But as the real family name of Miss Oberon, its star, is O'Brien, it might end up more Irish than the original authors intended.

Spring Byington's two daughters, Loicita Chandler, 18, and Phyllis Chandler, 19, both of Columbia university, will see their first movie sets and likewise see their mother before a camera for the first time when they arrive next week for school vacation.

A young man in Oakland mailed a new alarm clock to Joan Blondell. "Write your name across the face of it," he wrote. "Then it won't be so hard to wake up in the morning."

Clarence Brown, directing "Gorgeous Hussy," is wearing a 25 pound cast for his fractured left elbow and has his hand and shoulder massaged every hour on the set while directing. He must wear the cast eight weeks.

Clark Gable went visiting on the set of Robert Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck, and his friend, Director W. S. Van Dyke, in "His Brother's Wife" at Metro studio. You can imagine Gable's surprise when he walked through a closed door at a corner of the sound stage and, like any yokel, found himself facing the camera in the middle of a Taylor-Stanwyck love scene.

Cole Porter, song writer, routed himself back to New York by way of Callendar, Ont., in order to see the Dionnes.

New Costume Jewelry Wins Style Acclaim

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Surprisingly versatile and most dramatic all-white costume jewelry collections hold the shoppers spellbound for the first five minutes. After that the pennies get into circulation. The white stuff this summer is stunning, it's new, and works magic with all dark colored clothes.

With untrimmed black dresses, with brown, with navy and deep forest green your best contrast trickery comes with the knowing use of white costume jewelry. One shop is properly excited over some stunning sharkskin pieces, that is the white composition is patterned like the popular sharkskin material, but to most shoppers it has the appearance of the pineapple pattern. Bracelets, wide enough to be smart, brooches and clips, and a few earrings are available in this brand new collection.

Other white hopes for good summer contrast tricks are the flowered, glisteningly cool white enameled bracelets, pins and clips of petaled blossoms about an inch and a half in width. These are of metal. One brooch especially is breath taking. It is about five inches long and made of three white metal blooms and will do wonders for a simple black neckline if a matching bracelet is worn with it.

Elephant tuck ivory costume jewelry continues to maintain a high fashion standing. Chokers, multistrand bracelets and necklaces, all exquisitely carved in lacy looking designs and rose patterns, are perfect foils for black nets and filmy dark sheers as well as dark linens or dull silk crêpes. Earrings, pins, clips, and bracelets all are available, with amazingly low price marks for such distinctive white jewelry.

Smooth, ice cool white bracelets in sets of three; equally smooth white necklaces in four, five, and even six strand necklaces and large bead necklaces in single or two strand affairs are not to be neglected in this shopping for white accessories. The price tags will keep you cheerful for days. And these white accessories simply can't be equaled for contrasting dark summer sheers and dresses of dull textures.

Baby's Clothes Should Add to His Comfort

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Grandmothers, at least some of them," said the saleswoman of a baby's wear department, "will insist on buying the kind of baby things they used to use for their own babies, but usually some of these things come back or have to be exchanged. The binders, for one thing. Many mothers won't use a binder after the baby leaves the hospital. And it's hard to convince some grandmothers that the baby doesn't need woolen underwear, not even part woolen, in summer."

While opinions vary for the winter baby, the summer baby needs only cotton shirts and bands. And such soft weaves as are being made for these tender skins! The cotton shirt that has a little artificial silk woven into is particularly elastic and soft. And when you go buying for your baby, ask to look at shirts with the non-bind sleeve. This model has a tricky underarm cut that spreads the sleeve to admit easily the baby's hand and arm.

While slips may be engaging, and tiny shirts unspeakably cunning, no fashion review of baby's clothes is complete without sounding the practical note that is represented by the ubiquitous, indispensable diaper.

Many mothers cling to the standard birdseye cloth, but the cotton knitted diaper grows in popularity. It is soft and absorbent. As we are not giving trade names, I will merely mention that these come in two widely spaced prices. One well known manufacturer makes a quality which sells for about $2.50 a dozen in the large size. Another quality is priced at about $6.00 a dozen, also for the largest size.

Quite different from birdseye and the knitted diaper is one made of a fabric in a fine surgical type weave. This is especially treated to make it absorbent, and has no hem, but a "pinked" edge which cannot ravel. It can be folded with a "panel fold" in the middle, making little bulk around the baby's thighs. These cost about $2.00 a dozen in the larger size.

Oilsilk, rubberized and "rubberless" panties and bloomers are made soft and thin these days. Nevertheless, they should be used only for traveling and certain sorts of special occasions. This applies especially to warm weather.

Clothes for the baby's first year will be discussed in detail next week.

Many Brides to Say Vows at Rites Today

Ceremonies Take Place in Town, Country.

This, the third Saturday in June, is the most popular wedding day so far in the month of brides, and wedding bells will ring morning, noon, and night. One wedding in Milwaukee and another in Detroit will be of especial interest to Chicagoans because the bridegrooms live here.

In Milwaukee William Rapp Kemper will take as his bride Miss Frances Witte, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. F. Witte of the Winsconsin city. The service will be read at 6 o'clock at St. Paul's Episcopal church, the Rev. Holmes Whitmore officiating. A reception will follow at the Milwaukee Country club.

Mr. Kemper's sister, Mrs. John C. Meiners of Evanston, will be the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. A. John Rose Jr. of New York; Miss Jean Pearson of East Orange, N. J.; Mrs. Edwan A. Gallun and Mrs. Louis D. Caron Jr., both of Milwaukee.

Herbert Baaze of Chicago will be Mr. Kemper's best man and ushering will be Mr. Meiners, Wade Fetzer Jr., Dr. Loyal Davis, Dr. John Stanley O'Connell, Dr. Frederick Schmidt, Edward D. Loring, and Armin Elmendorf, all of Chicago, and Mr. Gallun of Milwaukee. Mr. Kemper, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Kemper of Evanston, and his bride will go to Taos, N. M., for a month and upon their return will be at home in an apartment on Sheridan road.

The wedding of interest to Chicagoans taking place in Detroit is that of Miss Ruth Ann Sorge, daughter of Mrs. Paul A. Sorge of that city, to Edward J. Dunne, son of Edward F. Dunne of Chicago, former governor. The ceremony, witnessed only by members of the families, will be solemnized at the chancery of the Catholic diocese of Detroit at high noon, and will be followed by a breakfast at the University club.

The home of Mrs. Frank O. Wetmore in Hawthorne lane, Wheaton, will be the setting for the wedding of Miss Margery Preston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Preston of State parkway to Harry M. Nacey Jr. The Prestons are occupying Mrs. Wetmore's house this summer. The ceremony will be read at 4:30 o'clock before the fireplace in the drawing room and a reception will follow for the small group of relatives and close friends present.

Miss Virginia Preston will be her sister's only attendant, and John Nacey will attend his brother as best man. Among the guests who have come from away are Mrs. Rufus I. Hepburn, the bride's grandmother, who lives in California; Mr. and Mrs. William Wehr, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Carleton White of Milwaukee, and Miss Eleanor Beattie of New York who roomed with the bride at Vassar. The Prestons are hoping that his brother, Charles M. Preston of Knoxville, will arrive today.

Mr. Nacey and his bride will live in Knoxville when they return from a wedding trip to Canada.

Also at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, but at a ceremony in town at the Fourth Presbyterian church, Miss Caroline Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardnar Stevens, will become the bride of Wellington Willson Cummer II., son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Emerson Cummer of Jacksonville, Fla. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, 1500 Lake Shore drive.

The bride will be attended by Miss Ilma Jane Theurer, Miss Virginia Stewart, Miss Elizabeth Jones of New York, and Mrs. Robert H. Paul Jr., also of New York, a sister of the bridegroom. James Palmer Johnson of Chicago will serve Mr. Cummer as best man, and ushering will be Grosvenor Chapman and Hall Bradley of Greenwich, Conn.; John Lowry Roe of Jacksonville, cousin of the bridegroom; Mr. Paul Jr.; Gregory Smith of New York; Thomas Quale of Cleveland, and Charles G. Stevens Jr. and John B. Stevens, brothers of the bride.

Mr. Cummer and his bride will go to Canada for the first part of the summer, and will be at home after Oct. 1 at 2 Lincoln street, New Haven, Conn., where the bridegroom is studying at the Yale Architectural school.

Miss Adelia Rollinson Barroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Edward Barroll of Winnetka, will wear her grandmother's wedding gown when she is married to Sarell Wood Beal Jr. of Evanston. The service will be read at 4:30 o'clock by the Rev. Leland Danforth of Kenilworth in the Christ church chapel, Winnetka, with a reception following in the guild room of the parish house. The gown, made in Lyons, France, in 1865, was worn by Adelia Rollinson of New York when she was married to Henry Ballard Barroll of Baltimore in that year.

Mrs. Albert E. Wright Jr. will be her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Jannette Barroll, another sister, and Miss Barbara Beal, the bridegroom's sister, will be the bridesmaids. Enlow Wilkinson will be Mr. Beal's best man, and ushering will be Lucian Wilkinson and Mr. Wright Jr. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Beal will live on the near north side.

The Paulist Choristers will sing this morning at the nuptial mass at the marriage of Miss Evelyn Cecilia McIntyre, daughter of Mrs. George V. McIntyre, to William Henry Conley. The ceremony will take place at 9:30 o'clock at St. Mary of the Lake church, and a wedding breakfast will follow in Mrs. McIntyre's home at 4247 North Hazel avenue. Mr. Conley and his bride will motor to Lake Louise and Banff on their wedding trip, and will be at home in Chicago next fall.

The Rev. Aloysius C. Dineen, pastor of the Church of the Holy Innocents in New York City, a cousin of the bride, will read the ceremony. Among the out of town guests will be Antonio C. Gonzales, United States minister to Ecuador, and Mrs. Gonzales, a cousin of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Ormed Crepeau of Columbus, O. Glenn Frederic Davis will give his sister-in-law in marriage.

Still another wedding of interest that is taking place today is that of Elizabeth Harding Starrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Harding, who will be married to Joseph D. Stockton, son of Mrs. John T. Stockton, at 4:30 o'clock in the living room of her parents' Evanston home. The Rev. Paul Wolfe of the First Presbyterian church in Evanston will read the ceremony, in the presence of the families and a few intimate friends. An informal reception will be held for the same small group.

The bride will have no attendants, but a younger brother of the bridegroom, Walter Stockton, will serve as best man. Mr. Stockton and his bride will live in Evanston.

At noon in St. Mary's church, Evanston, Miss Ruth Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt D. Stevens, will become the bride of Thomas H. Anderson Jr. of San Francisco. Father Magner will officiate, and a small reception will follow at the cottage Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are occupying on the grounds of the Glen View club.

Miss Stevens will be attended by her sisters, Mrs. Robert Gerlicher of Baton Rouge, La., and Mrs. John Haas of Evanston, and also by Mrs. Don Petty and Miss Marianna McCabe.

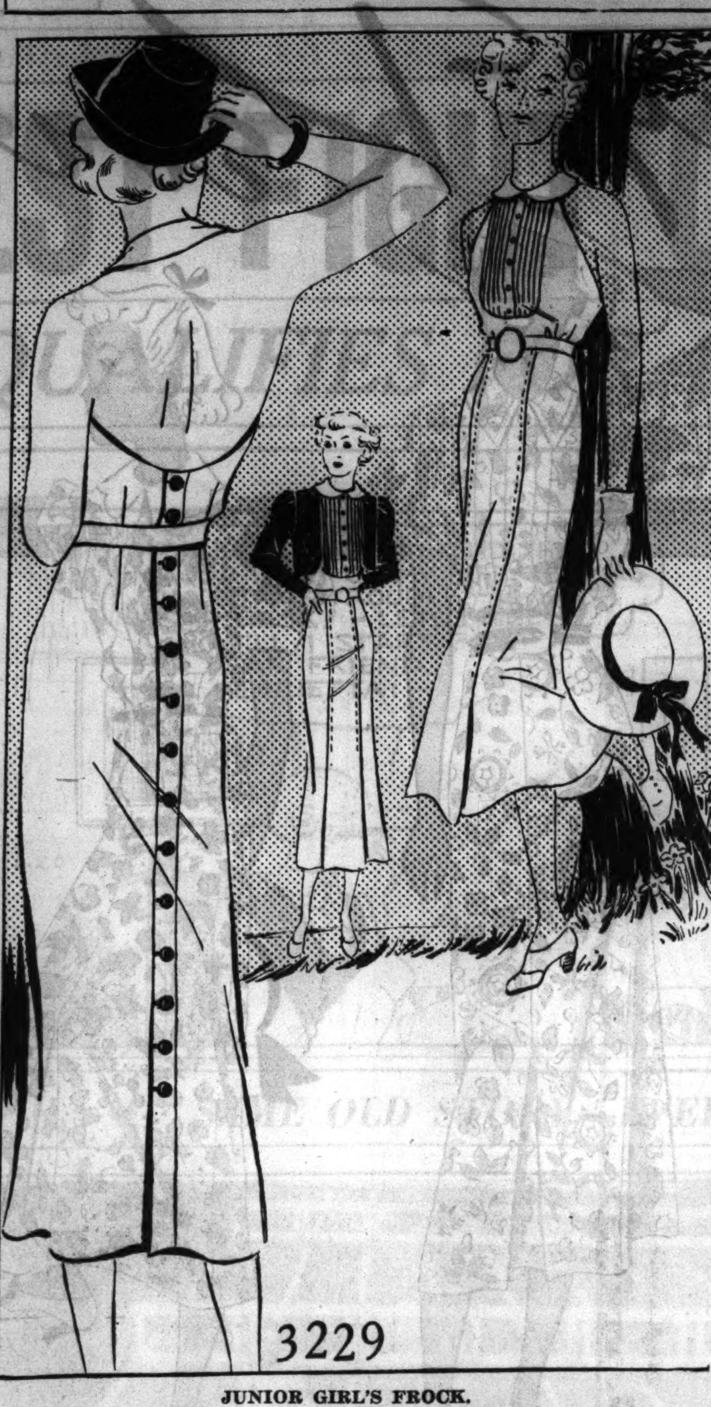
Francis S. Chambers Jr. of Harrisburg, Pa., will serve Mr. Anderson as best man, and ushering will be Leonard B. Christie of Bridgeport, Conn.; Mr. Haas, and Robert Gale of Evanston. The bridegroom's parents are here for the wedding, and so are Mrs. Alfred Davis and Miss Lena Dunn of Saginaw, Mich., great-aunts of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Converse of Beloit, Wis.

Miss Esther D. Littleford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jason Littleford of Downers Grove, will be married to Emmett Huling Woodworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Woodworth of New York, at 8 o'clock tonight at the Cass Methodist Episcopal church, near Downers Grove. Mr. Littleford's family has worshiped at that church for a hundred years.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Pace of 426 Hamilton street, Evanston, announce the marriage of their daughter Cornelia Anderson Pace to John Ralph Barry, son of Mrs. Ethel T. Barry of Evanston, which will take place at 4 o'clock today at the First Presbyterian church in Evanston. The Rev. Paul A. Wolfe will officiate, and a reception will follow in the parlors of the church.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Rae R. Le Vine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Le Vine of Milwaukee, to Samuel L. Schreiber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Schreiber of 2500 Logan boulevard, which is taking place in Milwaukee today.

Shirt Bosom Is Revived



JUNIOR GIRL'S FROCK.

Here is something decidedly out of the ordinary in sports frocks. You will remember the tuxedo fronts which enhanced the strictly tailored effect of many of the cocktail ensembles of early spring. Well, the stylists decided that the skirt bosom was too good a style point to be cast aside just because summer is here and incorporated it in this sun-back dress, of all things! The dress itself is smartly buttoned all the way down the back, from the waistline almost to the hem. The front has a stitched panel effect which graduates into simple plaits which give the desired width to the hemline for active sports.

This dress has no limitations. If you like it for active sports all you need to do to convert it into a street dress is to don the bolero jacket with its quaint Gibson girl sleeves. The brief little coat slips under the shirt collar of the frock, completely concealing the fact that the dress is, in reality, a sun-back model. Because the jacket fits loosely it will in no way detract from your comfort. It will be delightfully cool.

The original of this model is striking in yellow linen. The gay little bolero is of bright green and yellow linen print. Shantung, glazed chintz, crash, challis prints, piqué, and tub silks are other acceptable mediums.

Style No. 3229 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material for the dress, with 1¼ yards of 39 inch material for the bolero.

Four Windmills.

BY NANCY CABOT.

With the disappearance of windmills from the countryside, one discovers more and more old windmill quilt patterns which are enjoying wide popularity. "Four Windmills" is an unusual one, since it is used as an all-over design and the pattern resembles a series of interlocked windmills with unequal arms. Blue, blue print, and white formed the favorite color arrangement at the time the block was created, but with present day quiltmakers a more colorful combination is achieved by the use of two shades of red or rose with the blue.

Missionary Hits Babson's Large Family Appeal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Hadley, Mass., June 19.—[Special.]—The program for larger families advocated by Roger W. Babson, moderator of the Congregational general council, was criticized at the council session today. Mr. Babson seeks to offset the bad effect on church membership and attendance resulting from the practice of birth control.

The Rev. Dr. Frank Laubach, a mission leader in the Philippine Islands, told the 1,000 members of the council that mere increase in the size of Congregational families would do no more than emphasize "the intellectual aristocracy" of Congregationalism.

On Wednesday Mr. Babson reported that limitation of Congregational families was a basic impediment to the denomination's progress. The report of the commission which Mr. Babson headed suggested reorganization of the laity and that pastors' salaries bear relationship to membership increases of their churches.

Dr. Laubach said church progress should be based on an "open door" policy of hospitality toward less privileged economic and racial groups.

Discussion of the council's 1934 resolution condemning the "profit motive" and the "present economic order" were closed this morning by the acceptance of a committee ruling that such discussion has no standing. The council thus threw out resolutions which sought to have the 1934 Oberlin resolution rescinded and the work of the churches' council of social action curbed.

The committee in offering the ruling explained that the Oberlin resolution, as well as all others passed by the council, "represent only the expression of opinion of those voting on them; that such resolutions are not binding upon the opinions of others or on the action of the council." One general council, the committee added, has no right as such to criticize the action of previous councils.

According to CULBERTSON

PART-SCORE SOMETIMES A MENACE.

A part-score easily may be a burden instead of a blessing. This is particularly true when an inexpert team has the part-score. If the partners stretch their bids to take advantage of the score, a sizable penalty may result. If, on the other hand, they hold splendid fitting cards, they are entirely too apt to be satisfied with a low, "safe contract," instead of investigating slam possibilities. This latter was the case in the hand described below.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ K J 6 4
♥ A Q 8 7 3
♦ K 7

WEST
♠ 10 5
♥ J 9 5
♦ Q J 8 3

EAST
♠ 3
♥ K 10 4 2
♣ Q J 7 4 3

SOUTH
♣ A K

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	Pass!	Pass

North's pass to his partner's spade rebid is difficult to understand. In fact, his first bid had nothing to recommend it, with or without a part-score. It is a sound, general rule that a part-score should have virtually no influence on the bidding! The exception to the rule is that, obviously, there is no need to "reach for game." Otherwise, responses should be perfectly normal.

The correct bidding on this hand, with and without the part-score, is:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 dimds.	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
5 dimds.	Pass	5 no trp.	Pass
7 spades [final bid]

After the trump suit agreement, South's four diamond bid is an asking bid. North's response of four hearts shows the heart ace and second round diamond control. South still must guard against a diamond loser, which he does by inquiring into third round control. [A second asking bid in the same suit as the first, provided partner did not answer the first with a response of four no trump, is an inquiry for additional control.] Since North has only a doubleton king of diamonds, automatically assuring third round control, he confirms that fact by bidding a corresponding number of no trump.

Considering that the grand slam was absolutely cold, North and South hardly could feel satisfied with themselves for stopping at two-odd.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is a Yarborough?
Answer: A hand containing no card higher than a nine spot.

Luther College Band Charms Big Audience

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Luther college's exhilarating concert band came to Orchestra hall last night and kept a large audience engrossed with its music through nearly two solid hours of playing. And solid in this case means solid, for Carlo Sperati, apparently, does not believe in intermissions.

Sperati is the genial gentleman who for thirty-one years has picked the personnel for his concert band from the student body of Luther college [Decorah, Ia.], trained it to his ideals of precision and musicianship, seen his best men graduate each spring, and started all over again the next fall. The present 72 piece outfit is a monument to his industry and continued enthusiasm.

The prelude to the third act of "Lohengrin" demonstrated the brilliance of the true, well pointed tone that the concert band has developed. In the excerpts from the "Henry VIII." ballet music there were plenty of opportunities to enjoy the infectious lift that these fair haired young vikings can give to a tempting rhythm. They leaped into the outdoorsy music of "Schwanda" with all the zest that you would expect, sidestepped some of the subtleties of the Tschaikowsky "Valse des Fleurs," and the Dvorak largo that followed, and gave their remaining all to the "Tannhäuser" overture.

The rhythms, it must be confessed, are a little too sturdy and literal at times. One statement of the theme of the Wagner overture gave the incongruous effect of a waltz movement, afterbeats and all. And that passage in which Tschaikowsky humanizes his flowers, and lets a little of man's wistfulness bedim their petals for a moment, and his thoughtfulness arrest their motion, was played last evening with what seemed too strict and unflinching a fidelity to the original metrical scheme.

The program was generously supplied with tingling encores of one sort and another. Among the extras was a march by Victor Grabel, well known Chicago bandmaster, who was in the audience. Mr. Sperati invited him to the stage to conduct his number.

The first of the solos and novelties was a baritone [horn] solo by Helge H. Nasby. Its title, "Napoli," cloaked an extremely florid and difficult arrangement of "Funiculi, Funicula." A little later, six brass instruments intoned the "Lucia" sextette. Toward the end of the program, a quartet of skilled xylophonists proved to the satisfaction of a deafened audience that four xylophones are several too many for an intimate little place like Orchestra hall.

Last night's concert by the Luther college concert band was sponsored by the Dorcas guild of the United Evangelical Lutheran church. The band's present tour is in celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Luther college, a spiritual and cultural enterprise of the Norwegian-Americans of the middle west. Several countries of Europe find a place on the tour's itinerary.

Coiffures Next Season to Have Heaps of Curls

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It looks, from this distance, that for next fall and winter we are going to have to supply ourselves with a personal maid. Otherwise, I'm sure I do not know how on earth we are going to keep our hairdress up to par. Fawncy, I call all these new coiffures! I have been seeing some of the advance hat and coiffure styles in sketches. The reaction is: "How under heaven are we ever going to maintain that perch of hat and perfection of curled coiffure?" There must be a great deal more leisure in the world than we have, it strikes one on viewing the sketched phenomena. Time, and loads of it, is involved in the upkeep.

It's true, of course, that you and I and a couple of other girls we know do not have to accept the dernier cri. We usually don't. But these advance showings do indicate trends. And the trend, as revealed recently, leaves one guessing as to where the chapeau ends and the ornate coiffure begins, or vice versa.

BY MARY MEADE.

"Beautiful soup, so rich and green——" Remember, youngsters, how the Mock Turtle in "Alice in Wonderland" sang that song, sobbing all the time because he knew that mock turtles were made specifically to be cooked into soup?

But we really would prefer some color other than green for our "soup of the evening," wouldn't we? Say a nice beef broth color, with tomatoes and carrots to brighten it up a bit.

But before telling you young cooks how to make a perfectly delicious meat and vegetable soup I'd like to ask you something. Would you like these Saturday cooking lessons to be continued during the summer? If you are too busy playing to have time for helping with meals, I'd like to know about it. But if you like the Saturday lessons will you drop me a post card? Because I'd really like to hear from you.

Now about the soup. Perhaps you already know that there are several kinds of soup. The most common types are those made with meat, and the vegetable soups made with a cream sauce which makes them thicker than most of the meat soups.

The recipe you're going to try today is for a meat soup with vegetables. We won't thicken it the least bit, because we want all of the good meat flavor, don't we? Since this soup will require about 3½ hours of cooking, you'd better start it early!

1. You'll want about 1½ pounds of meat. Beef shoulder will be suitable. And it must have quite a bit of bone in it, because bone gives a good flavor to soup. Cut the meat into cubes about one inch on a side. Brown half the cubes in a little fat in a frying pan. This also helps the flavor.

2. Put all the meat with the bone in a kettle. Measure two quarts of water [8 cups] into the kettle. Place on the stove over a low burner and let the soup simmer for two hours [this means to cook just below the boiling point]. Of course you'll cover the kettle. This simmering will draw the flavor out of the meat and bone into the water, which is where you want it for soup. If scum forms on the top of the soup, skim it off with a spoon.

3. While the soup is cooking, get your vegetables ready. You want 2½ cups of tomatoes, either raw or canned; ¾ cup of carrots cut in small pieces; 1-3 cup onions, cut up; 1 cup of celery, and 1¾ cups potatoes, also cut in pieces. As you wash and cut up each vegetable, you can dump it into a bowl with the others in order to have the vegetables all together.

4. After the meat has simmered for two hours, add the vegetables and 1½ tablespoons of salt to the kettle. Maybe you'll like a sprinkling of pepper, too. Now let the soup cook for 1½ hours longer before serving.

5. Serve it in soup bowls with plenty of crackers or croutons [bread cut in cubes or sticks and toasted].

How about it? Shall we continue our Saturday cooking lessons?

OWENS QUALIFIES FOR 4 N. C. A. A. FINALS; RECORDS FALL

WILLIAMS SETS WORLD'S MARK IN 400 METERS

Ohio State Takes Lead in Meet.

Table of Points

Ohio State	18	Carbondale	4
Northwest Mo.	10	Texas	2 1-3
So. California	8 1-3	Colorado	2 1-3
Nebraska	8	Michigan State	2
Temple	6	Pittsb'g [Kas.]	1

World and national records were bettered yesterday as preliminary trials of the fifteenth annual National Collegiate Athletic association meet were held at Stagg field. Record performances included:

1. Archie Williams of the University of California ran the 400 meters in :46.1, the fastest in history. He ran around one turn, establishing a world record. The two turn record of :46.2 was set by Carr of Pennsylvania in 1932. Williams will run two turns today in an attempt to better Carr's mark.

2. In the 100 meters Chink Wallender of the University of Texas equaled the world record of :10.3, held jointly by Percy Williams, Eddie Tolan, and Ralph Metcalfe. Wallender beat Sam Stoller of Michigan by three inches.

Towns Sets Mark.

3. Forrest Towns of the University of Georgia won his heat in the 110 meter high hurdles in :14.1, bettering the accepted world's record of :14.2 held by Percy Beard but equaled by a half dozen others in the current season.

4. Foy Draper of Southern California won his 200 meter heat around one turn in :21.2, equalling Eddie Tolan's Olympic record.

5. Herschel Neil of Northwest Missouri Teachers college won the hop, step and jump with 48 feet 5⅛ inches for a new national collegiate record.

6. Ken Carpenter led the discus trials with a new national collegiate record of 167 feet 4½ inches.

Buckeyes Take High Jump.

Two national collegiate championship finals were completed yesterday. Dave Albritton and Melvin Walker, Ohio State's two colored high jumpers, tied at 6 feet 6⅛ inches, one inch higher than another colored boy, Albert Threadgill of Temple. The two Buckeyes skipped intervening heights and set the bar up to 6 feet 9½ inches, seeking a world's mark. Walker got over on his second effort, but as he sat in the pit the wabbling bar fell off.

Herschel Neil of Northwest Missouri Teachers' college was the other winning finalist, setting a new college record in the hop, step, and jump.

Today's final events are scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

Jesse Owen, holder of four world's records and winner of four events in last year's meet, had a busy but easy day. He led the broad jump qualifiers with 25 feet 10⅞ inches and won his heats in 100 and 200 meter sprints and the 220 low hurdles.

Owens was in the first heat of the 100 meter dash trials, and through a mistake by the officials this heat was started at the 110 meter hurdle post.

Cope Is Eliminated.

One of the day's surprises was the elimination of Phil Cope of Southern California, one of the favorites in the high hurdles. But even that disappointment can hardly keep the Trojans from an expected victory today, for U. S. C. qualified 18 men yesterday. California with eight, Ohio State and Wisconsin with six, and Standford with five were next in line.

The outstanding performance of the day was the 400 meter race of Archie Williams, colored star from the San Francisco bay district. A junior at California, but in his first year of varsity competition, Williams was as good as his advance notices. He ran with perfect ease, led at the way stages and ran his own race without apparent effort. He will meet Al Fitch of Southern California and Ray Ellinwood of Chicago in the finals today. Summaries:

Jesse Owens, Ohio State's one man track team, wins the first heat of the 220 yard low hurdles in the preliminaries of the National Collegiate A. A. meet at Stagg field yesterday. A photo finish was necessary for this race, but the judges didn't need it to tell who had won. It was taken to decide fourth place. The contestants, left to right: Francis Cretzmeyer of Iowa, who was unplaced by the photo finish; Richard Brunton, Illinois; Owens, defending champion; Ben Willis, Kentucky, who was second; Joseph Patterson of the Navy, third; Ben Stout, Ball State Teachers, and Leland LaFond, Southern California, who was awarded fourth over Cretzmeyer when the finish picture was developed.

Hollyrood and Rushaway Rule Favorites for Derby

BY FRENCH LANE.

An attempt to unravel the tangled affairs of the 3 year old championship situation will again be made this afternoon when the Chicago Derby comes up for its tenth running at Hawthorne.

With the one objective in view—to pile up as many decisive victories as possible between now and the end of the season—the winning of today's race would mean more to Rushaway and Hollyrood than it would to any of the eleven other contestants named in the overnight field.

Each has made some headway along the championship trail. Rushaway has the Louisiana Derby, Illinois Derby, and Latonia Derby to his credit. Hollyrood after failing earlier in the season started his drive by winning the Detroit Derby last Saturday in which Rushaway was one of his victims.

Meet at Equal Weights.

But in that race Rushaway gave Hollyrood four pounds. Today they meet at equal weights. In the Detroit Derby Rushaway was away badly. Hollyrood had no bad luck whatever in the encounter. So the Chicago Derby will no doubt be a truer test of the relative abilities of these two.

The field of 13 named overnight to try for the $15,000 prize over the long route of a mile and a quarter is the strongest that ever sought honors in this particular Derby.

Col. Edward R. Bradley's Bow and Arrow, whose trial in the Derby test earlier in the week resulted in an impressive victory, rates to be next in line. The fact that Col. Bradley has traveled here to see him run is evidence enough that Bradley believes he has a chance.

Workman on Tatterdemalion.

That the C. V. Whitney turf managers still believe that Tatterdemalion is a better colt than he has so far indicated was brought out yesterday by the announcement that Jocky Sonny Workman will come on from New York to ride in the Whitney Eton blue and brown packet.

Smokey Saunders of Omaha fame, who was licensed by the Illinois racing commission yesterday, will be in the saddle on Hollyrood, and Johnny Longden will be here in time to have a leg up on Rushaway. Joe Renick, now under contract to Col. Bradley, will ride Bow and Arrow.

The betting last night found Rushaway and Hollyrood each with an army of backers. It is a certainty one or the other will be the favorite, but not by any wide margin. They were equal first choices last night at odds of 2 to 1.

The Chicago Derby is the outstanding stake event of this year's Hawthorne season. The race has been revived and cast into the discard more often than almost any other important turf event in the country.

Race First Run in 1890.

It was first run in 1890 and was won that year by Prince Fonso, ridden by Jocky Overton. It was worth $2,785. For five years it was an annual fixture on Hawthorne's spring program. One of its most exciting revivals came in 1893 when Morello beat Boundless. The latter then moved over to old Washington Park and a short time later won the American Derby.

The race was not revived between 1894 and 1904. English Lad won the 1904 renewal. Again there was a 20 year lapse before there was another running of the stake. Black Gold came along and won it in 1924. In 1925 Caractus captured the prize at tall odds. The race again was abandoned until 1933 and in that running Gay World was the victor over Mr. Khayyam which earlier in the season had won the American Derby.

HOLMSTROM AND KOKES IN FINAL OF STATE GOLF

Decatur, Ill., June 19.—[Special.]—Johnny Holmstrom, 15 year old high school boy from Rockford, and Wilbur Kokes of Berwyn, a member of the York Country club, meet at the Country club of Decatur tomorrow in the thirty-six hole final match for the Illinois state amateur golf championship.

Holmstrom, competing in his first match play tournament, upset the veteran Gus Moreland of Peoria, former member of the United States Walker cup team, in an eighteen hole semi-final today, 1 up. Kokes reached the finals with a 7 and 6 triumph over Steve Williams Jr. of the Evanston Golf club.

Moreland, tourney medalist with a subpar 106 qualifying score at twenty-seven holes, had shot under par in all of his matches until this afternoon. But he weakened on the final two holes to lose to the Rockford amateur.

In the quarter-final matches, held this morning, Moreland defeated Lyle Hoffman of Urbana, 1 up on the 19th hole; Kokes beat John Hobart of Rockford, 2 and 1; Holmstrom beat Ray Croslin of Oak Park, 2 and 1, and Williams advanced at the expense of Jack Cameron of Chicago, 5 and 4.

Jim Browning, Ex-Wrestling Champ, Dies

Rochester, Minn., June 19.—(AP)—Jim Browning, once recognized in some states as heavyweight wrestling champion, died here this afternoon. He succumbed in St. Mary's hospital from pulmonary embolism, a condition of blood clots in the lung.

The wrestler underwent an exploratory operation about 10 days ago in connection with an abdominal ailment. His condition improved until three days ago when complications developed.

When Browning launched his wrestling career several years ago he was billed as the farmer from Verona, Mo., where he resided until his popularity as a mat performer made it necessary for him to travel extensively.

He won recognition as a champion in New York after the athletic commission of that state stripped Jim Londos of his title for refusing to meet Ed Strangler Lewis. Browning then threw Lewis, becoming champion in New York and the states having a working agreement with the New York commission.

After four years of dickering Browning and Londos were brought together in New York on June 25, 1934 and Londos won. Thereafter Browning was just another wrestler, although he continued to tour the country and make money.

Frank Smith, former sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was Browning's manager until his death in Toronto three years ago.

PRESIDENT'S SON LOSES SHIRT TO YALE REPUBLICAN

New London, Conn., June 19.—[Special.]—Franklin D. Roosevelt lost his shirt today—and to a Republican.

It was, however, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., No. 6 oarsman on the losing Harvard junior varsity crew. Following custom, his new jersey went to No. 6 on the Yale jayvee eight.

The recipient was Rufus Easton of Albany, son of a former Albany county Republican leader.

It was the third successive year young Roosevelt has lost his shirt to Yale.

SOX BEAT MACKS IN 13TH, 5 TO 4, ON HAAS' SINGLE

Kennedy Wins No. 7 After Some Confusion.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox had to do an awful lot of fluttering, fading, and suffering yesterday before they finally beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 4, in 13 innings. But it was worth the misery of the early failures, for when the belated triumph came the Sox were in the first division, tied with Cleveland for fourth place and but a game behind the third place Washington Senators.

The end of the fifth extra inning game the Sox have played in seven starts with the Athletics this season had elements of luck which the Sox scarcely deserved in view of some of their prior lapses. Tony Piet, who ran across with the winning run after 2 hours and 58 minutes of play, got to first with two out in the thirteenth when he was hit by a pitched ball and reached second on a passed ball. He scored on a grounder from Mule Haas' bat, which bounced off Hal Finney's glove.

Waste Plenty of Chances.

The Sox previously had made one unearned run off Bill Dietrich, who had relieved Rookie Stu Flythe with the bases full and two out in the second inning.

The game would have been won in regulation time but for some loose work and a brainstorm by Vernon Kennedy in the sixth inning. He let a runner get from first to third on a wild pitch, then had the brainstorm on the squeeze play which let the tying run trot home. But thereafter Vern did enough swell pitching to entitle him to his No. 7 victory of the season.

The Sox's greatest suffering came in the second, third, and ninth innings when they had the bases full and failed to score.

Athletics Score First.

The Athletics had a run home before the first putout of the game had been accomplished. Finney walked to start the afternoon's entertainment and scored on Warstler's double to left center. Warstler reached third on Moses' sacrifice, but Puccinelli fanned and Higgins grounded out.

When the first inning was over the Sox had three runs, gaining the second and third after two were out. Radcliff was hit by a pitched ball and moved up while Higgins was making a nice play to throw out Piet. Haas doubled to left, scoring Radcliff, after which Bonura walked. The runners advanced on Appling's grounder to Finney and both scored on Kreevich's single to right. Kree-

ROUND BY ROUND STORY OF LOUIS-SCHMELING FIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 19.—The round by round story of Max Schmeling's knockout victory over Joe Louis in New York Yankee stadium tonight follows:

FIRST ROUND.

Louis and Schmeling advanced to the center of the ring slowly. Max missed with a hard right to the jaw. They sparred and Louis came in with two punches to the body. Max feinted and Louis was short with a left jab. Schmeling scored with a left to the face. Louis was short with a right to the body. Louis shot a right uppercut to the chest and landed a right and left to the jaw. Joe rocked Max with a left hook to the jaw. Schmeling weaved and came in covering his head with his elbows. Joe stabbed stiffly with a long left to the face. They exchanged long lefts to the face. They clinched along the ropes and after the break Schmeling rushed and missed with an overhand right. Louis pinned Max against the ropes, but his punches landed on the German's shoulders.

SECOND ROUND.

Schmeling weaved and jabbed with his left. Louis shot a left and right to the neck and the German retreated. Louis missed a short left to the jaw. Joe jabbed and Max backed away slowly. Max took a left and a right to the chin. Louis hooked his left to the side of the head. Max landed a right to the head. The German backed away from a right uppercut. In a half clinch Max left hooked to the head. Schmeling retreated to his corner and weaved out of the path of a long left hook. Louis jabbed five times without a return. Both men started for their corners thinking the bell had rung and the referee called them back. Louis hooked a solid left to the stomach. Max weaved back cautiously out of the way of Louis' left.

THIRD ROUND.

FOURTH ROUND.

Schmeling stood erect and Louis was short with a left jab. Schmeling was short with a left hook and a right uppercut. Louis pressed forward and hooked his left to the side of the head. Max rushed and threw a hard right to the head. Max pulled back on a short right uppercut. Louis jabbed with his left. Louis backed away from a right cross. Joe boxed cautiously, scoring twice with jolting lefts to the chin. Schmeling came into a clinch and Louis hammered at the body. They exchanged left leads. Schmeling landed a hard right to Louis' head and again Louis took a hard right and went to the floor. Louis came to his feet on the count of two and clinched. Schmeling came in to Louis with a hard right at the bell and the referee broke them.

FIFTH ROUND.

They met in the middle and Schmeling was short with a chopping left to the head. Louis took a right and clinched. Schmeling landed a left to the head that rocked Joe. Louis hooked to the head with a hard left. Louis led with a left and took a hard right to the jaw. Max landed another right to the head. Louis stood in front of Max blinking his eyes. Schmeling weaved under Joe's lead and missed with a vicious right. They exchanged left jabs. Max hammered away with a right and backed away out of danger. They exchanged punches to the body. Joe stabbed lightly with a left. Schmeling again threw his right and missed. Schmeling hit Louis twice to the head and

GERMAN WAGES BATTLE ALONG EXPECTED LINES

Looks Forward to Braddock Bout.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 19.—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, who has fought all of the current crop of top notch heavyweights, tonight met the toughest fighter of his career when he battled to a twelve round triumph over Joe Louis at Yankee stadium.

"This is the proudest moment of my life," Schmeling said after his right fist had knocked the Brown Bomber into defeat in the twelfth round. "I think I fight the toughest fighter of my life tonight. I think Louis is still a great prospect."

Later, lying on a rubbing table in the dressing room normally used by baseball players, the German told how he fought the battle just as he had planned it. It was not a boastful speech, just the cool, reflective reaction of a Teutonic mind which had conceived a plan of action and accomplished it.

Knew He Was Winning.

"No more on the floor did I want to win the title in this country," he said. "I knew I was winning on points, but Joe began to hit low, probably because he was tired and wild, and I feared he might hurt me too much to continue, so I knocked him out."

But not an unscathed victor was this Max Schmeling. His happy smile came through puffed lips, targets of Louis' left jabs. When you congratulated him he looked at you with his right eye. His left was swollen shut from those long left jabs.

"Braddock in September and in Chicago sounds good to us," yodeled Schmeling's manager, Joe Jacobs, whose cry of "It's a foul; it's a foul," was loudest when Schmeling won the title against Sharkey on a low blow and whose "We wuz robbed" after losing the decision in the second Sharkey battle has become a pugilistic classic. It was to that first Sharkey fight that Schmeling referred when he said, "No more on the floor did I want to win the title in this country."

But let's move away from his American manager back to the chap on the rubbing table,

Schmeling Never Afraid.

"When did you feel you had the battle under control," we asked.

Schmeling, unable to get his rub because of newcomers entering to congratulate him, was wiping himself off with a towel in anticipation of the alcoholic rubbing ministrations so long delayed.

"You remember that up at Napanoch I told you I would not be afraid," Max replied. "I hesitated to say more because all the fight writers, even you, did not give me much chance. But I told you when you put that blunt question how I felt that I did not like to be the favorite and I thought it was lucky not to be favorite. I hope you printed it."

Then Max elaborated on our question:

"The battle went according to plan better than we expected. Every one told me to rush in and trade blows. We thought it better to make Louis, who is a counterpuncher, do the leading. They said I was a sucker for a left lead because of my low guard. Perhaps I was. This eye looks like it.

Louis Sucker for a Right.

"But we thought Louis would be a sucker for a right cross and I guess he was. His guard was even lower than mine. The turning point was in the third round although the only knockdown until the knockout was not until the fourth round. After that I felt I was master of Louis, but I did not take unnecessary chances. Louis was game to the limit, wobbling to his chair at the end of two rounds but coming back strong. But I felt the fight was mine after that third.

After the fourth, the sting was out of Louis' punches."

"Did he hurt you, Max," we queried.

"Sting, yes. Hurt? Really damage me, no, despite this eye. That is, I never felt that Louis was gaining on me. Under the lights and the murky weather I was tired in the seventh and eighth rounds, so I decided to be careful and keep my advantage. Except for those low blows it might have gone the limit, for I was conserving my strength."

Like a Dream to Louis.

Meantime, in another dressing room, not 100 feet distant, was an entirely different scene, reflecting disappointment. Louis, never a man of many words when monosyllables will do, said briefly:

"It seemed like a dream after the second round, as if I was asleep. He must have hit me hard somewhere."

This varies with the Schmeling theory that the turning point was in the third round. Just a half smile from the usually deadpan features of Louis as he murmured:

"They always wondered whether I could take it. I guess they know now. I would like another chance whenever possible."

HARVARD VARSITY WINS FROM YALE BY 5½ LENGTHS

Crimson Coach Released After Victory.

New London, Conn., June 19.—(AP)—A Harvard varsity crew which had not won a victory all season beat Yale by five and a half lengths over a four mile ribbon of calm water on the Thames river this evening. It was the Crimson's first victory over a Yale varsity since 1933, and marked the end of Charlie Whiteside's seven year coaching career at Harvard.

After the race, William J. Bingham, Harvard's athletic director, announced that Whiteside's contract would not be renewed next year.

The victory gave Harvard a margin of three victories to one in the two day competition of the 74th regatta. Harvard won the combination race yesterday and took the freshman event this morning. Yale captured the junior varsity race also held this morning over a two mile upstream course.

It's All Harvard.

There was nothing to the varsity race except Harvard, which got away to a great start and moved steadily ahead al the way to the finish. Yale started slowly, waiting for a break in the Harvard pace. But the break never came, and when Yale finally hit up its stroke in the third mile, Harvard still had more to give and kept the pace. At the finish, the Crimson boat was moving away.

The winning time of 20 minutes 19 seconds was the fastest that a Harvard crew has rowed upstream in the long history of this event and only five seconds behind the record set by Yale in 1926.

Harvard's margin in the freshman race was a length and a quarter. Right down to the last half mile it was as close and keen a race as any rowing enthusiast could desire. Harvard' time was 11 minutes 1 second as against Yale's 11:05.

Junior Race One Sided.

In the junior varsity race the Elis took the lead at the start and never were pressed, winning by four and a half lengths. Yale's time was 10 minutes 52.4 seconds and Harvard's 11:08.4.

The crowd of approximately 60,000, including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, John Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who rowed in a losing Harvard crew for the third straight year, and the President's daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, was as usual one of the most colorful sports gatherings of the year.

They hung precariously from the rails of yachts, paid $4, a dollar a mile, to follow along in flat wheeled freight cars, and peered from the tops of bluffs which roll away from the river's edge.

Grasshopper Plague Ruins Farm Crops

BY BOB BECKER.

Reports from states beyond the Mississippi river and some sections closer to Chicagoland tell of vast swarms of grasshoppers eating their way through grain fields, causing untold damage. The balance of nature has been upset. Insect life has reached a new high. The result is big losses because, as scientists have pointed out, man cannot combat insect pests without the invaluable aid of birds.

Ornithologists, calling attention to the grasshopper scourge yesterday, revealed how farmers have reduced the natural cover so that game birds which consume great quantities of insects no longer can live on farms. Farmers have lost thousands of other valuable bird allies by destroying the lowland nesting sites of these insectivorous species. Marshes have been drained so that gulls and terns, noted for their destructions of grasshoppers, no longer can nest in areas where those insects may easily get the upper hand.

Game Birds Help.

The arid condition of the western states now affected by the grasshopper plague also is a factor in the present situation. But it is comparatively inconsequential when compared to the balance disturbed by farmers' failure to encourage bird life on their acreage.

Pheasants, prairie chickens, quail, and other game birds contribute to the productiveness of a farm by consuming crop destroying insects. This work is worth millions of dollars a year to agriculturists. Although the temporary cure for the grasshopper plague may be poisoned mash, the permanent cure is restoration of the balance of nature by producing more bird life on farms, according to the authorities with lifelong study of the problem.

Gulls Save Mormon Crops.

Probably the most graphic illustration of what birds can do to curb the grasshoppers occurred in Utah many years ago. Mormon settlers saw countless millions of grasshoppers sweeping over their fields, just as they are eating grain today in many states of the west. Suddenly great flocks of gulls appeared. These birds devoured the grasshoppers and saved the crops. Salt Lake City now has a monument commemorating the incident.

Ray Mangrum Cards 66 for Western Lead

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Davenport, Ia., June 19.—Lanky Ray Mangrum, the Dayton, O., professional, today turned up with a handsome 66, five under par, to take the first round lead in the thirty-seventh western open tournament at the Davenport Country club.

It was well that the lean Mangrum was so thrifty as to use up only 66 strokes. Less than an hour later another noted trooper, Lawson Little of San Francisco, posted a 67, thereby settling himself in second place for the evening. By the time Mangrum and Little made that last tortuous climb up the steep avenue to the home green both were convinced, like the rest of the field of 165, that they should have packed an alpenstock and a pair of climbing boots as well as brassies, mashies, and such.

The haul up and down the country club's hills and dales, which would qualify any man in the field for the varsity of a mountain climbing school, had the added pressure of a slow oven heat which baked the course to a crisp by nightfall.

Two Tied at 68.

Even with their 66 and 67 Mangrum and Little tonight are aware that there are others on the premises with a touch of mountain goat in their limbs. There are Ralph Guldahl, Los Angeles pro, and L. J. Willcox, a long hitting native of Des Moines now registered from Norfolk, Neb. Each felt that their mutual 68s would stand up until Mangrum and Little went to work.

Included among three pros tied for third place at 69 were two of Little's fellow professors on a faculty now touring the country in instructional work. They were Horton Smith of the Oak Park club of the Chicago district and Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa. Deadlocked with them was Byron Nelson of Ridgewood, N. J., the one time Texas railroad clerk. Nelson might have bettered his 69 by three shots had he not driven out of bounds at the club's pride, the 16th, and then three-putted the 17th.

Chicagoans Card 70s.

Smith is not the only Chicagoan who will be around tomorrow when the second 18 hole round is played. Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, and Tony Penna of Itasca will be on hand, all of them with 70s, a figure at which they were tied by Zell Eaton, the new Illinois open champion, from Oklahoma City, and Terl Johnson, youthful Decatur pro. Three other Chicagoans follow at 71, they being Johnny Bulla of Woodridge, Al Huske of Butterfield, and Orville White of Olympia Fields.

Johnny Revolta of Evanston, the national professional champion, who also is defending his crown here, needed 38 on the first nine, but jutted that chin of his out another inch coming home for a 35 and a 73.

C. S. BISHOP WINS AT BOB O' LINK GOLF TOURNEY

The Lumbermen's Golf Association of Chicago held its thirtieth annual tournament at Bob o' Link yesterday, with 125 members playing eighteen and thirty-six holes. The Bishop family triumphed again, Clarence S. winning the H. H. Hettler cup with a low gross of 81—83—164. On two previous occasions H. W. Bishop had won the coveted title.

Next to C. S. Bishop were E. S. French, 84—84—168, and David Joseph, 82—88—170, for low gross scores. In the battles for the various low net prizes there were numerous ties, which will be decided later by lot. W. J. Quinn won the Chicago retail dealers' trophy with 91—20—71 for low net in the afternoon.

In the American Lumberman cup contest, low gross in the afternoon round, three were tied: F. H. Beckman; J. A. Bishop, president of the association; E. S. French, who shot 84. The Edward Hines trophy for low net in the afternoon round went to R. A. Lounsbury with 92—25—67, and the Chicago Lumber institute cup award for players with a handicap of twelve or more ended in a six way tie among E. S. French, F. C. Poore, J. L. Pope, C. C. MAX SCHMELING KNOCKS OUT LOUIS IN 12TH ROUND ly he was pinned in a corner, and seemingly escaped only because Louis was slow to take advantage or still feared to hammer home the blows that had toppled the giant Primo Carnera and sent Max Baer to oblivion in a panic of fear.

The Decisive Fourth Round.

With no premonition of doom, Louis shuffled from his corner for the fourth round. This was the round that was to end the fight, Louis' men had said. This was the round the thousands had thought was the extreme limit to which the 30 year old Schmeling could go with his youthful opponent.

But in one second, as surprising as a streak of lightning on a summer day, and as devastating as any one punch ever delivered, the German changed the entire course of battle. By that blow, a right which slapped home to Louis' jaw over his extended left arm, Schmeling really won his comeback battle. The verdict, however, was not delivered until eight rounds later.

Louis took the full power of Schmeling's right fist. It brought him erect, and then he fell backward as if struck by an ax. For two seconds Louis writhed on the floor. Then he staggered to his feet and reeled uncertainly across the ring. Schmeling, already starting for his corner, whirled as the vast roar of the crowd beat against the concrete walls of the stadium.

Louis Saved by Clinch.

He came in carefully and Louis, by instinct, fumbled his way to clinch with the German. Within twenty seconds the round ended. Else this fight might have ended in the fourth round as predicted.

The thousands stood on their chairs or broke police lines to jam the aisles at the ringside. Louis, the superfighter, had been knocked down.

Louis did come back. For two rounds, the fifth and sixth, Schmeling attacked furiously. Louis weathered a barrage of right hand punches, nearly all of which landed with sickening thuds on his left jaw, until the brown, tightly drawn skin was puffed and bruised a dull red.

In each round, however, the Uhlan's most punishing blows were hammered through Louis' weakly extended arms a few seconds before the bell called a halt to the assault. Each time Louis came back after treatment by his handlers.

Schmeling's Force Slackens.

Apparently failure discouraged Schmeling. Now he slackened his drive. He probably knew that Louis no longer was a threat, and he waited until the increasing burden of time would make triumph certain.

In the seventh the men traded sharp lefts. Following instructions, if Louis now could hear his seconds, the Bomber commenced throwing his blows to Schmeling's stomach. Once he landed below the belt. The referee warned Louis and the crowd booed disapproval.

Louis was out on his feet in the eighth round. Schmeling struck with his right, and the full force of the punch buckled Joe's knees as if an unseen hand had pushed down on his shoulders. Louis again hit Schmeling low and this time, in confusion, he clutched the German wearily by both shoulders and shook his head in obvious apology.

The ninth was dreary repetition of Schmeling's chopping rights before which Louis would not fall.

Strangely enough, Louis called on unseen powers to carry on during the tenth and eleventh rounds. One need not be charitable to concede that he outscored Schmeling on points in these rounds.

Then the End.

Schmeling also seemed to be tiring. But in the twelfth round Louis collapsed.

Midway in the round Schmeling landed another full blown right to the jaw. Louis' bruised body and jangled nerves could stand no more. He reeled backward, helpless, his hands dangling at his sides. Schmeling moved to the kill.

Three times he struck with all his might. And at the third blow Louis fell to stretch on his back in a neutral corner. Vainly he tried to pull himself to his feet. At the count of seven he struggled to support his body by his left elbow and with this leverage, he slowly rolled over face downward.

As he turned, the timekeeper completed his count.

For five minutes Louis sat in his corner, only partially conscious. It is doubtful if he realized that the fate he had dealt so often in his meteoric career, finally had overtaken him.

Round by Round Story of Max Schmeling's Victory

SIXTH ROUND.

Max crashed a right to the head as they came to the center of the ring. Louis held on as Max hammered at the body. Max whistled that right to the side of Joe's head again. In a half clinch Schmeling scored with a right uppercut. Louis scored with a right to the jaw that rocked Schmeling. Schmeling missed with a right to the side of the head. Louis brought over his right for a solid thump on Max's face. Louis jabbed Schmeling off balance as he came in. The left side of Joe's face was badly swollen from the battering. They exchanged rights as Max was pinned against the ropes. Max weaved away from Louis' lefts. Max landed two consecutive punches to the side of the jaw and Joe tottered on his heels. Schmeling beat Louis to the punch and landed flush on the jaw and Louis hung on at the bell. He tottered back to his corner.

SEVENTH ROUND.

Louis weaved as he walked from his corner. Max waited for Joe to lead. Max was short with a right to the jaw. Joe pumped a left to Max's stomach and followed with another left to the same spot. Louis hooked again to the stomach. Schmeling backed to the ropes and Louis caught him with a hard overhand right. Louis again hooked to the stomach and the referee warned him to raise his punches. Louis hooked to the stomach and Max countered with a hard right to the jaw. They exchanged long lefts. Schmeling backed away. Schmeling's right slipped off Joe's shoulder. Max went under Joe's hard right. They stood toe to toe and Joe hammered lefts and rights to the head. They traded hard rights and Schmeling covered up as the bell ended the round.

They feinted in center ring, Max waiting for Louis. Louis left hooked to the stomach and took a right uppercut to the chin. Schmeling weaved back from Louis' left hook. In close Schmeling landed a hard right to Joe's chin and Louis' knees buckled. Joe stabbed with a left. They stood toe to toe exchanging punches to the head. Joe rushed Max to the ropes and Max fought his way out of it with two hard smashes to the face. Schmeling measured Joe and landed a hard right to the face. The power seemed gone from Joe's hands as he threw both gloves at Max's head. Schmeling beat Louis to the punch. Louis hooked to Max's stomach and the referee warned him. Joe put both hands on Max's shoulders and apologized. Again Joe hooked low and the crowd booed. Joe went to his corner in a daze.

They feinted in midring, Joe jabbing lightly to the face. Schmeling rushed in with a hard right which spun Louis around. Louis' right was practically slow motion. Schmeling's hard right knocked Louis' mouthpiece from between his lips. Joe blinked and pawed weakly with his left. Louis' long left hook glanced harmlessly off Max's face. Schmeling boxed and waited. Schmeling landed two rights to the head and Louis clinched. Schmeling circled looking for an opening. Schmeling hooked to the head. Louis crossed his right, but there was no power in his punch. Louis wobbled on his feet as Schmeling crossed his right to the jaw.

TENTH ROUND.

Louis was slow getting his mouthpiece and Schmeling waited for him to get off his stool. Louis was an easy mark for Max's right. Louis hooked a low one to the stomach. Louis took a hard right and fell back to the ropes. Louis stood defenseless in midring. Max pushed Louis back and he rocked on his heels. Max moved in slowly and Joe threw a hard right which didn't bother the German. They clinched and as they moved back Joe was cautious. Max waited for an opening and then crossed his right to the head. Schmeling backed away and then came in covered up. They clinched. Schmeling missed a long hard right. Louis jabbed with his left and Schmeling waited.

ELEVENTH ROUND.

Schmeling rushed from his corner and Louis jabbed lightly with his left. Joe continued to keep his left in Max's face. The German was short with a left hook. Schmeling's short right bounced off Louis' head. They traded lefts. Louis jabbed and Max backed away. Schmeling threw a straight overhand right to the face that staggered the colored boy. They clinched near center ring. Both seemed tired. Louis threw a long overhand right that had no power. Schmeling came in close and scored with both hands to the body. Louis seemed virtually out on his feet, but still Schmeling waited for Louis to attack. Schmeling threw a hard right uppercut to the chin. They weaved and both landed hard rights after the bell.

TWELFTH ROUND.

Louis was short with a left and came in just in time to get out of the way of Schmeling's whistling left. Max missed a right and Louis countered with a right over the heart. Louis hooked low with a left and the referee warned him. They stood shoulder to shoulder and Max landed three rights to the head. Louis jabbed repeatedly with a left and took a left and right to the chin. Louis backed to the ropes helplessly. Joe clinched.

Louis took another right to the head. Schmeling landed three rights and Louis went down to the floor and rolled over on his face and was counted out.

The time was 2:29.

HARLEM ROWDY, GERMAN SECTION OF N. Y. JUBILANT

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—A series of disorders staged by colored hoodlums occurred in Harlem late tonight after the defeat of Joe Louis by Max Schmeling. At 133d street and Lenox avenue 15 mounted policemen dispersed after a half hour of maneuvering a large crowd of colored men and youths who, they said, had been shouting and milling about.

Radio squads were sent to one section where boys were throwing stones through the windows of autos returning from the fight and to another area where the windows of several buses from the fight scene had been stoned by men and boys.

At the same time, southward in Yorkville, the German-American community, there was a celebration rivaling New Year's eve. On 86th street, near Lexington avenue, two large radio stores had rigged outdoor loudspeakers for the occasion. As the fight went on, and things looked better and better for Schmeling, the crowds became jubilant.

Then came the knockout. For a spell there was pandemonium. Groups linked arms and marched down the street, five and six abreast, singing, shouting. The resorts were filled to capacity and seidles were passed, in some instances, out the doors to those who could not get in.

Missouri Amateur Golf Title Is Won by Blevins

BLEACHERITES IN NO HURRY; REACH FIGHT SITE LATE

New York, June 19.—Threats of rain and the knowledge that plenty of seats were available caused purchasers of $3.50 bleacher admissions to the Louis-Schmeling fight tonight to arrive later than usual at big prize fights. Twenty minutes before the first preliminary there was only a sprinkling of spectators scattered through the vast stands, while the bleachers were one-fourth occupied.

Counterfeit tickets made their appearance yesterday and the club issued an official warning to the public. The fake tickets showed blurred faces of both principals on the front, but were good imitations on the reverse side. The telltale, however, was when the tickets were torn to take off the gate admission coupon. On the genuine there was a pink layer through the center, easily recognized, while the counterfeit showed only white at the torn edge.

Forty dollar seats were offered on the New York Stock exchange today for $20. They were the property of brokerage houses which had made reservations for customers and later received cancelations.

Sources usually well informed assert the Twentieth Century Sporting club needed $450,000 gross gate receipts to break even.

Promoters denied that Max Schmeling demanded a guarantee of $200,000 with option of 30 per cent of the net before signing to come to America. They asserted he took the same chances as Louis, who signed for 30 per cent of the net.

Jimmy Corcoran, baseball writer for a Chicago afternoon newspaper, was caught in a jam to the fighters' dressing room after the bout and went down in the crush. He was carried away on a stretcher and sent to a hospital with a preliminary examination indicating a broken leg. At a late hour it was not possible to confirm this diagnosis.

The new de luxe ring, erected at a cost of $11,000, had light brass corner posts and strands of ropes covered with green velvet. It is of the unit type, easily erected and taken down, and will be used at boxing and wrestling shows at the Hippodrome, recently taken over by Promoter Mike Jacobs.

Total expenses for equipping the stadium for this fight were placed at $75,000, principally for lumber and labor in raising the ringside sections. The lumber and ring will be salvaged. To repeat the arrangements would cost about twenty per cent of the amount expended this time.

"It's all right wit' me, I'd love to," Joe Gould said tonight when he was asked what he thought about Jim Braddock defending his world's heavyweight championship in Chicago in September. Gould is Braddock's manager. Braddock arrived during the first preliminary and went to a seat in the auxiliary working press section, interrupted frequently on the way by the inevitable autograph seekers, whom he obliged.

Mrs. Joe Louis, who as Marva Trotter of Chicago was married to the colored battler two hours before his fight with Max Baer last fall, arrived early, sitting in the fifth row ringside with Mrs. Julian Black, wife of Louis' co-manager.

Calling off the Brooklyn-Cubs game to provide a double-header Sunday gave Mr. Wrigley's young men plenty of time to get to the Yankee stadium. Secretary Bob Lewis and Trainer Andy Lotshaw were in the press sections. Other Cubs noted in the crowd were Gabby Hartnett, Larry French, Augie Galan, Bill Jurges, and Coach Roy Johnson.

When Jack Dempsey shook hands with Schmeling during the pre-bout ceremonies Max smiled and remained seated. When Jim Braddock shook hands Max also remained seated. But when Gene Tunney shook hands with him Max stood up, proving there are social distinctions among champions and ex-champions.

There were plenty of former champions on hand, but one of them, Primo Carnera, was still in Columbus hospital with a paralyzed left leg, incurred in his recent bout with Leroy Haynes.

ATTENDANCE at American league games is 400,000 ahead of this time last year, according to President William Harridge. . . . Larry Rosenthal, the White Sox new outfielder, is a Polish Catholic. . . . Capt. Roy Davis, chairman of the American Olympic boxing committee, refused an offer of $2,000 from a Detroit Motor company to have the American fighters compete in Detroit just before sailing for Berlin. . . . He does not wish to risk injury to any of Uncle Sam's entrants so close to the time of departure. . . . Ed [Strangler] Lewis has lost the sight in his left eye. . . . The New York Yankees have scored ten runs or more in fourteen games this season. . . . He has been one of the abler students in his class. . . . The entire White Sox entourage is pulling for Rip Radcliff, currently batting .367, to win the American league batting championship. . . . Rip is an affable, sincere chap, popular with all of his teammates. . . . The White Sox in the last half dozen years have had two former American league batting champions on the roster, Al Simmons, who twice won the honor, and Lew Fonseca. . . . Goes to Wish Max Luck, Drops Dead in Dressing Room

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—Tom O'Rourke, 80, veteran promoter and manager, dropped dead in Max Schmeling's dressing room at Yankee stadium tonight. O'Rourke was to act as a judge in one or more of the contests on the card.

O'Rourke had gone to wish Schmeling luck. He was rushed out underneath the stands before Schmeling knew of the tragedy. Schmeling entered the ring without knowledge of his friend's death.

O'Rourke managed Joe Walcott, George Dixon, and had an interest in Jack Sharkey before the latter was champion. He was the first to box with John L. Sullivan and was promoter and matchmaker of the old Broadway Athletic club where many famous contests were held.

MRS. NORTON GOLF WINNER.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 19.—(AP)—Mrs. D. W. Norton, Chicago, won the Allegheny Country club's annual women's invitational tournament today with a two day total of 168.

Second Polo Match Will Be Played Today

LONDON, June 19.—(AP)—With a slow field in prospect as the result of rains England will resume her challenge for the international polo cup against the defending American quartet tomorrow afternoon [9:30 a. m. eastern standard time] on the turf of the Hurlingham club.

The resumption of the second match of the 50 year old series, interrupted last Saturday by a heavy downpour after the Americans had won the first match, 10 to 9, of the best two out of three competition, will find both sides sticking to their original lineups.

Betting at Even Money.

The surprisingly strong and effective showing of the English, even in defeat, in the opener had a sharp downward effect on the odds and the outlook tonight was the teams will take the field at almost even money. Before the first match was played on June 10 the Americans were 5 to 1 favorites.

Needing a hard, fast field for their fleet mounts the Americans are likely to be handicapped by the slow turf plus the fact their practice scrimmage scheduled yesterday was rained out.

The English meanwhile nosed out a formidable twenty-six goal Ranelagh four, 11 to 1.

Indian Star Is Out.

Rao Hanut Singh, eight goal Indian star, still was nursing an injured shoulder and it is unlikely he will see action tomorrow. The British are hoping for a repetition of the seven goal performance of H. Hesketh Hughes, his substitute.

M'CARTHY WILL LEAD AMERICAN ALL-STAR TEAM

Replaces Ailing Cochrane for Game July 7.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, yesterday was appointed manager of the American league team which will meet the National league at Boston on July 7 in the fourth annual All-Star baseball game. McCarthy will serve in place of Mickey Cochrane, manager of the world's champion Detroit Tigers, who is recovering from an illness.

The appointment was made by William Harridge, president of the American league.

"The American league regrets that Mickey Cochrane, on account of illness, will be unable to fulfill his assignment as manager of the American league All-Star team," said President Harridge.

"Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees has very kindly consented to carry on for Mr. Cochrane and will assume full charge of the players who will participate in the July 7 game at Boston.

"After the fan poll of the sixteen players has been announced Manager McCarthy will have the privilege of selecting five additional members of the team to complete the active list of twenty-one."

Transmutable Finally Wins; Fitter Scores

Transmutable found a horse he could catch yesterday at Hawthorne. The fleet Otto Bagley sprinter usually is out there and usually stops, but not this time. He came right around Toro Nancy, the favorite, to win the Chicago Beach purse at 4 lengths. Toro Nancy was good enough for second and Sunned finished well to land third money.

A. Fermin was up on the Old Gold stable gelding [illegible] instead of taking the lead he let Toro Nancy have it. Transmutable was in second place into the stretch and there he pulled away from the Northway stable filly with ease. His time for the six furlongs was 1:12 1-5, one of the best times of the meeting and back down the track were Recovery, Calumet Dick making his first start of the year, Chief Cherokee and South Gallant. Transmutable paid $8.

The Atlantic purse, fifth race on yesterday's program, brought out seven of the best 2 year olds and also brought about the defeat of the favorite Whiscenda. Whiscenda beat only one horse as Joseph Widener's Fitter raced to a 2 length victory over Tedall. For bearing out down the stretch Tedall was disqualified and second money given to Gin Daisy, with Frisco Kid landing third. The Widener filly made it two out of three starts, running the five and a half furlongs in 1:07 4-5 with Buddy Haas up. She was second choice and paid $6.20.

Baby Talk had the most ambitious of the last minute trials for the Derby. Bradley's colt went seven furlongs in 1:29 4-5 handily yesterday morning. Holl Image was out for a breezing half in :50, and Sir Jim James checked in from Detroit to go the half in :53 3-5 breezing. Doran went three furlongs in :35 3-5, and Carvola the same route in :36.

Paul Waggoner, owner with his brother Guy of the Three D's Stock farm at Arlington, Tex., is at Hawthorne to see his Irish Ford run in the Derby. E. W. Duffy of Detroit is also here to watch his Sir Jim James perform.

Nellie Flag, Warren Wright's fine filly, worked out between races yesterday afternoon and showed a fine burst of speed. Nellie is pointed for the Illinois Owners' handicap next Saturday at Hawthorne. She was timed for the mile in 1:40, her fractions being :24 2-5, :47 4-5, 1:13, and 1:26.

Jocky J. Dobson was suspended for the remainder of the Hawthorne meeting by the stewards after the running of the second race yesterday. The charge was rough riding on Bird's Eye, which caused Sailor's Gift to go down with Jocky James. The apprentice was only shaken up and resumed riding in the fourth race.

MR. BONES IS FAVORITE FOR DWYER STAKES

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—Mr. Bones, John Hay Whitney's colt which was beaten only a nose in the Belmont Stakes, is one of half a dozen starters in tomorrow's renewal of the $11,000 Dwyer Stakes feature at Aqueduct.

At a mile and an eighth for 3 year olds, the Dwyer has long been one of the country's famous races for horses of that age. Counting in the renewals of the Brooklyn Derby under which name the race was run for years, the running tomorrow will be the forty-eighth.

While the Whitney colt is a standout favorite as the result of his Belmont performance, the field is a strong one and includes several possibilities for an upset. For one thing Jean Bart, which went along head and head with Mr. Bones in the Belmont only to sulk when asked for speed, is another entered and has three pounds less to carry than Mr. Bones.

The other probable starters are Gene Canach, Memory Book, Pullman, and Excite—the last two named being generally considered sprinters rather than route runners.

SIR ORACLE, quick to begin and under light pressure early, came around VIAJERO when responding to severe punishment in the stretch and drew out fast in the final eighth. SKEETER, never a great distance back, held on well.

Went to post at 2:49½. LUCY T., brought over sharply soon after the start, bore out slightly after reaching the turn and weakened after opening up a good lead, but lasted. INFLAME, forced back when racing on the inside in the first quarter, improved and probably much the best, lost much ground on stretch turn and closing resolutely in a fine effort appeared unlucky to lose. RALPH C., slow to begin, closed well.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25. [Daily double, first and third races, paid $66.00.]

Went to post at 3:17. At post 4 minutes. HOUR ZEV raced wide, improved his position gradually and wearing down DOUBLE NUGGET drew out slowly thereafter. Latter, taken back sharply as WEELUKIE came over on the turn, was rushed to the lead when approcahing the stretch and held on well, though failing to hold the winner.

Went to post at 3:46. At post 4¼ minutes. MISS RITZ, displaying keen speed from start and saving ground throughout, opened up a good lead in the first quarter, continued strongly, but under light urging to the final eighth, and weakened thereafter barely lasted. OUTPUT, forced to lose much ground, bettered her position gradually and finished with determination; would have headed the winner in another stride.

FIFTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25.

Winner trained by D. E. Stewart. Went to post at 4:17. FITTER raced wide throughout and close to the early pace, offered good response to strong urging when straight in the stretch and after slowly shaking off GIN DAISY entering the final eighth drew out fast. TEDALL, never far back and also responding when called upon, came through on inside in the drive, had headed GIN DAISY when he impeded latter as he swerved out sharply in the final seventy yards, but was disqualified for the foul. GIN DAISY, much used to force the pace and under punishment after reaching the stretch, weakened in the final eighth and appeared beaten for second when impeded by TEDALL.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

New York, June 19.—Dear Wake: Looking over my Indian relics reminds me of back before the '70s and for some years thereafter when a small colony of these people resided here in Chicago with others drifting in occasionally to visit.

The bucks had a habit of begging from door to door for money or anything else which took their fancy. The squaws squatted around in prominent places, principally at entrances to railroad depots and other public buildings, with great baskets of novelties of their own make, mostly beadwork, some of which was very attractive.

I have an old pair of finely beaded moccasins of the Blackfeet Indians made by a squaw who was, by name history, known as "Mrs. Dog Without A Belly."

Indian Mary, a good looking squaw, was more up to date. She would doff her wearing apparel weekdays, which included a bright red blanket over her head and shoulders, and for Sunday dress up, making a fine appearance when she attended church at old St. Mary's, southwest corner of Madison and Wabash.

Chas. E. Jennings.

I was born in Chicago in 1855 and lived there for 70 years. A Helper recently mentioned the postoffice being in the church on Wabash at Harrison. I remember when that church went up in the second big fire, about 1873.

I was standing in front of the office building of Dibble Cornice company, watching the fire shoot up the steeple of the church. It became so hot we moved back fifteen feet and as we turned around the cornice came down with a crash just where we had been standing.

Do you remember when Lake Michigan was full of ice way beyond the old crib? I walked out to the crib from North avenue on the ice one year as late as April 6. It's so long ago I've forgotten the year.

One of the little things Carter "Haitch" did not include in "The Stormy Years" appeared in a Chicago newspaper at the time. The Democrats presented a ticket more than usually odorous in its personnel. One of the "leg man" reporters on election night asked the then mayor if he had voted the ticket straight and the reply between puffs of the old briar came, "Yes, I held my nose and voted it."—Baldy.

Cubs Idle as Dodgers Plan Double Header

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 19.—Officials of the Brooklyn club succumbed today to the double-header malady, so the Cubs were forced into idleness for the second straight afternoon. The sky was somewhat hazy and the Dodger bosses decided it would be profitable to cancel the scheduled game in favor of a bargain bill Sunday.

The Cub executives won't mind the business increase the double-header may bring, the club not having drawn much either at home or abroad thus far, but Mr. Charley Grimm's athletes took a different view of the matter. They have a 13 game winning streak on their hands and hopes for increasing it are high, so they don't care about delays or interruptions which might cause a break in their luck. While the going is good they want to be in action.

They Can Stand 'Em.

The Cubs actually shouldn't display any anguish over an accumulation of double-headers. They can stand quite a few more without endangering their cause, at least not as long as present conditions prevail. Manager Grimm has six pitchers of whom he can be reasonably sure of a good showing any time they start. With a layout of this type he can handle two double-headers in a series without disrupting the staf. No other club in the league, contender or otherwise, is as comfortably fixed. Of course, there is a possibility that one or more of Grimm's six stalwarts might suddenly revert to the jittery form they displayed up to two weeks ago.

The one worry the Cubs have, and they actually talk at length among themselves on this subject, is just what might happen to their combination if Billy Herman should encounter a severe injury. Ken O'Dea's work in the last ten games has blasted the argument that Gabby Hartnett is indispensable. But Herman's removal for any length of time would be different. He's not only the main cog in the machine, but there is nobody available to take his place.

It's Lee's Turn.

Bill Judges, the regular shortstop, who has done practically nothing since he suffered an injury to his throwing arm on April 30, reports himself almost physically perfect.

Sox Defeat Athletics in Thirteenth, 5-4

vich was out trying to steal second.

In the third inning Kennedy varied his custom of putting the first batsman on base. He made Moses pop to Appling. Then he walked Puccinelli. Higgins singled to center, Puccinelli stopping at second. After Johnson had flied to Kreevich, Newsome walked, filling the bases. Hayes singled to center, scoring Puccinelli and Higgins with the tying runs. Newsome beat Kreevich's throw to Dykes at third, but when Hayes tried to reach second he was out on Dykes' throw to Appling.

The Sox resumed the lead in the fourth when Haas again batted in Radcliff. Radcliff was safe when Dietrich failed to touch first after receiving a toss from Finney. Radcliff reached second while Dietrich was throwing out Piet and scored on Haas' single to center.

Vern Becomes Confused.

Johnson, the Athletics lead off man in the sixth, opened with a single and reached third on a wild pitch. He could have scored had he noticed that Kennedy forgot to cover home. Johnson held third while Piet threw out Newsome, after which Hayes walked. The Athletics then put on a sort of delayed squeeze to tie the score, the success depending on Kennedy's confusion in fielding his position.

CITY PLUNGES INTO PROBLEM OF HANDLING RELIEF

Chicago took the first steps yesterday to handle a new and a difficult job — taking care of the needy. The city council created a new position, commissioner of relief, and Mayor Kelly appointed to the job Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

After July 1, only eleven days away, the IERC will be only a shell of its former self, a mere distributing agency for the state sales tax revenue that goes to relief. The real job of administering relief in Cook county will pass into the hands of the city of Chicago and the townships outside of the city. About 90,000 families are on relief in Chicago.

Need $3,000,000 Monthly.

To support its relief families after July 1 in the style to which they have been accustomed the city will need $3,000,000 a month. Where that much money can be found is still a mystery and a source of worry for city officials.

They can count on $1,200,000 a month from the city's share in that third of the sales tax that is at present alloted for relief. They can count on $400,000 a month from a tax of 30 cents on each $100 of property valuation, a tax which must be levied after July 1 if the city is to receive its share of the sales tax.

But adding $1,200,000 and $400,000 makes only $1,600,000, so the city faces a monthly shortage of $1,400,000 if it undertakes to continue paying $3,000,000 to support the jobless.

Hope for Increase Fades.

One hope for a method of meeting part of this shortage rose early yesterday but it faded quickly during the day. At 2 a. m. the state senate passed and sent to Gov. Horner a bill which would increase from one-third to one-half the sales tax funds devoted to relief purposes.

Under this bill the city would get about $1,800,000 a month, and this sum with the $400,000 from the property tax would be sufficient, Mayor Kelly said, "to worry along" for a period. "But," he added, "we would be forced to cut relief. If the governor vetoes this bill he will have to show us the way out."

Dispatches from Springfield indicated the governor was contemplating a veto. His discovered technical difficulties in the measure which statehouse observers said would give him an excuse to kill the bill on the ground that it made no provision for disbursements from the emergency relief fund. Moreover, it was discovered that an act converting the relief commission into an allocating agency after July 1 limits to $2,000,000 the amount it could appropriate in any one month.

With the legislature adjourned until Aug. 4, the problem for July appeared to be a muddle. Mayor Kelly expressed the view that the technical difficulties in the way of the bill might be overcome.

Sees Chance for Credit.

"If Gov. Horner signs the bill," the mayor said, "I am hopeful that we could get an opinion from the attorney general so we could get credit on the basis of the bill, despite lack of a companion appropriation measure."

Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], a member of the relief subcommittee of the city council, said that if Horner vetoed the bill, it would be "the most dastardly act possible against Chicago's destitute." Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the subcommittee, said he believed Horner would rather sign it than accept responsibility for consequences of a veto.

Behind the bitterness of city officials over the present relief crisis lies an old quarrel with the governor. They have contended that the sales tax has been yielding the state about 48 million dollars a year after a third of the tax is diverted to relief. This 48 million dollars, they argue, is almost twice as large as the state's income from the old state property tax.

Urge Two-Thirds for Relief.

Therefore, the city officials have contended that more of the sales tax money should go for relief purposes. They have urged that two-thirds, instead of one-third, should go for relief. In that case the city would receive $2,400,000 a month, and with $400,000 from the new property tax would have available for relief a total of $2,800,000 a month.

The governor charged the Chicagoans with trying to raid the state treasury, even when Chicago's demands were reduced from two-thirds to one-half of the sales tax funds—all funds collected in the city of Chicago. The result was the bill now awaiting the governor's approval, or veto, which would make it possible for the city to spend $2,200,000 a month for relief.

What Requirements Are.

Whether the city gets $1,600,000 a month, as under the present setup, or $2,200,000, as under the bill before Gov. Horner, or $2,800,000, as under the proposed diversion of two-thirds of the sales tax funds, in each case the income would be below monthly relief requirements. These were listed yesterday as follows:

With full relief budgets, including rent payments, $3,600,000.

With full relief budgets, but without rent payments, $3,060,000.

With 30 per cent reductions in family budgets, but with rent payments, $2,520,000.

Present expenditures, with rent payments in emergency cases, and a 12 per cent cut in family budgets, $3,000,000.

Robert G. Becker, Real Estate Operator, Dies

Robert G. Becker, 44 years old, 190 East Pearson street, trustee of the Burnham building at 160 North LaSalle street, died yesterday at the Presbyterian hospital of cerebral hemorrhage. He had been active in the real estate business in Chicago for more than 20 years, and was formerly president of the Court Building corporation, which owned the Burnham building. ORDERS SILENCE FOR WPA HEADS IN STATE COURTS

Need O. K. to Testify, Hopkins Says.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—It was revealed today that Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, on June 2 issued an order to state WPA administrators instructing them not to give testimony in state courts on the ground that federal officers are not subject to state jurisdiction.

In orders to state administrators Mr. Hopkins said:

"No officer or employé of the Works Progress administration shall furnish any information or make available any official document or paper, or copy thereof, to any person, except persons having official business with Works Progress administration.

On Chief's Orders Only.

"In all cases where documents or records are subpenaed, the issuing officer or body shall be informed that such documents can be furnished only upon order of the federal administrator and that the request should be addressed to him.

"In all cases where a Works Progress administration officer or employé is requested to testify in regard to matters of an official or confidential character knowledge of which was acquired in his official capacity, he shall respectfully decline to answer," the order continued.

Job Provisions Changed.

Administration officials moved today to eliminate a focal point of criticism against the federal works program by deciding that it is no longer necessary for WPA job seekers to go on local relief rolls.

To local officials, not connected with WPA, henceforth will be left the task of deciding what needy persons shall be certified for WPA jobs, Hopkins decided today. He ruled that needy persons need not go on relief rolls to get federal work jobs, but established a standard of need which must be met.

Until now, only those persons on local relief rolls prior to Nov. 1, 1935, were eligible for federal work jobs. They were certified for employment by the United States employment service. The new relief bill now before President Roosevelt provides that those "needy" not yet on relief rolls shall be eligible for WPA jobs.

HOPKINS ASSURES SELF AUDIENCE FOR RADIO TALK

Illinois' 160,000 Works Progress administration pay rollers have received postage-free postal cards on which to indicate whether or not they listen this afternoon to the nationally broadcast radio address of Harry L. Hopkins, WPA chief, in Washington. Robert J. Dunham, state WPA administrator, is in the capital to take part in Hopkins' program. The postal cards are addressed to Dunham.

The worker checks on the card the fact that he heard Hopkins, that he has prospects of a private job after a date [which he must fill in] or that he has no such chance and hopes WPA will continue.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Strangler Lewis vs. Sally Rand Next battle on the broadcast band.

The matter of Joe Louis vs. Maxie Schmeling having been surprisingly settled, fight fans tonight may give their attention to a duel Smith Ballew has arranged for The Château broadcast over WMAQ-NBC at 8:30 p. m. Strangler Lewis bowed to the will of Sally, who suggested that this encounter be kept on a vocal plane. Thus the great wrassler assures himself of defeat before starting, La Rand being just as adept with syllables as fans. The subject matter of this impossible interview has been kept secret.

While on the subject of fighters, James J. Braddock apparently was plenty scared on Ed Wynn's program the other night. All of his answers to Ed's questions were written out, but he was so nervous he read the wrong lines. But Braddock has improved, at that. A year or so back Al Jolson announced that he would interview him on the air. When the program finally came off they decided it would be better merely to have James J. punch the bag. That is all he did and it was indeed a unique radio item.

When Maj. Bowes moves his gang to CBS in the fall it is likely they will be heard from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m., which will give them the last half of the Show Boat hour and the first half of Bing Crosby's as competition. Horace Heidt is now in the 9 to 9:30 period on CBS, but is switching the first of the month to the 7 p. m. Monday period on this network. Time for Eddie Cantor's fall CBS series also has been set. He will return on Sunday, Sept. 20, with a half hour program running from 7:30 to 8.

Fred Waring is scouting around for a musical aggregation that can take over his sponsored programs for four weeks in August so his crew can take a vacation. The line forms at the right and no crowding, please. . . . Wayne King will also take a month's vacation this summer.

Vivian Della Chiesa will be presented as guest soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra conducted by Eric DeLamarter in the first of the series of summer concerts in Grant park Wednesday evening, July 1. These free concerts will be broadcast over W-G-N and Mutual, and NBC and CBS networks.

RYERSON NIECE TO GET $50,000 OF HUGE ESTATE

Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court yesterday ordered the Northern Trust company, trustee of the estate of the late Martin A. Ryerson, to pay a $50,000 bequest to Ryerson's niece, Mrs. Julia 1. Juhn of Ouchy, Switzerland.

Mr. Ryerson, a steel executive, died on Aug. 11, 1932, leaving an estate of $4,000,000. He willed the greater part of an extensive art collection to the Art institute of Chicago. In carrying out provisions of the will, the trust company withheld the bequest to Mrs. Juhn on the ground that during his lifetime Mr. Ryerson had made her cash advances which exceeded the amount of the bequest.

Judge Fisher held that in making his will a short time before his death, Mr. Ryerson had not intended that the bequest to Mrs. Juhn should be offset by earlier gifts.

She continued, however, to keep up her interest in the world's affairs, reading the newspapers and listening to radio broadcasts daily until a short time ago.

WAVE OF BUYING PUTS GRAINS AT SEASON'S PEAKS

Trading Is Heaviest in Many Months.

A wave of buying swept into the grain pits on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, carrying all deliveries with the exception of July wheat and oats to new high levels for the season. Trading was the heaviest in many months and speculative enthusiasm reached fever heat at times.

Wheat closed more than 4 cents a bushel higher and came within ¼ cent of the maximum 5 cent limit allowed for one day's trading shortly before the close. Corn was whirled up more than 2 cents, oats gained in excess of a cent and the advance in rye amounted to nearly 4 cents. Except for momentary steadiness at the opening, the market was higher throughout the day.

Quotations Behind Trading.

Price changes were so rapid at times that blackboard quotations fell behind actual prices in the pits.

Pit traders, who have seen business dwindle steadily in the last few months, were taken by surprise. The market recently has moved lazily and changes in quotations have been slow. When the rush of buying got under way yesterday wheat prices bounded up a half cent a bushel with practically no transactions recorded. Supplies offered were insufficient to meet the demand and buyers were forced to elevate their bids to fill orders.

The basis for the upturn seemed to be a general realization of damage to the spring wheat crop and its critical condition. Buying flowed in from all sides and public participation was exceptionally broad.

Report Bewilders Traders.

Issuance of a special government crop report bewildered traders. Not in the memory of even the oldest broker has any supplement to the regular monthly estimate been issued. Many viewed the move as a peculiar link in a chain of circumstances which occurred during the day.

The damage suffered by spring wheat has been known for some time and daily reports of private crop experts have confirmed or enlarged upon it. The market's reaction, however, had not been material.

But early yesterday, before the rank and file of traders had received any inkling that the department was about to break all precedents, spectacular buying appeared. Shortly thereafter disclosure was made that the report would appear at 11 o'clock.

Prices React After Report.

Speculators construed the announcement as a bullish influence and rushed to make purchases, but when the report appeared it proved to be a dud marketwise for a time, and prices reacted a cent before another rally set in.

Later in the day reports appeared from the winter wheat belt of the southwest that the recent heat wave is likely to adversely affect filling of the growing crop. Kansas City responded immediately, prices shooting skyward and carrying the July future up 5 cents, the limit for the day. July wheat in the Minneapolis market also gained this amount.

Trade in corn also increased sharply in sympathy with the activity in wheat and in response to hot weather over the belt. Outside speculative volume was the largest for many weeks, while local professionals purchased large amounts and cash brokers bought substantial quantities. Commercial demand for cash corn was heavy, shipping sales for the day amounting to 165,000 bushels.

Closing prices of principal September futures here follow:

	Yester.	Thursday.	Wk. ago.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$0.92⅞	$0.88½	$0.85½	$0.81⅛
Corn	.63⅛	.60⅝	.58¼	.75⅝
Oats	.28⅞	.27⅞	.25⅛	.33¾
Rye	.61⅞	.58¼	.55⅝	.47⅝

Experts' Reports Pessimistic.

Reports of local experts who are touring the spring wheat belt were again exceedingly pessimistic about the condition of the crop.

Typical was one from R. O. Cromwell of Lamson Brothers & Co., who wired that conditions in several Montana counties representing a million acres of spring wheat indicate 50 per cent of the acreage will produce only 3 to 4 bushels per acre, 20 per cent will not be harvested and 30 per cent will produce a maximum of 12 to 15 bushels. He said two days of high temperature would reduce the prospect to a point where only enough wheat for next year's seeding would be harvested.

WINNIPEG PRICES RISE.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 19.—[Special.]—Substantial export and other good buying today lifted Winnipeg wheat prices almost 3 cents. The December delivery made a new record for the season at 82 cents. Winnipeg exporters and the wheat board said 1,500,000 bushels were sold, considerable of which was for United States mills.

The background for the spectacular advance of the market was the drouth conditions in the United States spring wheat areas.

Long Transportation Firm Leases Site for Terminal

The Long Transportation company of Chicago and Detroit has leased 16,000 square feet of land at 2121 South Throop street and announces that work will be started at once on a new terminal and office building. The new structure is planned to permit eighteen trucks to load at the same time, according to J. J. Harrington & Co., brokers in the transaction.

U. S. Report Says Drouth Perils Crops

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—A warning that crop conditions are critical as the result of searing heat and drouth was issued today by the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture.

"Prospects for spring grains and hay crops declined during the first half of June and pastures have also been adversely affected by dry weather," the official statement said.

Issuance of the statement was unusual in that reports have never been given out in the past other than the regular monthly estimates released about the tenth of each month. The action was explained by one official, who said:

"The situation is critical and we thought the the people should know about it."

Poor Outlook in Northwest.

While not specifically mentioning spring wheat, which has been heavily damaged as the result of drouth and heat, the report commented on the poor outlook in western North Dakota and eastern Montana. In northeastern Wyoming, the statement said, crops have had only partial relief.

Attention was directed particularly to North Dakota, the leading producer of spring wheat. In the eastern part of the state rainfall in May was only 42 per cent of normal, while in the western half it was 28 per cent. For the first eighteen days of June eastern North Dakota had 31 per cent of normal precipitation and the western part received 32 per cent.

"These areas," the bureau warned, "must have rains at once if the crops are to be saved at all."

Ohio Valley Crops Deteriorate.

"Prospects for the oat and hay crops have been declining rather rapidly in the Ohio valley area," the report continued, "and dry conditions prevail in most of the whole area stretching from central New York and southeastern Nebraska southward to central Georgia and the Rio Grande river.

"Corn, although threatened in some areas, does not appear to have suffered seriously as yet, and prospects for most field crops have probably improved in the far northwest, in much of the southwest, and in parts of other states where rainfall has been adequate during June."

Weather bureau records disclose that in eighteen principal states the rainfall for the first eighteen days of June ranged from 9 to 60 per cent of normal.

Crop Estimate Due July 10.

The first official estimate of spring wheat production will be made July 10. The condition on June 1, according to the government's estimate, was 66.9 per cent of normal, compared with 85.2 per cent on the same date a year ago, and 43.3 per cent on June 1, 1934, when the nation was in the midst of the greatest drouth ever recorded. The average condition on June 1 from 1923 to 1932 was 82.7 per cent of normal.

While the last government statement made no official prediction of indicated output, the report said the condition figures indicated a crop around 200,000,000 bushels.

SECOND QUARTER AUTO OUTPUT IS SECOND LARGEST

Second quarter automobile production will be the largest on record for the period with the single exception of 1929, Ward's Automotive Reports predicted yesterday. This agency estimated output in excess of 1,434,000 units for the current three months. This would represent a gain of 25.7 per cent over the first quarter and 16.5 per cent over the 1935 period.

Production this week amounted to 100,161 units, the agency said. Last week 98,560 cars and trucks rolled from assembly lines.

Ward's said production of General Motors amounted to 45,186 units, Ford turned out 19,750 and Chrysler produced 23,275. The same agency also placed May sales of all passenger cars at 400,000 and trucks at 60,000. June deliveries, it said, will total 430,000.

CIGARET OUTPUT IN MAY HIGHEST FOR THREE YEARS

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—Cigaret production in May rose to 12,024,856,000 from 11,868,000,000 in April and 11,708,000,000 in May, 1935, it was reported today. It was the highest May production since 1933.

Large cigar production was 419,369,234 in May, a gain of 2.7 per cent over 407,731,360 for the same month last year. Imports from the Philippines were 13,936,987 for May, against 15,071,173 a year ago; from Porto Rico, 3,518,375, against 4,448,210.

Domestic output of chewing and smoking tobacco for May was 24,994,224 pounds, against 27,417,915 in May, 1935. Snuff manufactured in May aggregated 3,106,057 pounds, against 3,184,969 a year ago.

The output of playing cards increased by 19 per cent over a year ago, amounting to 2,604,564 packs in May, against 2,176,350 in May, 1935.

Wayne Pump Co. Reports Sharp Gain in Net Profit

New York, June 19.—(AP)—Wayne Pump company today reported consolidated net profit of $508,087, before federal taxes, for the six months ended May 31, equivalent to $2.78 a share on the capital stock. This compares with $149,063, before federal taxes, or 71 cents a share for the six months ended May 31, 1935.

HOUSEWIVES DEMAND STREAMLINED STEAKS, MEAT HANDLERS FIND

Demand for "streamlined" steaks has revolutionized the marketing of live stock, Everett Brown, treasurer of the National Live Stock and Meat board, said at the annual meeting of the board yesterday in the Stevens hotel.

"The housewives of today would not be satisfied with the cuts of meat which were purchased by their mothers and grandmothers," Brown said. "In this streamline age they demand streamlined cuts of beef, pork, and lamb.

"Steaks, for example, are sold from 1 to 1¼ pounds, compared with 2 to 3 pounds a few years ago. Because of such household conveniences as the refrigerator and the telephone the housewife wants smaller cuts of meat and buys her meat more often.

"The demand on the part of the housewife for smaller cuts has really been responsible for a revolution in live stock production practices," he continued. "Instead of 4, 5, and 6 year old steers which formerly came to market we now find that the majority are yearlings or 2 year olds. Hogs also come to market at lighter weights and lambs predominate in shipments sent to market by sheep producers."

America consumes meat at the rate of seventeen tons per minute—and meat constitutes the main item in an American food budget of 7 billion dollars, said Brown.

CHICAGO GRAIN PIT SEAT SOLD BY LIVERMORE

Jesse L. Livermore, once known as the "boy plunger" of Wall street and a veteran of the trading pits in securities and commodities, has sold his membership on the Chicago Board of Trade. This was disclosed yesterday in a simple announcement of the grain board that his seat had been posted for transfer.

While some professed to see in his retirement a desire to get out of the grain market before the recently enacted commodity exchange bill, which can control operations of big operators, goes into effect, others thought his action resulted from continual refusal of the board to reinstate Livermore, who was suspended from trading privileges on May 6, 1934.

The board took action after the veteran trader entered voluntary bankruptcy in New York. It was his second appearance in bankruptcy courts. Before the war he went broke to come back later and win another fortune. In the last twenty years, by his own estimate, he has been insolvent several times but each time he has staged a comeback.

BUYING OF GRAIN NOT DELIVERABLE RULED GAMBLING

St. Paul, Minn., June 19.—(AP)—The State Supreme court ruled today that grain trading, where the buyer does not intend to accept delivery of grain purchased, is gambling.

The ruling reversed a Hennepin county District court verdict in favor of the Becher-Barrett-Lockerby company, Minneapolis, brokerage firm, which had sued guarantors for Joe Hilbert, New Rockford, N. D., farmer to recover $1,637.76 he lost in trading transactions carried on through the company.

The court, in its ruling, called attention to letters stating specifically that Hilbert did not intend to accept delivery of grain purchased for his account. It added that "the evidence compels a conclusion that the transaction out of which arose the alleged guarantee here sued upon was a gambling transaction and not a contract by which the parties contemplated the delivery of grain."

Franc Rallies on Rebuff to Devaluation

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—The declaration of his program by Finance Minister Auriol of France today, involving a strong rejection of devaluation and the threat of penalties against hoarders and those who have sent capital abroad strengthened the franc in the foreign exchange market.

The French currency rose above its gold export point, closing at 6.58⅝, up ¼ point, and the discount on future francs was reduced 4 points to 46¼ points. This improvement, however, did not prevent the further engagement of $6,335,000 gold in Paris for shipment here. In addition, $1,018,000 gold was taken in London and $200,000 in India, bringing the day's total engagements to $7,553,000.

Gold Influx 398 Millions.

Since April 24, when the flow of gold to this country began, a total of $398,000,000 has been engaged abroad of which $323,200,000 has been taken in France and $46,100,000 in Holland. To date $347,600,000 of the total has been received; $50,400,000 is on the way. No imports of gold were received here today.

The stronger tone in the franc helped other gold bloc currencies, while the pound sterling, which has lately been forced up by flight of capital from continental Europe, declined ¾ cent to $5.02¼. The guilder gained 5 points to 67.65 cents, and the Swiss franc was up 9 points to 32.44 cents. The belga rose ½ point to 16.92 cents. This was the first time recently that all gold bloc currencies were safely above the export level.

Bankers Skeptical of Program.

Bankers here were skeptical as to how the French public would respond to the government's efforts to penalize hoarding and flight of capital. It was felt that the industrial workers might back such a program but that there would be resistance under present circumstances on the part of ment of great wealth, and that the rural population, steeped in ancient habits of hoarding, might not support the government if it became too drastic.

There were grave doubts here that the program Auriol suggested would leave the government free to pursue its recovery plans, involving public spending, reduced working hours, paid vacations, and other increase in labor costs, while still attempting to defend the franc at its present gold parity.

The French proposal to commandeer the foreign assets of her nationals attracted considerable attention in the foreign exchange markets. Estimates placed the aggregate of French capital now being safeguarded in the British and American markets at about $2,000,000,000.

Buying Boom Predicted by Advertising Leader

St. Paul, Minn., June 19.—(AP)—Executives of 17 daily newspapers in five northwestern states were told today by John Benson, New York advertising expert, that a buying boom is coming to American business. A "vacuum of wants" that has been expanding steadily in the last six years "no longer can stand the pressure, and people are going to begin buying," said Benson, president of the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

NEWSPAPERS RECEIVE MAJOR SHARE OF SUMS SPENT IN ADVERTISING

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—Newspapers received the major share of national advertising expenditures in 1935, the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' association announced today in its annual survey.

The survey, based on a study of the advertising budgets of 387 companies, shows their combined expenditure of $231,107,948 in the three principal mediums—newspapers, magazines, and chain broadcasts—was apportioned as follows:

Newspapers, $134,440,000, or 58.2 per cent.

Magazines, $61,943,228, or 26.8 per cent.

Chain broadcasts, $34,724,720, or 15 per cent.

Twenty-two of the 33 trade groups listed in the survey favored newspapers over the other two mediums.

"As in the past," the survey says, "food, automotive, and tobacco products continued to be the leading trade groups in advertising expenditures in 1935. In all three groups newspapers received by far the major portion of the budget."

Nine of 11 leading automobile companies for which comparable figures were available, the survey reports, substantially increased their newspaper expenditure over the 1934 figures.

CHARGES FALSE CLAIMS IN FOX BANKRUPT CASE

Atlantic City, N. J., June 19.—[Special.]—Hearings on the $9,000,000 bankruptcy case of William Fox, movie magnate, which opened here today, was enlivened by a charge by Samuel B. Stewart Jr., attorney, that some of the claims on file are "false and fictitious."

"Some of these corporations that have filed claims," declared Stewart, who said he was representing a group of creditors, "are corporations organized by Mr. Fox to put his assets out of the reach of creditors."

As an example, Stewart asserted the All-Continent Corp., one of the companies which has filed claims, has members of Fox's family as its officers and is dominated by Fox.

Walter Henstein, a representative of the Chicago Title and Trust Co., argued before Federal Referee Robert E. Steedle that Fox should be examined "to disclose his connection with candidates for trusteeship" before any trustee is appointed.

CALLS HOUSING ACT THREAT TO HOME OWNERS

One of the most direct threats yet made against the rights of property owners is contained in the Wagner housing act as it now stands, according to L. A. McLean, president of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America, who spoke yesterday at that organization's annual executive meeting in the Palmer house.

"The fact that large scale housing projects actually could be initiated by the federal government in a community without consulting local authorities as to their economic soundness carries a dangerous potential threat to property owners," he asserted.

"It would be the wisest course for congress to delay action on this measure until the next session, when more time could be given to research and discussion."

COURT ACCEPTS 77B PETITION IN TRACTION FIGHT

Security Holders' Approval Needed.

Opponents of the Abbott plan for reorganization of the Chicago street car companies yesterday won a point in their legal fight to prevent consumation of the plan. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson permitted the filing of a petition to reorganize the properties under section 77B of the bankruptcy act, but warned attorneys filing the action that they must convince security holders that their plan is preferable to that already proposed by the Abbott committee and approved by 90 per cent of the bondholders.

JUDGE WILKERSON

The petition was filed by the Chicago Title and Trust company, as trustee for the common stock holders of the Chicago Railways company, owner of the north and west side lines.

Opposed as Inequitable.

The terms of the reorganization already proposed have been opposed by the stockholders of that company as inequitable. Certain bondholders are also opposed to the plan.

Judge Wilkerson set a hearing for June 24 on a motion to approve the 77B petition as filed in good faith. He will also hold hearings on motions to confirm the master's sale under which all the surface line properties were bid in by security holders for $33,100,000 as a legal step in the Abbott plan.

Each of the groups opposing the plan will be given a hearing, Judge Wilkerson said. The court was informed that twelve different sets of objections to the Abbott plan have been filed by various groups.

Modifications Sought.

Among the objections filed yesterday was a petition drawn by the law firm of Carpenter, Nelthor, and Scolnik on behalf of holders of more than $1,500,000 of bonds and asking certain modifications in the terms proposed by the Abbott committee.

The petition asked that income bonds be substituted for preferred stock which certain junior security holders would receive under the Abbot plan. The petition also seeks the creation of a "variable sinking fund" and the "fixing of the rate of interest of the proposed new bonds at less than 5 per cent."

Among the bondholders represented by the firm are David A. Noyes, head of the brokerage firm bearing his name. Noyes is the owner of $588,000 of bonds. Another objector is Fred Breit, holder of $254,000.

Objections were also filed by the law firm of Montgomery, Hart, Pritchard, and Herriott on behalf of the Investment association, Inc., of New York, with bond holdings of $500,000. These objectors criticize the plan as inequitable.

Inland Steel Exchanging Stock for Milcor Concern

The exchange of stock through which Inland Steel company will acquire the Milcor Steel company of Milwaukee, is expected to be completed by July 1, officials of Inland Steel said yesterday. Under terms of the plan the stockholders of Milcor, an independent concern, will receive 59,000 shares of Inland Steel with a present market value of approximately $5,716,000 for their 89,693 present shares.

Rail Speedster Hits 91 Miles on Denver Run

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Denver, Colo., June 19.—[Special.]—After an easy run across the western plains, the new North Western-Union Pacific streamliner, City of Denver, hit a top speed of 91 miles an hour as it approached the front range of the Rocky mountains. The train was making its first 16 hour trip from Chicago to Denver and arrived at its destination on time to the second.

This $1,200,000 de luxe train, which with its sister streamliner is said to be the most luxurious train ever built, made its initial trip with something of the festive air of an ocean liner on its maiden voyage. Its lounges have all the luxurious equipment of a steamer.

Head of Road in Cab.

President Fred W. Sargent of the North Western, Joseph A. Rushton, La Salle street broker, and a small group spent a considerable part of the night riding in the huge cab of the 2,400 horse power Diesel-electric locomotive. The cab is set back about 14 feet from the nose of the forward power car and is high above it.

Passengers in the cab had the feeling of riding in a giant automobile. But there was this big difference: traveling in an automobile at 83 miles per hour at night the passengers know they are riding fast. In the big Diesel-electric there is no sensation of speed. Even at 83 miles per hour one appears to be crawling. Curves are taken with little side motion. These new locomotives are noteworthy for their absence of speed thrills.

Train Cuts Running Expense.

On this 1,048 mile trip, which was made at an average speed of 65½ miles per hour, the huge Diesel engines consumed about 2,600 gallons of fuel oil costing 4 cents a gallon, making the fuel cost about $104. A steam locomotive hauling a ten car standard train of similar capacity would have used 52 tons at $4 a ton, or $208 for the coal cost.

However, the Diesel-electric used about 250 gallons of lubricating oil at 45 cents a gallon, a total cost of $112.50, as contrasted with the ten gallons at 50 cents, or $5, which a steam locomotive uses.

HUMBLES "OLD LIMITED."

Because the slower steam powered Overland Limited, one time crack train and pride of the North Western-Union Pacific lines, couldn't get out of the way fast enough the eastbound streamliner City of Denver was fourteen minutes late yesterday morning in arriving at the North Western station in its initial run from Denver.

A faulty driving rod delayed the Overland Limited near Chicago. The speedy streamliner was forced to use the westbound track to pass it and was unable to make its scheduled arrival at 10:20 Chicago time.

New York Central Tests Train.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 19.—(AP)—The New York Central joined the railroads that have gone in for streamlining by trotting out today The Mercury, a seven car steam propelled train that will be placed in service next month between Cleveland and Detroit.

The train was sent over a trial run today between Indianapolis and Sheff, Ind., and was subjected to various tests during the round trip of 200 miles. Between Lebanon and Indianapolis the train attained 92.4 miles per hour.

Goldblatt Brothers Take Bids for Store Addition

Bids are being taken by Goldblatt Brothers for a three story side addition east of the three and five story Goldblatt Department store at 1611 West Chicago avenue. It will be 26x121 feet, with terra cotta front. Alfred S. Alschuler, Inc., is architect. Bids also are being taken on a new terra cotta front to the three story section of the store.

PACKERS SEEK RETURN OF 100 MILLION TAXES

Declare Processing Levies Illegal.

Swift & Co. and Cudahy Packing company yesterday took steps to recover processing taxes paid to the federal government under the defunct agricultural adjustment act. A claim for $35,000,000 in taxes was filed by Swift with Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue. The Cudahy company brought suit in the federal court for the recovery of $11,909,000.

G. F. SWIFT.

The other big Chicago packers, Armour and Wilson, are expected to file claims today with the collector of internal revenue.

The total of four big Chicago companies are about 100 milion dollars. Taxes paid by Armour were approximately $40,000,000; by Wilson, $15,000,000.

40 Millions Recovered.

The companies have already recovered nearly 40 millions in tax funds impounded by the federal courts during the period when the constitutionality of the AAA was under attack.

The Cudahy suit was filed by Attorney George T. Buckingham. The company set forth that the collection of the money was unlawful, inasmuch as the act was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court. The case was assigned to Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

The Cudahy suit was the first of its kind filed in this district, although similar actions have been brought by processing companies in other parts of the country. Approximately a billion dolllars of tax funds was collected by the federal government from processors before the AAA was declared invalid.

Swift Explains Action.

G. F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., issued the following statement: "Following the action by numerous other processors similarly situated, Swift & Co. has filed a claim with the collector of internal revenue for processing taxes collected under an act held unconstitutional by the Supreme court.

"Swift & Co. is an organization built up from the savings of more than 55,000 men and women scattered all over the country. The officers and directors of the company have a direct obligation to protect the rights of these investors. The directors of the company would not have discharged their responsibilities to the shareholders if they had not acted to protect the legal rights of the company when it became apparent that other processors were taking this action."

Assistant United States District Attorney Carl E. Perkins said that the recovery suit brought by the Cudahy company would be fought strenuously by the government. If necessary the case will be taken to the Supreme court, he said.

STOCK MARKET SAG CAUSED BY PROFIT TAKING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 19.—Profit taking, induced by fears that congress in its haste to adjourn would rush through an unfavorable tax bill, unsettled the stock market list today and caused a shrinkage in prices ranging from fractions to 2 points. Traders appeared to be in a cautious mood and sales fell to 828,280 shares.

Chrysler and a few miscellaneous industrials exhibited independent strength, but in the main the list seemed to be spiritless and receded in the face of light offerings. Business news continued to lend encouragement to traders. Earnings reports and estimates were interpreted as favorable. Foreign news was ignored and little or no attention was paid to the scuttling of sanctions by Great Britain.

Rail Group Gets Setback.

For the first time in four days railroad stocks as a group recorded a loss despite the good showing of May earnings made by the first eight roads to report. Atchison, Delaware, Lackawanna, and Northern Pacific each registered losses of a point or more.

Steel shares suffered from lack of support. United States Steel and Bethlehem each closed at their low marks of the day, down 1⅝ points. In the motor division Chrysler picked up a fraction, but the rest of the list was inclined to sag. General Motors, Mack, and Packard gave up fractions.

American Telephone dropped 2 points in an unusually dull market. The weakness of the issue was attributed to proposals to cut rates in New York. Western Union was weak in sympathy, its loss for the session amounting to almost 2 points. Other utilities were fractionally lower.

Some Issues Are Stronger.

American Can, Associated Dry Goods second preferred, Owens Glass, Pacific Telephone, General Printing Ink, and Phillip Morris were among the strong spots in the list. Crosley and Zenith rose to new high levels, but Radio lost a fraction.

Case was steady in the farm implement division, but the rest of the group worked lower despite the rise in wheat. Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward lost a little ground.

Johns-Manville fell below 100 in the building group as it moved down 2¼ points. Allied Chemical was another weak spot, losing 2. Greyhound, Westinghouse, Columbia Carbon, Wright Aero, Westinghouse Air Brake, and General Refractories were in the group of stocks losing a point or more.

REPORT DOUGLAS AIRCRAFT SHOWS LARGER PROFITS

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—Buying flurries in Douglas Aircraft around current market levels are attributed in the financial district to reports that the corporation's statement for the second quarter will show improved earnings because of completion of a part of the new business that accumulated in the last six months.

For the three months ended Feb. 29 net income was nominal at only $18,185, compared with $340,297, or 73 cents a share, in the corresponding term last year. While it is difficult to estimate results for the second fiscal period, a considerable recovery is indicated, informed traders said.

Unfinished business on April 10 was $19,918,500, compared with $16,800,000 on Feb. 6 and $3,901,000 in July last year. According to one forecast, between $7,500,000 and $8,500,000 of these unfilled orders should be worked off in 1936. Last December the company received a $6,498,000 contract from the war department, which was followed in January by another from the navy department for $3,626,000.

Stocks of Refined Lead Gain Along with Output

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—Stocks of refined lead in the United States at the end of May totaled 229,409 tons, against 220,991 tons at the start of April and 225,057 tons at the beginning of May, 1935, according to the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. Shipments last month declined to a total of 33,125 tons, against 40,457 tons in the previous month and 32,341 tons in May, 1935. May lead production totaled 41,551 tons, against 38,073 tons in April and 37,358 tons in May, 1935.

OFFER NEW PLAN TO REORGANIZE CONSUMERS CO.

Trustees Inform Court of Assents to Proposal.

A substitute plan for reorganizing the Consumers company under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act was submitted yesterday to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who authorized circularization of the plan among bondholders and stockholders.

Attorney E. J. Hennessy, counsel for the trustees, informed the court that the new plan has been agreed upon by nearly 100 per cent of the security holders, and has resulted from hearings conducted over a period of months by Federal Master in Chancery Jacob I. Grossman. Judge Wilkerson ruled that acceptance of the new plan must be filed with Grossman by Aug. 1, and at the same time the court set Aug. 13 for a hearing on a motion for consumation of the plan.

Provisions of New Plan.

This plan provides for organization of a new company to take over the properties of the present concern and its subsidiaries with outstanding liabilities of approximately $25,000,000, distributed as follows: $8,044,040 in first mortgage bonds, $303,837 in unsecured notes, $6,998,500 in 6 per cent prior preferred stock, $3,681,536 in 7 per cent preferred stock, and $4,715,355 in common stock.

According to the plan, the company would issue $3,662,031 in first mortgage bonds maturing in twenty years and bearing 5 per cent interest; 86,202 shares of $50 par value preferred stock; $94,076 in unsecured notes; 38,492 shares of new class A common, $50 par value, and 59,080 shares of new class B common, no par vlue.

Present holders of $8,044,040 in first mortgage bonds would receive the $3,662,031 in new bonds and the 86,202 shares of new preferred stock, valued at $4,100,287. Holders of the $303,837 in unsecured notes would be given the $94,076 in new unsecured notes.

Exchange of Stock Provided.

Holders of the old 6 per cent prior preferred stock would get five and a half shares of class A and two and a half shares of class B common stock for every ten shares now held by them. Holders of the 7 per cent preferred stock would get seven and a half shares of class B stock for every ten shares now held. The present common stock holders would receive one share of the class B stock for every 67½ shares of common stock now held.

The plan also provides for a four-year voting trust.

COTTON SPURTS ABOVE 12 CENTS AS POOL SELLS

Report Government Gets Out of Market.

July cotton futures crossed the 12 cent level yesterday for the first time in eight months on rumors that the government had finished liquidating holdings of its producers pool. All deliveries were carried to new highs for the year.

Futures in principal domestic markets finished the day with gains ranging from 20 cents to $1.15 a bale and final prices were at or near best levels of the day.

A week ago it was announced the government held 244,000 bales of July cotton for delivery in the New York market. This cotton has been steadily sold in the last week.

Reaches High of 12.25 Cents.

During this period July cotton has advanced more than $1.50 a bale. Its high yesterday in Chicago was 12.25 cents a pound while 12.15 cents was registered in New York and 12.14 was recorded in New Orleans.

July cotton was relatively firm from the start of trading yesterday, largely as the result of short covering. This demand was supplied by liberal sales through brokers supposedly acting for the cotton producers' pool at prices ranging up to 12 cents a pound.

Recent strength in the market reflects a scarcity of spot cotton to fill the rapidly expanding demand prompted by heavier activity in textile markets. In February the government held 820,500 bales of futures contracts and with the liquidation of July holdings pool stocks have been reduced to 124,300 bales of October contracts.

Atracting More Interest.

This evidence that the government is getting out of its cotton appears to be attracting more general interest in the market, cotton brokers reported. Operations in the last two weeks have expanded materially. The market has also been helped by foreign buying, a great deal of which has emanated from France, which is thought to represent hedging against possible devaluation of the franc.

Spot markets advanced 25 points yesterday to 12.25 cents at New York and 12.10 cents in Houston, and gained 20 points to 12:30 cents in New Orleans, and 15 points to 12 cents in Galveston. Range of prices in principal markets follows:

RISE IN ZENITH RADIO FEATURES CHICAGO STOCKS

Zenith Radio stock continued to hold the spotlight in trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, reaching the highest level since 1929 and contributing more than any other issue to the day's volume of 35,000 shares. The stock ranged between 23½ and 24⅞, closing at 24¼, up ⅜ point, in a turnover of 5,850 shares.

The market as a whole was irregular yesterday, but traders expressed satisfaction with the general undertone of the market. The unleashing of business from governmental influences would readily be reflected in a more active market, according to brokers.

Besides Zenith, new high prices for the year were reached by A. M. Castle, North West prior lien preferred, and Raytheon. Next to Zenith, the most active issue was Chicago corporation, sales amounting to 1,700 shares, with the close unchanged at 4½.

Associated Gas & Electric Loses Court Transfer Plea

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today denied the petition of the Associated Gas and Electric company for permission to appeal from an order of Judge Julian W. Mack transferring the involuntary proceedings for reorganization of the company under section 77B of the bankruptcy act to New York City from the Northern district. The court also vacated a stay in the case imposed by Judge Martin T. Manton when leave to present the petition was granted. Counsel for the gas company immediately filed an affidavit of prejudice against Judge Mack in a move to compel him to withdraw from the case.

Pacific Fisheries Spending 3 Millions for New Season

New York, June 19.—(AP)—Archie W. Shiels, president of Pacific American Fisheries, Inc., announced today the company is "investing approximately $3,000,000 in labor and materials in anticipation of an active 1936 packing season." He expects that during the season the company will buy more than $1,500,000 worth of supplies and materials from other industries.

Week's Retail Trade Rises Sharply in Most Districts

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—Better shopping weather and advancement of the season stimulated retail buying this week to an average gain of 5 to 8 per cent over the preceding week and 10 to 15 per cent over the corresponding week of 1935, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today.

The survey, based on actual reports from leading cities of the country, covered activity up to noon yesterday. Payments of bonus money to veterans was just getting under way by that time and retail trade had not registered much effect from the disbursements, it said.

Summer Goods Active.

Heaviest demand at the stores was reported for summer items such as sporting goods, luggage, and vacation requisites. Graduation and wedding gifts increased sales, and turnover was said to be large in light clothing, shoes, sportswear, electrical appliances, hardware, and furniture.

Sales of automobiles, the agency said, was running about even with the high level of April, while demand for used cars was said to be at the best rate of the year.

A moderate increase in buying at industrial cities and a major upward movement in farm districts brought retail sales for the middle west 15 to 20 per cent higher than a year ago. The passing of the cool weather and the more favorable crop outlook put shoppers in the northwest in a spending mood, as the 1935 total was passed by 15 to 21 per cent.

Gains in Other Districts.

Partial relief from drouth distress enabled the south to better last year's showing by 8 to 12 per cent. For the southwest the increase amounted to 12 to 15 per cent. Continuing the uptrend, sales on the Pacific coast went ahead 10 to 12 per cent. Gain in the east was 12 to 18 per cent.

Movement of merchandise in wholesale markets failed to broaden in line with the wider retail distribution, according to the report. Fairly ample stocks restricted the number of replacement orders for summer goods, and volume of fall buying is generally low at this time.

Wholesale volume generally was estimated about level with that of the preceding week, but was 12 to 18 per cent above volume in the corresponding week in 1935.

FIELD'S TO RUN DAILY EDITORIAL IN TRIBUNE AD

A novel form of advertising, a daily editorial in which no merchandise will be offered for sale, will be inaugurated in THE TRIBUNE tomorrow by Marshall Field & Co. The column, to be headed "Moving Forward," will be by "Caleb" and will reflect the company and its policies and ideals to readers. It will appear in THE TRIBUNE seven days a week.

Subjects will include whatever the editor, a staf member of the executive offices of Marshall Field & Co., wants to write about. A near parallel to this daily editorial is the "Callisthenes" column written for many years by Gordon Selfridge, department store owner of London, formerly of Chicago, and still running in the London Times.

"The name 'Caleb,'" reads an announcement of the column by the Field store, "was selected as one entirely consistent with the traditions of Marshall Field & Co.—the store having sprung from solid New England stock. Moreover, the connotations in connection with the biblical Caleb are not inconsistent with the intent of this column, for that Caleb was aggressive, enterprising, and forward looking."

BORDEN EXPANDS BIG FACTORY AT WAUKESHA, WIS.

Waukesha, Wis., June 19.—[Special.]—Officials of the Borden company, meeting in Waukesha today for a sale conference, revealed that the plant here formerly the Thompson Malted Food company will soon become one of Borden's principal factories.

"The manufacture of all Borden and Thompson's malted milk products, which was formerly carried on in five plants in different parts of the country, will be concentrated in the Waukesha factory," A. F. Stevenson, production manager of the specialties division, announced.

He said that the plant has reached a production schedule of 24 hours a day seven days a week. More equipment is being installed to increase production.

Vote on Gardner-Denver Recapitalization Today

A special meeting of stockholders of the Gardner-Denver company will be held this morning at the office of the corporation in Quincy, Ill., to act on a plan for the recapitalization of the company adopted and declared advisable by the board of directors at a meeting held June 8. Action also will be taken on various changes in the stock of the company, as well as the new $3 cumulative convertible preferred stock.

LEGAL SNARL HALTS NEGOTIATIONS OVER REORGANIZING C. & E. I.

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—A conflict with the interstate commerce laws pertaining to interlocking directorates has halted negotiations for the reorganization of the 80 million dollar Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway, now in bankruptcy proceedings, it developed today. The company is controled by the Chesapeake and Ohio railway through an 8 million dollar investment in its stock.

The situation came about as a result of a threatened interlocking of directorships between the C. & E. I. and the Kansas City Southern railway. These two companies were assigned to different groups by the interstate commerce commission in its consolidation plan. Since announcement of the plan the commission has refused permission for persons to occupy simultaneously positions on the boards of railways allocated to different groups.

In the case of the C. & E. I. the issue was brought about by the election of Kenneth D. Steere, partner in Paine, Webber & Co., who was chairman of the C. & E. I.'s board at the time, to the board of the Kansas City Southern railway last month. Paine, Webber & Co. hold an interest of about 30 per cent in the Kansas City Southern as a result of stock acquired from the Chicago Great Western railway. On his election to the Kansas City Southern it was announced that Mr. Steere resigned from the C. & E. I. board.

CONGRESS GETS BROKER-DEALER REPORT TODAY

Washington, D. C., June 19.—[Special.]—The long awaited report by the Securities and Exchange commission on the "feasibility and advisability" of the complete segregation of the functions of broker and dealer is expected to be transmitted to congress tomorrow. There remains a slight possibility, however, that transmission will be delayed until Monday if it develops congress cannot complete its program for adjournment before that time.

The contents of the report, which have been revised many times in the last few weeks, are being carefully guarded, but it may be accepted with reasonable assurance that the SEC will not recommend immediate steps to effect complete segregation. Reports are that certain suggestions may be made for further control of those who carry on the dual activities, by refinement of floor trading rules, especially in the case of the so-called specialists.

FREIGHT TRAFIC DIPS, BUT TOTALS ABOVE YEAR AGO

Trafic Runs 1.3 Per Cent Below Week Earlier.

Railway freight trafic last week held at a five year peak for the particular week of the year, but declined more than seasonally from the preceding week, according to figures released yesterday by the Association of American Railroads.

Shipments of 686,812 cars of freight during the week ended June 13 represented a decline of 9,033 cars, or 1.3 per cent from a week earlier, but a gain of 34,701 cars, or 5.3 per cent from the corresponding period of last year. The trafic was 67,931 cars, or 1 per cent, more than two years ago.

Eleventh Seasonal Peak.

The five year seasonal peak marked the eleventh consecutive week in which such a record had been established. While the rate of gain over a year ago was not as large as earlier in the month, this was not held to be significant as the trafic of a year ago was boosted abnormally by heavy coal shipments made in anticipation of a strike.

Last week's volume was also only 50,000 cars below the figure for the corresponding week in 1931, the closest approach to that year in recent months. In the preceding week of this year the carriers hauled more freight than any time since last October.

Movement by Classes.

The movement in freight last week, according to commodities, was as follows:

	Last wk.	Change from— Prev. wk.	Yr. ago.
Miscell freight	285,142	—4,383	+48,779
Less than car lot	161,424	—3,641	+ 4,859
Coal	105,332	+2,783	—51,818
Grains	32,108	+ 418	+ 6,260
Live stock	10,727	—1,075	+ 383
Lumber	33,642	—1,120	+ 7,160
Coke	8,477	+ 168	+ 2,125

Observers again pointed to the significant trend in miscellaneous freight, which rose sharply over a year ago, as evidencing business progress.

April net operating income of class 1 carriers amounted to $41,547,644, compared with $34,708,718 in the corresponding month of last year, the interstate commerce commission reported. In the four months ended April 30 net operating income amounted to $146,112,622, against $121,075,241 in the like months of 1935.

LIGHT RECEIPTS, UPTURN IN PORK LIFT HOG PRICES

The lightest Friday hog receipts in five weeks, 8,000 head, coupled with a 50 cent rise in wholesale prices of pork in Chicago stimulated action in light hogs at a steady to 10 cent higher level yesterday. Selected 160 to 230 pound new crop stock topped at $10.40, the highest mark since May 4. Best top fresh pork loins advanced to $21.50 per hundred pounds, the highest in ten days, but the general level of fresh pork markets was well below the high point early in the month.

The cattle market recovered a little more of the recent sharp losses, but hardly sufficient stock arrived to put quotations to a test. Prices were mostly 25 to 40 cents above the close last week, with the exception of bulls, and stockers and feeders which closed sharply below a week ago.

No changes occurred in the lamb market. Top new crop natives sold to packers up to $11.50, and the bulk moved at $11.25 to $11.50. New crop wool lambs from California averaging 84 pounds brought $11.15.

ILLINOIS RECORDS LARGE INCREASE IN CONSTRUCTION

New Housing Leads May Gains Over Year Ago.

BY AL CHASE.

Building construction in Illinois during May registered a large increase over the same month last year in both number of permits and dollar value of new structures.

There were 2,400 permits, with an estimated cost of $5,452,034 last month, as compared with 1,697 permits, valued at $2,882,423, in May, 1935. This was a gain of 41.4 per cent in number and 89.1 per cent in estimated cost.

Biggest Gain in Housing.

The biggest gain was made in new residential construction. Last month 353 permits were issued throughout the state for new homes, to cost $2,201,035. During the same month last year there were only 108 permits, with an estimated cost of $693,488. This was a gain of 226.9 per cent in number of permits and 217.4 per cent in value.

In nonresidential building a gain also was made, with 433 permits last month, compared with 382 a year ago, an advance of 13.4 per cent. In dollar value the increase was 78.3 per cent, or from $940,752 to $1,677,456.

In the modernization and repair classification a good sized gain was registered. The number of projects increased from 1,207 to 1,614, a gain of 33.7 per cent, with their dollar value advanced from $1,248,183 to $1,573,543, an increase of 26.1 per cent.

Number of Projects Increases.

Comparison of the May building figures with the preceding month of April show a slight increase in number of projects, but a considerable drop in estimated cost. There were 6.1 per cent more permits, but a decrease in dollar value of 31.3 per cent.

Residential construction in May registered an increase in both number of permits and cost of homes as compared with April. Modernization and repair work also showed a gain in both number and dollar value.

CANADIAN POLICY BOOSTS EXPORTS MANY MILLIONS

OTTAWA, Ont., June 19.—[Special.]—In five months of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's new trade expansion policy Canadian exports have gained at the rate of $12,000,000 a month. In the same period, which is also five months since the Canadian-American trade treaty become effective, Canadian producers have benefited by an additional $17,000,000 worth of goods sold in the markets of the United States.

Total Canadian exports of the commodities which benefited by the trade agreement were $80,544,237 for the five months, January to May, inclusive, as against $63,980,103 in the same period of 1935.

Returns showing Canadian purchases from the United States are not yet available for the five month period ending with May of this year, but it is said to be a certainty that Canada has derived greater benefit from the trade agreement than has the United States thus far.

Canada has a favorable balance of trade with the United States for the twelve months ending in April of $58,297,247 when account is taken of gold shipments to New York.

Sugar Import Quotas Increased by Wallace

Washington, D. C., June 19.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace today increased the 1936 sugar import quotas for offshore areas by 203,062 short tons. The previous quotas totaled 6,609,625 tons. This was the second increase made this year as a result of a revision in the estimates of the amounts needed to supply customers in this country. The revised quotas are: United States beet sugar producing area, 1,550,000 tons; Louisiana and Florida, 380,223 tons; Hawaii, 1,036,090 tons; Porto Rico, 882,084 tons; Philippines, 1,098,738 tons; Virgin Islands, 5,796 tons; Cuba, 2,039,349 tons; foreign countries other than Cuba, 28,228 tons.

Tri-City Manufacturers District Shows Job Gain

The Tri-City Manufacturers district—Moline, Rock Island and Davenport—reported it had 24,263 employés or the factory pay rolls of 73 firms in May, with the last week of the month 27.6 per cent above the corresponding 1935 period, the Illinois Manufacturers' association said recently. Increased employment was mainly due to agricultural implements, machine, wood work, candy, and baking. Thirty-three firms reported a net increase of 1,009 persons.

New York, June 19.—Sharp advances in various Italian bonds, including governments, municipals, and corporates, featured an otherwise dull bond market today. Recovery in Italian issues ranged up to 6¾ points, representing response to Britain's formal acknowledgment of Italian conquest of Ethiopia, and the prospective lifting of sanctions.

Italian government 7s rose to 84⅞, up 4¾; Milan City 6½s to 73, up 5¼; Rome 6½s to 74, up 4½; Adriatic Electric 7s to 73, up 6¾, and Lombard 7s to 70, up 5.

Federal List Is Dull.

United States government loans were dull, dealings falling to approximately $340,000. Most of the group closed lower, losses running from 1-32 to 6-32 point. A few issues rose 1-32 to 2-32 point.

Corporate liens generally were held back by a considerable amount of realizing that apparently was prompted by the steady advance of the last week or more and the close was irregular. Second grade rails also were subject to profit taking on a minor sale, but losses were insignificant due to easy absorption of offerings.

New Haven Issues Supported.

New Haven issues showed gathering support and moved ahead fractionally. Outstanding were Bush Terminal 5s, Chicago and North Western stamped 4s of 1887, and Interborough 6s. High grade rails were in light demand and quotations firm.

Trading slowed as the circle of reactionary movements widened in the late trading. Volume for all groups was $7,945,000 against $11,217,000 on Thursday.

Purity Bakeries.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information concerning the standing of Purity Bakeries stock.—R. M.

Answer: Operating in larger cities of the east and middle west, Purity Bakeries corporation is an important factor in the bread and cake baking industry. It has 53 baking plants in 14 states and operates more than 300 retail bakery stores in Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia under the name of "Cushman's."

The company was formed in 1924 thru a union of several large baking concerns. Expansion followed in the next six years through acquisitions of other companies and enlargement of plants. "Taystee," "Sweetheart," "Purity," and "Grennan" are among the names attaching to products.

After prospering in impressive style to reach peak profits of $5,652,000 or $7.02 a share in 1929, the company has experienced a sharp decline in earnings interrupted only by a moderate gain in 1933.

Net income declined to $4,131,000 or $5.13 a share in 1930, $1,721,000 or $2.14 in 1931, $361,000 or 45 cents in 1932, $742,000 or 96 cents in 1933, and $209,000 or 27 cents in 1934.

Last year fixed charges were only 59 per cent covered and a net loss of $252,000 incurred. In the 16 weeks ended April 18, 1936, a loss of $189,000 was reported, compared with net income of $179,000, or 23 cents a share, in the 16 weeks ended April 20, 1935.

Current assets were $3,222,000 and current liabilities were $1,187,000 at the end of 1935. This represented a drop of $1,000,000 in working capital, principally because of paying dividends which have not been earned in four years. The dividend rate was cut from 25 cents to 10 cents quarterly on June 1, 1936. The dividend rate had been $4 annually in 1929 and 1930.

Funded debt outstanding consists of $6,400,000 5 per cent debentures of 1948, which are rated more a speculation than an investment. Capitalization consists of 771,476 no par common shares, which are speculative.

NOVEMBER BUTTER PRICES UP ⅜ CENT; EGGS ADVANCE

A statement by an AAA official here Wednesday that 30 cents per pound was considered a "parity" level for butter, reports of drouth damage to pastures, higher grain prices, and light receipts and storings in the four principal market centers, sent November butter futures ⅜ cent higher on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Realizing and hedging were well absorbed and prices closed at the top.

October eggs advanced early on a report of midwest collections which disclosed arrivals to have been more than 14 per cent under a year ago. Profit taking reduced the improvement and the finish was only fractionally ahead of yesterday's close at 25⅝ cents.

Sales of the futures yesterday included 60 cars of eggs and 55 cars of butter. Prices follow:

GRIGSBY-GRUNOW LINE BOUGHT BY ELECTRIC FIRM

Trade-Mark and Patent Rights Acquired.

The Triangle Electric company, 600 West Adams street, yesterday bought the good will, trade-marks, and patent rights of Grigsby-Grunow company for an undisclosed sum from Walter E. Schott and the Harris, Karp, Goldsmith company of Cincinnati, O.

The Cincinnati group purchased the physical equipment of the once prominent radio company last April for $350,000, which included the above items, and has been disposing of this machinery and equipment through auction sales at former Grigsby-Grunow plant at 5801 West Dickens avenue.

Buy "Majestic" Trade Name.

Purchase of the trade name "Majestic" will mark the reappearance on the market of this brand of items in the radio, refrigerator, and household utilities lines, which were prominent in their respective field when Grigsby-Grunow was at its height. The plant was bought Wednesday by Zenith Radio company for $410,000.

Triangle Electric company has been engaged in manufacturing and distributing radio sets and electrical appliances for more than twenty years. The company is controled by Davega Stores corporation.

Will Manufacture Complete Line.

"We are going to manufacture and distribute nationally a complete line of Majestic radio sets, refrigerators, and household utilities, and will in the very near future announce a schedule of franchised 'exclusive dealers,'" said Nathan L. Cohn, president of Triangle Electric and chairman of Davega Stores, in a statement issued after the deal was closed yesterday.

It was indicated the company is considering expansion of its facilities in order to provide for manufacture and distribution of the Majestic line.

FURRIERS HOPE TO GET REFUND ON LUXURY TAX

Atlantic City, N. J., June 19.—[Special.]—A luxury tax refund of $1,500,000 is due retail manufacturing furriers because of a recent ruling of the internal revenue department, furriers in annual convention here were told today by Charles Gold of New York, counsel for the association. Future savings to furriers will amount to $4,000,000, he said.

A law passed in 1932 placed a 10 per cent tax on all retail sales, repairing and remodeling jobs after 25 per cent of the final charge had been deducted. The ruling increased this deduction to 35 per cent. The tax applied only to garments selling for more than $75, and the $75 exemption is allowed on more expensive coats. Under the ruling a woman may pay $115 for a fur garment without paying a luxury tax.

RESTRAIN BRONX RAILROAD FROM FARE INCREASE

New York, June 19.—[Special.]—With the consent of Clinton L. Bardo, trustee in bankruptcy of the New York, Westchester, and Boston railway, Supreme Court Justice John L. Walsh today enjoined the road from raising its between station fares in the Bronx from the present 7 cents to a proposed 10 cents.

The transit commission, which has under consideration an application to raise the fare to 10 cents, petitioned the court to prevent the increase in fare which the road threatened to put into effect on July 1.

The fare between stations within the city limits has been 7 cents since May, 1922, when the road was permitted by the transit commission to increase it from 5 cents.

WARNS M. & ST. L. SALE WILL CUT OFF 47 TOWNS

Minneapolis, Minn., June 19.—(AP)—Frank B. Townsend, Minneapolis Traffic association director, testified at an Interstate Commerce commission hearing today that 47 northern communities would be left without rail service if the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad is sold and dismembered. The hearing is on the proposal of seven railroads combined as associated railways to purchase and break up the line.

As the hearing continued, the 12th public auction to sell the M. and St. L., now in receivership, failed when no bidders appeared. United States Commissioner Howard S. Abbott went through necessary formalities without an audience.

HIGHEST PRICE OF YEAR PAID FOR SOY BEANS

Brokers Here Report Big Demand from Europe.

Soy bean prices in Chicago touched the highest level this year when a carload was sold yesterday at 93½ cents a bushel. A steady rise has been under way since June 1 and has lifted prices nearly 10 cents a bushel.

Most of the demand, brokers report, has come from Europe, principally Germany, where large quantities of soy beans are used commercially. Development of the Chicago market as a source of foreign supply is an innovation of recent years. So heavy has been demand, however, that the city is rapidly assuming world leadership in this community.

Big Shipments from Chicago.

Since last October, the start of the new crop year, more than 9,000,000 bushels have cleared through the Chicago market, either for export to Europe or into domestic commercial channels.

The recent upturn in price results from the fact that available supplies left in the country are small and terminal stocks are light. With demand steadily increasing, buyers have been forced to boost their bids to obtain needed supplies.

Europe has depended chiefly on the orient for its needs in former years. Difficulties in obtaining supplies recently, because of the unsettled political situation in the far east, have forced foreigners to turn to the United States. In addition, Manchukuo, the world's largest producer of soy beans, harvested a considerably small crop last year.

New Crop for This Country.

Introduction of soy beans into this country is a development of the present century, although they have been raised in the orient for hundreds of years. First planted in Illinois as a forage crop, production has mounted sharply in the last five or six years as their use for a wide variety of commercial purposes became apparent. Last year more than 40,000,000 bushels were harvested in the United States, of which Illinois produced the largest share.

It is said many processors who earlier in the season thought they had accumulated ample stocks of soy beans now find they must add to their supplies, which has strengthened the market. In addition, demand for soy bean oil and soy bean mash, for feeding purposes, has increased sharply, adding to the stimulus for higher prices.

PRODUCE - MARKETS

Wholesale butter prices were unchanged in the Chicago market yesterday. Receipts totaled 12,384 tubs. Eggs were steady to ¼ cent per dozen lower with arrivals amounting to 24,355 cases. Live poultry was unchanged. Demand for potatoes was slow and prices weak. Receipts aggregated 119 cars, there were 305 cars on track and shipments totaled 905 cars. Prices follow:

—on your Dodge

Yes, you may borrow money at this bank on a recent model of any standard make of car: FORD, PLYMOUTH, CHEVROLET, TERRAPLANE, as well as BUICK, CHRYSLER, DODGE, and ALL OTHER STANDARD MAKES.

Yes, the same low rates and liberal terms apply whether the car is new or used. Fire and Theft is all the insurance we require, although we strongly urge that every car owner insure himself against collision hazards. In all cases we want the insurance placed with the borrower's own broker or agent. Premiums may be added to the loan account, the broker is paid in full, and the borrower settles up with us in monthly installments.
